

Haywood 4-H Club Dance Team To Represent State At Chicago Meeting

Southern Bell Puts New Equipment Into Use

Mr. McCuiston, Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. manager, said today his company is putting into operation a new long-distance switching system which electronically calls out of North and South Carolina.

Mr. McCuiston added that long distance circuits now in operation in the Southern Bell system are operated by equipment to dial many long distance calls without assistance from operators.

The new equipment is the first of its type to be put into operation in the nine-state system by Southern Bell. Part of the equipment is designed to give the better and faster long distance service, Mr. McCuiston said.

"In order for the public to get maximum benefit from these latest marvels of telephone-science electronics," the manager said, "it will be necessary for long distance calls to be placed by number. We've found that on the average people can save as much as two minutes on such a call, if they will keep a record of frequently called numbers and provide the number they are calling to the operator."

Distinguishing feature of the new long distance switching center is a "card translator." These $25,000 machines contain as many as 1,000 metal cards, which they can "read"

Cloggers To Appear On Program

Haywood County's 4-H Club clog dance team has been named as North Carolina's talent winner and will receive an all-expense paid trip to the National 4-H Club Convention in Chicago.

While in the Windy City, the dancers will appear on the variety talent program, "Share the Fun Breakfast," to be held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel. The group will leave here Friday and return the following Saturday.

The United States Rubber Co. sponsors the 4-H Club recreation and rural arts program and will finance the trip of the Haywood clog team to Chicago.

Neal Kelly, president of the Bethel Senior 4-H Club, is the caller for the dance team. Other members are Martha Swaim, Gail Cogburn, Peggy Mills, Ann Cathey, Teddy Skaggs, James Fore, James Mease, Verlin Edwards, T. L. Francis, and Kyle Edwards.

Some features of the National 4-H Convention will be:

- A non-denominational church service on Sunday by the pastor of the Central Church in Chicago; C. M. Ferguson, administrator, Federal Extension Service, will open the assembly sessions; Raymond Firestone, executive vice-president of Firestone Tire and Rubber Company will talk; Dr. Kenneth McFarland, General Motors educational

GOING TO CHICAGO is this Haywood 4-H Club dance team, who will stage a program at the National 4-H Club Convention in Chicago. The team is having all expenses paid by United States Rubber Company. They are leaving here via train and will be gone a week. Front row, left to right: Aurelia Morgan, Gail Cogburn, Ann Cathey, Peggy Mills. Second row: Neal Kelly, James Fore, T. L. Francis and James Mease. Back row: Teddy Skaggs, Martha Swaim, Verlin Edwards, Miss Jean Childers, 4-H leader; Kyle Edwards and Joe K. Davis, 4-H leader for boys. The two leaders will accompany the team to Chicago. (Mountaineer Photo.)

Hyatt Represents WNC In '54 State Student Assembly

Charles F. Hyatt of Waynesville, is serving in the 1954 State Student Legislative Assembly in the capacity of a representative and is representing U.N.C. This, the eighteenth annual student assembly, convened the 18th-20th of November in the State Capitol building in Raleigh and considered and acted upon major political issues of the day.

Charles, along with approximately 200 other students representing nearly all the colleges and universities in North Carolina, convened as junior legislators in almost exactly the same way as our regular State Legislature does.

This assembly provided the participants with firsthand experience in legislative procedures and in democratic self-government.

Many of the bills which they passed this week will be presented to the next General Assembly for their consideration and possible legislation.
