

'Youth Day' Set At Riverside Baptist Church

By MRS. J. EDGAR BURNETT
Community Reporter

A special "Youth Day" program is being worked out for the Riverside Baptist Church, November 14. Various church offices, classes, and music will be in charge of the young people of the church.

A special musical program will be held at the church during the afternoon from about 2 to 4 p.m. with several quartettes in the county being invited to participate.

Also planned is an Adult Day program for the Riverside Church on Sunday, November 28, using a Thanksgiving theme, with the group getting up the special music and doing their own performing of the older hymns which are not often heard since the books are no longer on sale, but they are not the "Old Christian Harmony" songs.

Miss Jacqueline Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeter Gibson of Bethel, and Claude Warren, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Warren, Sr., of Cecil, were married in South Carolina October 16. They were both students at the Bethel High School. Mr. Warren is a senior this year and will continue in school to graduate with his class of 1955. Mrs. Warren has dropped out of her class, they are planning to live on McClure's Creek in the house previously owned by Lawrence Francis, now owned by the groom's father.

Mrs. Turner Vance, aunt of the bridegroom, was hostess to a group of relatives and friends on Tuesday afternoon, honoring the couple with a miscellaneous household shower. The couple received many lovely and useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Miller motored to Charlotte on Sunday and were the overnight guests of the former's nephew, James Miller and Mrs. Miller.

Pfc. Tommy Owens and his wife and baby arrived at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Owens and family, on Wednesday, on a two-week furlough. They will return to his base at Ft. Lee, Va.

Rev. Ralph Surret and the junior class of the Laurel Grove Baptist Church on Little East Fork held services Sunday at the home of a member of the class, Miss Lois Ann English, who has been ill at her home for several weeks. They also brought a basket of fruits to her from the church members.

Visiting Mrs. Elizabeth Singleton and Mrs. Kate Pace at their home recently were Mrs. H. O. Durlam, of Greer, S. C., Mrs. W. P. Durham, and Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Durham, of Drayton, S. C.

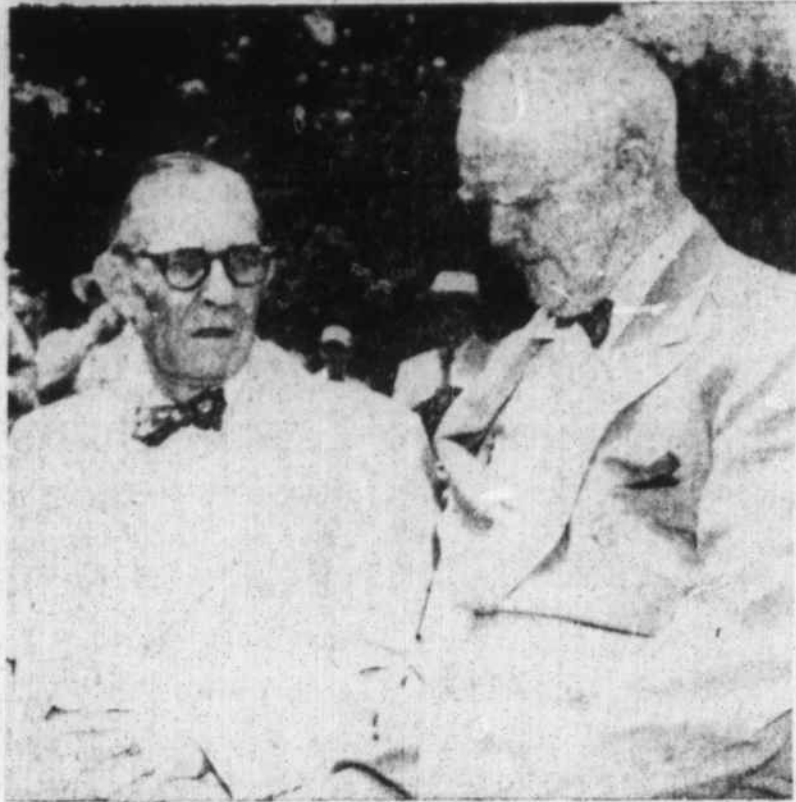

Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Fowlow, and Mrs. Lowell Browning and son.

Troy Dills, of the Little East Fork Road, is a patient at the Haywood County Hospital.

Charles Finger has been sick at his home for the past week but is improving.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family and relatives of an older resident, Mr. Henry Caldwell, who passed away recently after a long illness.

Umstead Funeral

Joshua Bailey. Umstead supported New Deal measures as a U. S. representative or six consecutive years after being first elected in 1931. He stepped down for financial and family reasons and joined a Durham law firm.

The governor, a World War I veteran and a frail man, was the first North Carolina governor to die in office in this century. He will be succeeded by Lt. Gov. Luther Hodges.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at Trinity Methodist Church in Durham. He will be buried near his parents in the graveyard of the Tabor Methodist Church in the rural community of Bahama in Durham County. The governor retained membership in that church, near where he was born.

Hodges, 56, was with Marshall Field & Co. for 30 years. He rose from office boy to vice president of the department store and manufacturing firm and general manager of its Fieldcrest Mills in North Carolina.

He will be sworn in Tuesday afternoon after the funeral services.

