Polio Poster Girl

AP Newsfeatures STEPPING OUT— Mary Kosloski is 1955 poster girl for the March of Dimes, starting Jan. 3. Doctors once said she would never walk. Stricken with polio at 5 months, she now steps out confidently, with two leg braces, crutches and a steel-stiffened corset. But she will need much care in the future as in the past. Her family, like many others, has done what it could, but has received aid from March of Dime funds.

Married Couple To Be Recognized At Church Sunday

Special recognition will be given Sunday night at the First Methodist Church to the couple who have been married the longest number of years.

The couple will be honored at the evening service, at which time the pastor, the Rev. Earl H. Brandall, will use as his sermon topic, "How To Attain Married Happiness."

The service will be the sixth in a series of special sermons based on Dr. Norman Vincent Peale's book, "A Guide to Confident Living." Everyone is invited.

The Typist Type

DONNA PERCY, who has been making a living as a typist in a Hollywood TV mimeograph department, discovers that she is several times more valuable as the typist type sought by film directors. She has signed up to appear as one in her film debut.

BOWLING

Two games out of three were taken by the three winning squads—Glance Used Cars, All Stars, and Dayton Rubber—over the three losers—Charlie's Place, Biltmore Dairy, and Waynesville Bowling Center in the Haywood County Men's Bowling League Monday night.

Bill Hyatt of Biltmore rolled the high individual game of 212, while Oliver Yount's 523 was tops for the individual high series.

Biltmore Dairy posted the high team game of 965, but Glance copped the high series with 2802.

PRESIDENTIAL DELIGHT — Pumpkin chifon pie from a recipe of White House Origin.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

OUR FIRST LADY knows good food. We have just tried her recipe for Pumpkin Chifon Pie and are happy to report that our tasters, finishing their last mouthfuls with blissful satisfaction, declared it the best of its kind.

The secret of the pie? About a quarter cup more pumpkin than most other recipes of this sort call for, an extra egg and subtle spicing. Other versions of Pumpkin Chifon Pie call for cinnamon, nutmeg and ginger. This presidential delight has a good quota of cinnamon, the perfect amount of nutmeg and no ginger. The result is utterly delectable flavor—not overpowering but not too delicate, either!

We found this recipe, with "Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the White House," printed under it, in The Mare Island Centennial Cook Book. The cook book contains "Favorite Recipes of the Families of the United States Naval Base Mare Island, Vallejo, Bencia, Napa, California and Far-off Places," and has directions for lots of wonderful dishes. It was compiled by women volunteers of the Navy Relief Society Auxiliary. (Copies may be bought by writing to the Mare Island Cen-ennial Cook Book, Mare Island Naval Shipyard, Vallejo, Calif. $2.25 including postage and mailing charge.)

Any Thanksgiving dinner will benefit from the presence of this Pumpkin Chifon Pie. But be sure to give the recipe its due and use a really flaky pastry for the crust. We are giving you the exact amounts of the filling ingredients as they came from the White House. The method is a new one we used because it is quick and easy: the unflavored gelatin, brown sugar, salt, spices, liquid, egg yolks and pumpkin are heated together in the top of a double boiler long enough for the gelatin to dissolve. After that the mixture is chilled and folded into the egg whites, which must be beaten very stiff so that the air they capture will combine with the gelatin to give the pie real chifon texture. Then the fluffy pumpkin filling is turned into the baked pastry shell. Chilled until firm, wreathed with whipped cream, here's a pie to be proud of!

MRS. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER'S PUMPKIN CHIFON PIE

Ingredients: 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, 3/4 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 cup milk, 1/4

Heavy Grain Feed Is Not Always Best

Feeding dairy cows heavily on grain is not necessarily the most profitable way for a farmer to increase his milk output.

Scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have completed studies which show that greater dependence on high-quality forage can reduce feeding costs — which normally account for half or more of the total cost of milk production — by 20 to 25 per cent.

Grain feeding has increased about 25 per cent among U. S. dairy herds in the past seven years. This has added materially to milk production costs. National average milk yields have increased 1.44 pounds for each pound of increase in grain fed.

To USDA dairy nutritionists, this means that the grain has been supplying more than enough cow nutrients for the extra milk—and that forage contributed little to the increased milk output. They believe that a similar increase could have been obtained at less cost if more nutrients had been derived from good forage.

The department researchers point out, however, that the savings possible through feeding more pasture, hay, and silage depend a great deal on the quality of this forage. It has to have a high level cup water, 3 eggs (separated), 1 1/2 cups cooked pumpkin, 1/4 cup granulated sugar, baked 9-inch pie shell, whipped cream.

Method: Mix gelatin, brown sugar, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg together thoroughly in the top of a double boiler. Stir in milk and water. Beat in egg yolks with a fork or a whisk, then the pumpkin. Place over boiling water and cook stirring often — especially around sides of pan — until mixture is heated through, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat; chill until mixture begins to set—a spoonful of it dropped back will hold its shape well in a mound. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in granulated sugar until very stiff. Fold gelatin mixture into egg whites. Turn into pie shell; chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream.

Food Editor's Note: Canned pumpkin is fine for this filling. 3/4 cup milk may be used instead of the 1/2 cup milk and 1/4 cup water called for. This pie may be made a few days ahead of the time it is to be served and frozen (without the whipped cream garnish); to thaw, allow to stand at room temperature for three hours.

Just Taken Bets

NEW YORK (AP) — Fair bettors at race tracks are using tokens instead of money to place bets. An inventor has come up with a new token-operated device which will enable bettors to place bets as easily as a pack of vending machine.

The new system would mean many ticket sellers. Each bettor could make a wager by inserting a token into the device. The device has a numbered button and a ticket.

The machine was invented by Van Dyke Hill of City.

An acre of good land usually will provide for 12 young pigs and the breeding stock.

of TDN—the total digestible nutrients that make it more filler.

Studies show that feed costs and rate of production are more favorable farmers when the quality forage is about 75 weight of grain fed. Producing milk rises as the forage makes up more than half the
