Haywood Seniors Enjoying Annual Visit To Champion

What's The Odds?

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — R. L. Wineland read an Oakland, Calif. AP story about a 5-yolk egg appearing only once in a billion eggs. When he opened a boiled egg without a yolk he wondered what the no-yolk odds were.

school. The women of the church also are planning their annual Thanksgiving supper.

The first quarterly conference for the Rockwood Charge will be held at the Rockwood Methodist Church Friday evening at 7:30. The Rev. W. Jackson Huneycutt, district superintendent will be in charge. All officials of the two churches on the charge are expected to attend. The public is invited.

The regular meeting of the CDP will be held at Rockwood Church Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Matlock of Clemmons, were weekend guests of Mrs. T. G. Murray and family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Atkinson visited in Shallotte over the weekend as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Robinson.

Mrs. Jack Harris returned Sunday after a week's trip to Hope, Ark., where they visited Mrs. E. J. Willis and family. They were accompanied by Mrs. Cora Flynn and Mrs. Ross Kilpatrick of Canton.

Mrs. Roy Robinson and Mrs. Underwood Smathers entertained a group of young folk at the Champion YMCA Saturday evening, honoring Mrs. Robinson's daughter, Miss Estalena Robinson, on her birthday. Games and dancing were enjoyed during the evening, and delightful refreshments were served by the hostesses. The table decorations were of pink gladioli and white chrysanthemums.

Guests were Misses Zira Zane Plemmons, Norma Jean Broyles, Paula Fullam, Emily Stone, Mary Welte, Joyce Smathers, Peggy Mills, Barbara Carswell, Carleene Sprinkle, Jo Sharon, Gail Cogburn, Martha Swain, Marianna Briggs, Betty Jean Banks, Jo Ann Saunders and Betty Sue Milner.

Richard Holland, Richard Howell, Bobby Edwards, Dee Cle, DeWayne Milner, Bobby Smathers, Earl Wilson, Martin Boone, Linville Robinson, Douglas Alexander and John Joe King.

Gleeful seniors, eager to see industry at work, went to Canton Wednesday for the opening day of the Champion Paper and Fibre Company's 4th annual "Senior Week at Champion" program.

These seniors, who'll graduate from Waynesville and Crabtree-Iron Duff high schools this spring, were accompanied by several faculty members.

They numbered more than 170, including 147 from Waynesville and 29 from Crabtree-Iron Duff.

Thursday morning seniors from Bethel, Fines Creek and Candler High School in Buncombe County, about 145 in all, visited Champion, looked over the plant and had luncheon as guests of the host.

Friday will find seniors representing Canton, Reynolds and Clyde High Schools participating in the annual program which has grown by leaps and bounds since it was inaugurated 4 years ago.

In all more than 480 seniors will spend the day with Champion during the 3-day program.

The seniors were welcomed by J. E. Williamson, assistant manager of industrial and community relations each morning at 10 o'clock after they assemble at Champion YMCA at 9:45 a.m.

They hear about "Champion's Effect on the Economy of the Area" from H. A. Helder, a Champion vice-president and Carolina division manager.

Career guidance sessions, interesting movies, luncheon in Champion's cafeteria and a complete tour of the plant are among the major features of the week's program.

They are receiving automatic souvenir pencils and scratch pads as they arrive for the assembly each morning.

Guiding the visiting seniors through Champion's plant each afternoon are Alex Rickman, C. J. Setzer, Jr., C. S. Owen, Jr., Woody Robertson, Henry Michael, Charles Ward, Frank Vokes, George Ryder, Walter Cowart, Everette Scroggs, John Bramlett and David Wright.

Other guides include Calvin Riis, Jim Anderson, Jim Stone, Dwight Beatty, Louis E. Gates, Jack Chapman, George W. Smathers and Bob Mayer.

A special panel to handle general information in connection with the career guidance sessions is composed of C. A. Stone, plant engineer, J. M. Barnes, J. E. Williamson, D. W. Randolph and R. B. Patterson, all of industrial and community relations department.

Rockwood Garden Club Has Busy On Winter Projects

Rockwood Garden Club held regular meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Parham, Sr.

Mrs. Robert Hipps gave an interesting program on winter care of shrubs and flowers.

Mrs. Earl Cabe presided over the business during which plans for a tour of homes at Christmas time were discussed. The tour will not be for club members only, but will be open to anyone in the community who wishes to enter. Those desiring to enter may register with the club president, or with Lura Wright at the Enterprise office. A decorated lawn or home, or both may be entered. There will be no charge connected with the tour, but a silver offering will be taken to help promote the work of the Garden Club.

Plans for landscaping and planting the grounds at the community park were also discussed, and Mrs. John Whitted, conservation chairman, was asked to secure someone experienced in landscaping to help plan the project.

The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. George Wright with Mrs. Harley Wright co-hostess. The program will feature an exchange of Christmas ideas.

Judges in the CDP Contest visited the community Thursday and were impressed with the progress made at the Recreation center, and also the cemetery improvements and other activities carried on during the year under the CDP. Charles Williams of Raleigh, and Miss Mary Helen Neall, Watauga County Home Demonstration Agent, made the tour of the community along with CDP representatives, and Bob Tippet, assistant county farm agent.

Mrs. Gladys Burrell has been spending the past week at New Smyrna Beach, Fla., the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Kennedy.

Miss Ellen Ford of Johnson City, Tenn., and Miss Neely Ford of Barton Springs spent the weekend with relatives here, having arrived Friday to attend the marriage of their niece, Miss Betty Ford, to Spencer Walker, Saturday afternoon.

At the Fellowship meeting at Rockwood Church Sunday evening, plans were made for a Christmas program, and a committee was named to make the assignments to various members of the church
