Park Brings Back 'Gone With The Wind' Three Days

Everyone who has seen David O. Selznick's production of "Gone With The Wind," considered the most thrilling motion picture ever made, and those who have never seen it before, will want to view the wide screen presentation of this epic drama, opening Sunday at the Park Theatre.

Here are some facts and figures about this celebrated motion picture, a production in Technicolor, which has won virtually every award ever presented for film artistry, including 10 Academy Awards.

David O. Selznick bought the motion picture rights of Margaret Mitchell's novel, "Gone With The Wind," on July 30, 1936, for $50,000, the highest price ever paid for a first novel up to that time.

The title is a quotation from Ernest Dowson's poem about Cynara.

The book, which consists of 1037 pages, had surpassed fifty-thousand copies on the first day of sale, shattering all existing fiction records. It has now been translated into 16 foreign languages and has sold more than two million copies.

Seven Technicolor cameras were used to film the fires of Atlanta in duplicate of the actual scenes of more than seventy-five years ago.

Flames 500-feet high leaped from a set that covered 40 acres. Three 5000-gallon water tanks were used to drench the flames after the shooting.

Cost accountants estimate that in the preparation of the film, before a single foot was shot, there were 250,000 man hours devoted to preparation. In actual production, there were 750,000 man hours.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Horse thieves? No, Senior Sheriff, said B. A. Rameriz, thieving horses. Rameriz, who operates a hog ranch near the Mexican border just south of here, said the two horses kept coming to his place and stealing hay.
