

Ticket Sale To Start Friday For Card Party

Tickets will go on sale Friday for the benefit card party to be held by the Richland Garden Club at the Waynesville Country Club, Friday, December 3, at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the committee, composed of Mrs. J. W. Ray, chairman, Mrs. W. L. Kirkpatrick, Miss Louise Ballard, Miss Ray Ballard, Mrs. William Medford, Mrs. J. H. Smathers, Jr., Mrs. J. H. Howell, Sr., and Mrs. A. J. Green.

The party is being held to raise funds for the Elizabethan Garden on Roanoke Island, which is the main project of the North Carolina Garden Club.

The Garden is being established in memory of the first settlers. Extensive research has been done in England to obtain authentic designs of gardens of the Elizabethan period and plans for the 4-acre garden in North Carolina have been drawn by distinguished landscape architects.

Table prizes and door prizes will be awarded at the party and refreshments will be served.

Committees, in addition to the ticket group, are: Refreshments, Mrs. J. M. Long, Mrs. E. C. Wagendorf, Mrs. James R. Boyd, Mrs. J. H. Way, and Mrs. R. L. Prevost. Decorations, Mrs. M. G. Stamey, Miss Louise MacFadyen, Mrs. Rufus Siler, Mrs. Robert Stretcher, Mrs. Clayton Walker, Mrs. H. B. Foy, Mrs. Floyd Rippetoe. Prizes, Mrs. T. L. Gwyn, Mrs. W. F. Swift, Mrs. J. P. Dicus, Mrs. Howard Bryson, Miss Ann Albright, Mrs. W. S. McCall, and Miss Nancy Killian.

Mrs. Floyd Hipps Is Speaker At Canton Club

Mrs. Floyd Hipps of Asheville spoke on "Garden Therapy" at a meeting of the Canton Garden Club held yesterday morning in the home of Mrs. A. P. Cline. Mrs. Fred Ferguson was co-hostess.

Mrs. James T. Hurley presided during the business hour and Mrs. A. W. Bottoms reported on the club's project of planting bulbs at the Canton Library.

The group discussed plans for the Christmas tour of Canton homes to be held December 17 under the sponsorship of the Canton Council of Garden Clubs.

Announcement was made of a donation by a member of the club to purchase flowers for patients at Oteen and Moore General hospitals at Christmas.

Mrs. J. L. Reeves invited the club to a tea in her home December 21 at 5 p.m.

Mrs. Louis E. Gates presented five lily bulbs to each member.

Madonna arrangements were judged with Mrs. J. R. Westmoreland receiving the blue ribbon, Mrs. J. Frank Pate the red ribbon, and Mrs. Willis Kirkpatrick the white ribbon.

A coffee hour was held prior to the meeting.

Doris Graham Is Bride Of P. W. Swann

Miss Doris Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Graham of Clyde, became the bride of Paschal W. Swann, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Swann of Statesville, in Central Methodist Church, Asheville, Friday, November 19, at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Embree Blackard performed the ceremony and Arthur Lawrence, organist, presented a program of wedding music. Only members of the families and close friends attended.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, James Walter Graham of Cullowhee. She wore a ballerina length dress of navy blue lace over taffeta with matching taffeta mitts and a winter white hat. She carried a nosegay of white glamelias.

Mrs. G. R. Galloway of Asheville, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and she wore a blue suit with black accessories and carried a nosegay of red and white glamelias.

E. L. Swann served as best man for his son and Grady Galloway was an usher.

A reception was held in the church following the ceremony.

Mrs. Swann is a graduate of Woman's College of the University of North Carolina and has been employed as a caseworker with the Haywood County Welfare Department. Mr. Swann attended Gardner-Webb College and is now serving in the U. S. Army stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington.

After a brief wedding trip in Western North Carolina, the couple will go to Fort Lewis to make their home.

Parent Problems

The Insecure Child Seeks Younger Friends

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

IF your child plays most of the time with children much younger than himself, you know he needs some constructive guidance. Among adults and other children of his age, this preference marks him as infantile and immature.

The following letter illustrates: "Dear Dr. Myers: I am wondering if you can advise me regarding our only child, a boy eight years old.

A Poor Playmate
"We have always had trouble about his getting along with other children, and this summer especially. The children his age don't play with him, or he doesn't want to play with them. He plays with children several years younger than he is, and because of this, is acting very babyish, even when he isn't playing with them.

