All is not serious reading in the Want Ads. It's true that the community depends upon these little messages to solve the basic needs of humanity, but Want Ad readers are frequently rewarded by ads like these:

Linda Smathers and Joan Banks represented our annual staff at the High School Editors Roundtable at Cullowhee this past weekend. They report that they learned a great deal about publishing an annual, which will be of much help to us. Mary Sue Gance and Larry Medford attended and represented our newspaper. The newspaper will be greatly improved if we use the many ideas they learned during the meetings. The annual won a medal, of which we are proud, but we hope to win a ribbon next year by working hard on the annual this year.

The junior class has completed the cast for its play, "Headin' fer the Hills". Members of the cast are: Nelda Cashion, Mildred Russell, Sid Haynes, Linda Smathers, Joyce Scott, Frances Rogers, Larry Medford, Betty Owenby, Mary Jane Greene, Virginia Fisher, Larry Hardin, Frances Hall, Charles Donnahoe, Bruce Holder, Kathleen Medford, Luther Hall, and Shirley Sanford. Mrs. Soesbee and Mr. McLeod are their sponsors.

5,500 People Are Named On Washington Social List

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — The Capital's own who's who in society—the "Social List for 1955"—is out with some 5,500 names of persons it would be perfectly safe to have on the guest list for your snootiest party.

Bible of Washington socialites for the past 24 years, the green suede book tells hostesses who in Capital life is a bigger big-wig than whom, from the President on down to the last accepted citizen in the alphabetical listing. It also tells folks how to get the correct time, how to address a chummy note to the President and on whom to leave calling cards.

Mrs. Carolyn Hagner Shaw, publisher of the "Social List," also gives assistance to subscribers to the book, which has grown from three-quarters of a pound of names to two pounds this year. The book is sold to more than 2,500 subscribers annual for about $10.

Mrs. Shaw says the 5,500 names do not represent "blue bloods" alone. Supreme Court justices, senators, representatives, government officials down to the level of assistant secretaries and general counsels of departments are listed automatically. General Counsel of the Army John G. Adams, who figured in the McCarthy Army hearings, had his name added this year. Others include former President Hoover, who lives part of the time in Washington, his son and daughter-in-law, Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Hoover Jr., Chief Justice and Mrs. Earl Warren, Mrs. Robert A. Taft, widow of the Ohio senator, and the former movie star, Constance Bennett, and her husband.

Col. John Coulter, and Mrs. Hankins Fort, better known as Hank Fort, popular song writer. About 600 names were dropped from last year's listing, 800 new ones added.

Mrs. Shaw says a secret board of governors, four women and one man, decides who shall be listed in the volume and who left out.

H. E. SHERRILL, candidate for Member of the Board of County Commissioners — known throughout the county for his reliability, he respectfully asks your consideration and solicits your vote in the November election. He is a steward at Central Methodist Church, has been employed for the past 26 years by The Champion Paper and Fibre Co., and has been a resident and responsible citizen of Canton since 1929.
