Mrs. J. Milner Flies To France To Join Husband

By MRS. RAY MILNER
Community Reporter

Mrs. Johnnie Milner left New York by plane last week for France where she will join her husband, who is stationed there. They plan to be gone for about three years. Milner is a former resident of this community.

The kitchen and living room of the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Williamson were heavily damaged by fire of an undetermined origin.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Arrington spent last Sunday at Fort Jackson, S. C., visiting their son Eugene who is stationed there.

James Williamson and David Tate, stationed at Fort Jackson, spent the weekend in the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ferguson, Valerie Henderson, and Clinton Crawford visited Thad Crawford, son of Clinton Crawford, at Fort Jackson.

mission plane, the Army Air Force veteran has charge of the church, clinic, housing program, recreational services for Island youth and United States Service personnel, and a demonstration farm. All of these are part of the Methodist Mission on Vieques. The flying ambulance service is necessary because of the lack of medical facilities on the small overpopulated island.

The Institutes are Mr. Brendall, the Rev. W. Jackson Huneycutt, district superintendent, and the Rev. Horace R. McSwain, missionary secretary of the Western North Carolina Conference.

Miss Truman Slims Down, Slicks Up For Television

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Margaret Truman whom I remember as a shy, plumpish, unfashion conscious George Washington University student here when her father first became president, surprised us all with her "new look" when she came back to make a speech at a Democratic rally recently.

Now a successful TV and stage personality, Margaret has slimmed down and slicked up to cover-girl qualifications. She's more poised and confident, but we found her the same witty, warm and friendly young woman she's always been.

"This is old home week," Margaret told photographers who milled around to get her picture. She knew most of them by name. "I wish I had a nickel for every time I've been asked that question," she laughed when newsmen asked her about romance.

She is making records and appearing on TV in New York until next Spring when she says she expects to go on a concert tour in the Midwest.

A loud speaker has been installed in the austere chambers of the U. S. Supreme Court.

Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Assn. of America, and Mrs. Johnston have used various tones of greens and blues in decorating the handsome mansion they've taken here. The living room is Staffordshire blue with matching draperies and touches of gold. One bedroom is deep blue, another pale green with a butterfly motif.

Mr. Johnston's own room is filled with trophies and mementoes collected on his travels. A large screen is hung with daggers and knives from the Middle East, and a jewel-handled dagger from Arabia's Ibn Saud.