"This fall, he will be old enough to join Cub Scouts, and I hope this will help. He doesn't want to join, but I'm going to insist on it."

Here was my reply in part:
It is not easy to help a child who doesn't win playmates well. Your child avoids other children of his own age because he can't compete with them. He feels inferior among them, but superior among the younger children. Considered Babyish
Yet, the more he plays with these younger children, the less acceptable he becomes to those of his own age. They look upon him as babyish, and all the while, he is failing to gain useful play skills.

Try to attract other children of his age to your premises, one at a time at first, and more later. Study your child with these others, and try to render him a better playmate. You won't succeed by mere talking. You must work with him in many concrete situations.

Your child's teacher might be able to give you some good advice.

Father's Companionship
Dad can do most by helping this lad learn play skills, such as catching and hitting a ball well, making things with tools, and attracting other boys to the home to share in this; going places with him and taking one or two other boys along.

Don't look for much improvement all at once. Count on a long constructive program.

You are right in insisting, even requiring, that he join the Cubs. Next spring, it might be well for you to talk with your school principal about a good summer camp for this lad.

(My bulletins, "Your Child and His Playmates," and "Fathers Are Parents, Too," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.)

Jeannie Jones Is Hostess At Party

Jeannie Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vestal Jones, entertained a group of friends at a party Saturday afternoon in celebration of her tenth birthday. The party was held in her home on Keller Street.

The youthful hostess was assisted by her mother and Mrs. Joseph Herman.

The guests were Linda Aiken, Tiny and Toby Arrington, Pat Burnett, Martha Jo Chambers, Janet Cooper, Betty Jean Davis, Joy Duvall, Douglas Franklin, Kaye Franklin, Rose Ann Green, Linda Griffith, Bobby and Sandra Herman, Freddie Hall, Sammy Hall, Margaret and Parker Judy, Joe Jennings, Sue Leming, Bill McFallan, Katie Mitchell, Theodosia Pankiw, Sharon Queen, Margaret Queen, Douglas Robertson, Pat Reed, Ronnie Hendrix, Louise Thompson, and Margaret Ann Wilson.

Jimmy Swift, senior at Georgia Tech, is here for the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Swift.

George Dewey Stovall, Jr., junior at Davidson College, is spending the weekend at home.

Miss Laura Woody, student at Randolph Macon College, is spending the Thanksgiving holidays in New York City with a group of classmates.

Miss Ann Coman Crawford, sophomore at Woman's College, is spending the holidays with her aunt, Mrs. William L. Lee, and Mrs. Whitener Prevost.

Miss Jane Dudley Francis of High Point and Miss Nancy Francis, junior at Greensboro College, are spending Thanksgiving with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crawford, Eddie Damour, and Milton Massie.

MISS MARGARET BERGMAN, 203 East St., has been appointed manager of the Western Union Telegraph office here. The appointment was made last week by B. G. Dopson, Dist. Supt., in Greensboro. Miss Bergman is from Greensboro where she began her employment with Western Union six years ago and for the past three years has been a traveling representative of the company in the capacity of relief manager.

Canton Garden Club Hears Miss Ballard

Miss Louise Ballard of Alaska was guest speaker at a meeting of the Canton Garden Club yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Hugh A. ... on Academy Street. Miss Ballard spoke on "The Purpose of Garden Clubs."

Mrs. C. W. Johnson and Roy Smathers were co-hostesses for the meeting. Mrs. C. W. Johnson reported on the district meeting in Waynesville recently held by Mrs. Howard Myers.

Plans were discussed for a Christmas tour of Canton to be held Dec. 17.

The group voted to be planted at the library. Luncheon was served to the hostesses after the meeting. Twenty-one members were present.

Guests were Mrs. H. B. Davis, Mrs. Noah Swafford, Miss Ballard and Mrs. Roy Barrick.

B and PW Club Has Program On Health

A program on "Keep From Top To Toe" was presented Tuesday night at the evening meeting of the B and P. W. Club and Professional Women's Club at Sunset Cottage at Lake Junaluska.

The program was given by Rebekah Murray and Mrs. C. S. Davis, members of the health safety committee.

Miss Murray discussed aspects of mental health which she and Mrs. Davis had a fund of knowledge on.

The meeting opened with a prayer and Miss Mary ... sided during the business session.
