County In High Bracket

nd to slay my son?-I Kings 17:18,

The Transylvania Times in Brevard .akes note of the recent report which is of more than just passing interest to this area.

The mountain counties of North Carolina are not recognized as being rich counties, but instead, the middle section of the state is referred to as the "rich and prosperous Piedmont."

However, the current issue of Facts of North Carolina shows that Haywood is first in average weekly wage per "covered" employee, and Transylvania is second among the 100 counties of the Tar Heel state.

Our neighboring county has a weekly wage of $73,70 per employee, while we have $64.44 Buncombe, another of our WNC neighbors, is in the first nine with $56.02.

The Asheville Citizen also takes editorial note of this unbelievable situation and has this to say:

"The mountain region, so rarely a leader in economic rankings, shows up well this time. Earlier figures are not at hand, but we are confident that a comparison would offer striking evidence of progress.

"'Covered' employment merely means regular employment to which insurance benefits may apply. Therefore it is an index of economic stability. North Carolinians in 1953 earned more than $2 billion in wages. Buncombe's share of this, in a figure covering only a portion of the working force, was $66,595,175 - no figure, certainly, which would incite to po' mouth talk."

Freedom Of Choice

A New York bank recently ran an unusual kind of magazine advertisement. The text paid high tribute to another enterprise, retailing, and said nothing at all about bank-

Here are some excerpts from it: "Today's popular retail merchant, with an alert eye to competition, applies experience, judgment and imagination to the selection and development of more and more quality merchandise. He presents it in attractive displays and timely promotions. He watches trends in taste. He studies changing patterns in living . . .

"With an unlimited variety of goods from many lands placed before them, thanks to the individual initiative of our nation's retailers, the American people enjoy a freedom, of choice unmatched throughout the world."

To every retailer, as to the manufacturers and others who supply him, the desires and demands of consumers are the all-important factors of business life. This is true in a in thousands of middle-sized and small com- 1,426,798 in 1953. munities in every section of the land.

No Secrets

J. C. Penny, founder of the great chain system which bears his mame, has described the secret of successful retailing. That secret, he said, "Is that there are no secrets. There are people who, when the principles of business success are explained to them, do not find the answer sufficiently intellectual to be satisfying. In the retailing the formula happens to be a basic liking for human beings, plus integrity, plus industry, plus . : the ability to see the other fellow's point of view," That formula applies to any human

Legislature Bound To Hear About Changes In Election Laws

The recent cases in this part of the state in which charges have been made that election laws have been violated, will no doubt have a direct bearing on some future changes in the law.

The surprising feature about the alleged infraction of the laws, is the quoted prices for absentee votes. We did not realize that some sections "could afford" such inflated prices as were being quoted in the press reports. Some prices ranged as high as $85 for a pair of votes, while $12 and $14 seemed to be expected in some circles.

The Asheville Times predicts that the vote fraud cases will be a challenge to the North Carolina law, and went on to say editorially:

"While we appreciate the wholesome interest being shown in our elections by Federal officials and by the congressional committee, we wish our State had been able to clean its own house. But the fact that the Federal courts have acted first offers no excuse for State courts to fail to do their full duty.

"Then, when our next General Assembly meets it should do its full duty by repealing the N. C. civilian absentee ballot law. Let's face it and admit it-North Carolina can no longer trust itself with the civilian absentee ballot.

"No county in this State, and none of its courts, can safely condone the violation of its election safeguards, whatever the partisan or political implications."

Arricultural Trands

The total acreage of North Carolina farms and the number of persons living on the farms declined slightly during 1953, according to the annual farm census released yesterday by the State Crop Reporting Service. Land actually harvested showed a slight increase, however.

Farm population taken as of January 1 huge city such as New York—and it is true each year, showed 1,466,925 in 1952 and Canton High

The census showed that farms in the State contained 21,154.892 acres last year, compared with 21,228,038 the year before. Land harvested amounted to 6,160,112 acres, compared with 6,158,081 in 1952.

Improved pasture land rose to 933,005 acres last year against 877,618 the previous. year. All other pastures showed an increase, too, from 1,306,578 acres to 1,524,775.

There was a small decline in idle cropland. from 1,054.641 acres to 1,050,111. There was a bigger drop in acreage in woods, waste. cutover, homesites, and non-farm useage, from 11.831,120 to 11.486,889 acres.

The census showed that Tar Heel farmers used 1,484,060 tons of fertilizer last year, wards on December 1st. The girls at the Y.M.C.A, in an initiationcompared with 1,477,223 tons in 1952.
