7TH DIV., KOREA—Army Pfc. Thomas C. Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lane of Lake Junaluska, is serving in Korea with the 7th Infantry Division. Lane entered the Army in October 1953 and was last stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C., where he completed basic training.

Run up the white flag, men, and throw in the towel, you have as much chance with modern woman as Sampson had with Delilah. That's the report of an Oklahoma City reporter, Gene Kinney. Even in the tender teens, the female of the species already has an effective man-hunting repertoire.

"Take Fritzie Erwin, 17-year-old high school beauty who let other girls in on her secrets at a YMCA panel on 'How to Get Started in Dating.'"

When a guy catches your eye, she advises, ask around until you learn his name. Thus armed, the next step is simple:

"Every time you pass him in the hall in school, speak to him and call his name. Sooner or later he'll begin to wonder who you are and find out."

Fritzie will vouch personally for this method as a sure-fire man-catcher.

Another 17-year-old charmer.

TEEN-AGE heads get together when Fritzie Erwin, 17, and Wayne Hensley, 17, attend a discussion panel on dating at the Oklahoma City YMCA.

Dora Ivy, advocates a less subtle trick, if you can't arrange an introduction through a sister or brother. Bump into him.

"While he's picking up your books or whatever you drop," she explains, "he'll be apologizing all over the place, thinking it was his fault."

And from Gay Lee Edwards, 16—pick him out, seek him out and trace down his clubs and other activities.

"If he's in the band," she tips, "join it."

At this point a male member of the panel, Wayne Hensley, 17, observes that experience is perhaps the best teacher on how to get started dating.

"You can't learn everything from books," he points out. "By now panel members should have plenty of know-how, if they followed their own advice. A good time to begin dating, they agree, is about the seventh grade. The girls chime in with a word of warning: 'Get an introduction one way or another, make him think he knows you, knock him down, follow him wherever he goes. But whatever you do, don't let him know what you're up to!' Property ownership in Bethlehem, Pa., founded in 1741, was restricted to members of the Moravian religious sect until the middle of the 19th Century. There's nothing like a nice spring day to set the mood for romance, fashion and folly. You can be sure the day after a lazy breeze

Beta Sigma Phi Chapter To Hold Picnic Meeting

The Xi Omicron chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority will meet for a picnic supper, Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Miss Bernice Harrell.

Mrs. Bill Dover, president, will preside during a brief business session.

Miss Mary Lou Gerringer and Miss Nancy Bischoff, student nurses at Duke University, spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bischoff. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Georringer and They were accompanied home by Miss Virginia Cline, who visited her parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Cline, in Canton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length princess style dress of white lace over satin designed with fitted bodice and three-quarter sleeves. She wore a small hat and mits of matching lace and carried a bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid.

Lamar York, brother of the bride, and Gay Calhoun, brother-in-law of the bride, served as ushers.

Following the ceremony the parents of the bride were hosts at an informal reception in their home on the Pigeon Road.

Assisting were Mrs. Gay Calhoun and Mrs. Boyce White, sisters of the bride of Waynesville, Miss Lois Sumnicht and Miss Shirley Carter of Leaksville, Miss Edna Kizer of Reidsville, and Miss Pearl McBee of Spruce Pine.

The couple left following the reception for Loraine, Ohio where they will reside. For traveling the bride wore a dress of mauve pink linen with matching hat and gloves and the orchid corsage from her bouquet.

Mrs. Stock was graduated from Bethel High School and Berea College, Berea, Kentucky and has held a position as supervisor of the Leaksville Township High School cafeteria.

Mr. Stock was graduated from the Davenport, Iowa schools and served in the Maritime Merchant Marines during World War II. He is now employed by Automatic Electric Sales Service of Chicago with headquarters in Loraine.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Beth Hildebrand and Mrs. Janet Jones of Charlottesville, Va. and Mrs. Herman Peeter and Mrs. Annie O'Daniel of Belmont.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. York, parents of the bride, entertained with a buffet supper following the wedding rehearsal. Guests included the bridal party and close friends.

Miss Norma Aline York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. York, and Rudolph Arthur Stock of Loraine, Ohio, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Stock of Davenport, Iowa, were married in the First Baptist Church here, Saturday, August 21, at noon.

The Rev. Harry D. Wood, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Leaksville, pronounced the vows.

The altar was flanked with floor baskets of white gladioli and pompons and seven-branched candelabra.

Miss Betty Hendricks, organist, and Mrs. Harry D. Wood, soloist, both of Leaksville, presented a program of music. Miss Hendricks played "Claire de Lune," and "O Perfect Love" and Mrs. Wood sang "Through The Years," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Election Year Often Hard On Wives Of Candidates

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—Vacation time this summer for most Congressional wives means long hours of travel, one-night stops in little hotels, platform appearances, a lot of hand shaking and in many cases, speech making. Their husbands are up for re-election!

For some, this is an old story. Take Mrs. George Bender, wife of the Republican congressman from Ohio. She's been at it for 34 years. She's gotten so adept she even takes over the mike when her husband gets winded. He takes off his coat and sits on the platform beaming while she tells the voters what a good man he is for the job.

This all began back in their courting days in 1920 when he was running for his first term in the Ohio State Legislature. He took her to political rallies instead of parties, or the theater.

"He even wanted to spend our honeymoon at the Republican National Convention and he never quite forgave me for talking him out of it," Mrs. Bender said.

Mrs. Styles Bridges, good-looking blonde wife of the Republican senator from New Hampshire has been commuting to her home state every weekend and has lined herself up for some arduous speaking trips before election time.

Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, wife of the Democratic senator from Texas, says she's her husband's "night-time secretary," chauffeur, bag-packer and phone answerer. She's taken their two little girls to visit their grandparents in Marshall, Tex., and will spend part of the summer with them at the Johnson ranch in Stonewall.

Mrs. Karl Mundt, wife of the Republican senator from South Dakota, left the breakfast dishes in the sink when she went up to the Senate Caucus room to listen in on the Army-McCarthy hearings. She probably won't have any dishes to leave when she accompanies her husband on his campaign trip. She knows many of her husband's constituents by name. Sometimes she makes speeches, but she says the women voters would rather see the wives of the candidates than hear them.

Mrs. Homer Ferguson, wife of the Republican senator from Michigan, despite a broken ankle, has been weekending in Michigan.

North Carolina's 1954, average wheat yield is estimated at 22 bushels per acre, 1.5 bushels per acre above that of a year earlier.

Miss Kay Peabody of Maywood, New York, Miss Joan Keller of Lineville, Iowa, Miss Celia Allen of Asheville, Miss Betty Barnwell of Hendersonville, and Miss Mae Harlow of Norfolk, Va. were weekend guests of Miss Barbara Chase on Timberlane Drive.

A baby is born in the United States, on the average, every three seconds.