Three Cars

Investigated by Mark Hannah, ranger in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, a 1954 Mercury driven by Mrs. Beulah Caldwell Paxton of Waynesville, was completely demolished in a wreck in the park.

Mrs. Paxton told the park ranger that another car forced her off the road, causing her vehicle to overturn over the side of a mountain. She had purchased the car only a few days before the accident.

Not A Plant

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — John J. Kealey, manager of a florist's greenhouse, knows all about plants but admits that frogs have him puzzled.

"I don't see how they got air, food or water," Kealey said, explaining that two frogs jumped out when he tore up a concrete strip which had been in place twenty years.

county for the winter, is seriously ill at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Stephen Cogdill, of East Waynesville. He suffered a heart attack last Monday, but would appreciate having old friends and neighbors visit him.

Among those who recently had televisions installed are Mr. and Mrs. James Reeves, the Willis Warren family, Alonzo Warren family, and the Ted Inman family.

Miss Irene Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Hill, of Balsam, near Waynesville, and Ralph Grooms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ardell Grooms, of Cecil, were married at Waynesville October 29. They are residing with the groom's parents for the present time.

Garbage Disposal

insect and rodent-control division of the state board of health, who termed sanitary land fills the most popular system of garbage disposal in the United States at the present time.

He said land fills are vastly superior to open dumps (maintained now by Waynesville and Hazelwood), which breed rats and mosquitoes and give off foul odors and smoke. He added that land fills are also more satisfactory than incineration and only half as expensive. (Canton now utilizes an incinerator.)

Mr. White explained that land fills require approximately an acre of land, wherein trenches are dug, garbage and refuse dumped in and compacted and then covered up with two feet of earth by bulldozers.

When used as land fills, one acre of land ordinarily serves a population of 10,000 people for one year, he said.

When completed, the land on which fills have been maintained actually becomes more valuable than previously, the state specialist asserted. He cited the case of Hickory where lots worth $50,000 were sold on land formerly used for sanitary fills. Asheville and Charlotte have likewise improved what was once waste land.

In many communities throughout the U. S., Mr. White said, former land fill areas have been landscaped and used for playgrounds and parks.

Mr. White pointed out that approximately 60 sanitary land fills are now in use in North Carolina, with an average of 10 being opened each year.

However, Haywood County would be the first in the state to inaugurate a program of cooperation between the county and all the incorporated towns, he informed the officials.

Donald E. Ashton of Raleigh, state entomologist, answered a number of questions concerning insects and disclosed that he plans to make a survey of mosquito-breeding spots in Haywood County next summer.

Frank Davis, a county commissioner, expressed the opinion that the county should cooperate with the towns and should allot funds for garbage-disposal work when the survey has been completed.

Mayor W. J. Stone of Canton recounted the trouble his town has experienced from persons throwing refuse into Canton's watershed — the Pigeon River.

He and other representatives agreed that all four towns have suffered from the actions of residents of "tringe areas," who use garbage dumps without paying a tax for their maintenance, or else dump garbage on other people's property.

Scientists estimate it takes from 100 to 200 million years to make good bituminous coal.

FILMS

November 8 - December 3

1. BETTIGER STORY, Dartnell Corporation, 30 minutes, sound, black and white. This film is based on the book "How I Raised Myself from Failure to Success in Selling" by Frank Bettiger.

2. SLOVAKIA — Farms and Towns of Slovakia, UWF, 20 minutes, sound, black and white. Here we study people who, living within a mountainous land relatively remote from the highways of communications, have maintained conservative traditions. These Slavic families are seen living in a wooded mountainous land, isolated from the main currents of Central European life, their standards of farming and industrial practices are relatively poor. However, we see that where highways are being developed, and isolation is breaking down, changes are taking place in the traditional ways of life of these Slavic peasants.

3. JAVA — Tropical Mountain Land, UWF, 20 minutes, sound, black and white. The picture places you in Java at a bustling, modern seaport where you board a train that links every phase of Java's economy; you understand why fifty million people can earn a living on an island the size of New York State. The film is focused on four men of a train crew. Their route is from coastal plain to mountain slope—from urban to rural scenes, from people employed in industrial activities to simple farmers. At the end you know Java. GEOGRAPHIC CONCEPT: A tropical land, its fertility constantly replenished by volcanic ash, provides abundantly for a large population.

4. ANTIBIOTICS, EBF, 14 minutes, sound, color. Defines antibiotics and shows how they have been used successfully in medicine. Points up research in the development of antibiotics and calls attention to the mass production of penicillin. Also indicates use of antibiotics in animal husbandry and food preservation.

5. NEIGHBORS, Int. Film Bureau, 9 minutes, sound, color. A parable about two people who, after living side by side with mutual friendship and respect, come to blows over the possession of a flower that one day grows on the line where their properties meet.

the Democratic Executive Committee, I take a great deal of pleasure for the fact that the Democratic majority has grown tremendously during the past eight years. This is true in spite of the fact that several neighboring counties have either gone Republican or just barely their former status. I attribute this to the fact that our party has not proven itself to be the victor in the past.

Although tyrannical as they are, they are not usually as cruel as they are sometimes depicted.
