

Program Announced For 5-Day Women's State Golf Tournament Here

Country Club To Be Host June 13-19

The program for the annual North Carolina Women's State Golf Championship Tournament, to be held at the Waynesville Country Club June 13-18, has been announced by Mrs. William Prevost, tournament chairman.

The Country Club has already received 75 reservations, and it is expected that more than 100 of the state's best women golfers will be on hand here by the time that tournament play opens.

Coming to Waynesville to defend her state title will be Miss Marjorie Burns of Greensboro, who won the crown last year. Chief contender and the possible favorite will be Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, who won the championship in 1950, 1951, and 1952, but did not participate last year because of illness.

"Early birds" here next Saturday will find the course open for practice. On Sunday some 200 are expected to participate in the Scotch foursome event, in which prizes will be awarded. Also scheduled that day are a reception at the Country Club, and a drawing for a woman's diamond wrist-watch.

The opening round of match play will be held Tuesday, along with a driving contest in two divisions and a fashion show to be staged by Mrs. W. T. Hannah of the Town and Country Shop.

On Wednesday will come the second round of match play and the first round of consolation events, and an approaching and putting contest. In the evening a barbecue and "square dance will be held at the Piedmont Hotel.

Thursday's program will include semi-finals in the match play, second round in the consolation bracket, and "elimination day" for all losers. A reception at the club is also planned.

On Friday, finals in all flights of the tournament will be held and prizes will be awarded.

Beagle, Noted Marksman, Will Appear At Sylva

"Folks who like to shoot also like to watch the other fellow shoot," says Ken Beagle, internationally famous marksman who will give a demonstration of his shooting ability at Sylva, N. C. Airport on Wednesday, June 9, at 2 p.m. under the sponsorship of Jackson County Wildlife Club. Beagle and his wife, Blanche, make up one of Remington Arms Company's shooting exhibition teams. During the war they toured the country, appearing before millions of G. I.s at many Army camps and Navy bases. That their instructions were worthwhile is attested by the fact that they are the recipients of numerous letters from overseas combat soldiers who give the teachings of the Beagles credit for saving their lives. Mr. and Mrs. Beagle are both ardent lovers of the out-of-doors and whenever they can get a day away from their strenuous shooting exhibition schedule, they like nothing better than to take a "busman's holiday" and go hunting or fishing. They are just as expert with rod and reel as they are with

Hazelwood, Minus Its Ace Hurler, To Oppose Beacon

With the team's ace pitcher, Jim Kuykendall, far away in Nova Scotia, Hazelwood will attempt to go into a tie with Enka for the WNC Industrial League leadership by beating Beacon Mills Saturday afternoon at Swannanoa.

In his brother's absence, Bobby Kuykendall, normally a catcher, will attempt to bring Hazelwood its fourth win against two setbacks. In the last two games the locals have played, Jim, Western Carolina ace and former Waynesville Mountaineer, has hurled Hazelwood to victories over Enka and Ecusta.

Enka broke a three-way tie for first place with Hazelwood and Ecusta Wednesday by defeating the Beacon baseballers.

In addition to Kuykendall, other starters for Hazelwood will be:

Pig Troutman, third base; Dee Stephenson, shortstop; Babe Yount, left field; Elmer Dudley, first base; Bill Milner, center field; Lonnie Bishop, second base, and Walt Spence, catcher.

The game at Swannanoa will begin at 3:15 p.m.

Detroit's Garver On Way Back With Knee Cured

NED GARVER

AP Newsfeatures

DETROIT — Born on Christmas Day in 1925, Ned Garver may be a summertime Santa Claus for the Detroit Tigers in 1954.

Cured of a trick knee, the 28-year-old hurler is anticipating his best season since 1951, when he won 20 games for the last-place St. Louis Browns and thereby astounded the baseball world. The Tigers couldn't ask for a finer present.

All last season a ligament in Garver's left knee kept popping out of place. Many times he'd tumble off the pitching mound, in full view of the crowd, helpless, until Tiger Trainer Jack Homel hurried onto the field and popped the knee back into place.

When the season was over, and Garver's mediocre 11-11 went into the books, the baby-faced right-hander had an operation. He says gun and ammunition. "Every one who shoots is curious about how the other fellow does it and likes to try anything new in the shooting line," says Beagle. "Many of the fellows who watch me shoot go home with the 'if he can do it, so can I' idea and start in practicing some of my shots. And they can 'do it', 'oo, if only they will not become too easily discouraged and will keep on practicing until they develop the proper timing."

"Proper timing is the essence of all shooting at moving targets. Once the shooter learns to make the gun practically a part of himself, learning to shoot with efficiency becomes a comparatively easy. Good shooting is not beyond the reach of anyone who has a healthy body, steady nerves or nerves which can be controlled and fairly good eyesight."

"Once the fundamentals of shooting become so firmly entrenched in the mind of an individual that they are a sort of second nature, it is easy for him to graduate from the status of a mediocre shot to that of an excellent marksman. No shot one person can do is impossible for the other fellow if he will only master the problems of timing and proper gun sighting or pointing. It just takes a little patience and a lot of practice."

Beagle's exhibition is replete with thrilling feats of marksmanship which seem almost impossible to the average sportsman. He uses fourteen different types of guns and is equally proficient with rifle, shotgun and pistol. His lecture on proper and safe gun handling, which runs throughout his exhibition, is one which every father should have his young son hear. Mrs. Beagle assists her noted book on golf. Winning Since 1935 All in all, Demaret, now 43 and a pro golf winner since 1935, is doing quite well, thank you. He still is a top golfer, too, almost always among the leaders in any tournament. Horton Smith, president of the PGA, rates Demaret and Walter Hagen as the top contributors to the game. "They are different in some ways but both had showmanship and the ability to be part of the gallery," Smith observes.
