

Saunook CDP Adopts Projects For This Year

By IMOGENE HOOPER
Community Reporter

Several families in this community have been busy cleaning out their gardens and burning brush, getting ready for early plowing. The orchardmen have also taken advantage of the warm days and are pruning their trees.

The Saunook Community Development Program organization met Monday at the Saunook school.

Chairman Bobby Joe McClure presided at the meeting.

Plans were made to purchase uniforms for the basketball players.

Projects to be carried out this year are: Improvement of church and school grounds, cemeteries and mailboxes, and beautification of homes in the community by planting shrubbery and flowers.

The meeting was adjourned to meet again the second Monday evening in March. The date was set for the first Monday evening but because of the High School Parent Teachers Association meeting on the first Monday, the CDP voted to change the date to the second Monday.

Aunt Margaret Hawkins has returned to her home following treatment at the Haywood County Hospital. Mrs. Alice Snyder is a patient in the hospital.

Mrs. Herman Burgess and Mrs. W. D. Dewese are also on the sick list.

Mrs. William Plemmons spent a few days last week as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Moore at Cowarts.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gillet, Mrs. Alvin Moore, Miss Edith Buel and Imogene Hooper visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moore at Franklin last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Rowland and daughter Betty Lee visited relatives at Newport, Tenn., Sunday.

Joe Sparks who is with the State Highway Commission at Morganton spent the week end at his home on the Davis Road.

Mrs. Earl McCracken gave a party Saturday evening at her home in honor of Miss Mary Lou Jet mechanics, like these maintenance specialists working on an Air Force F94 Starfire, are the men who keep the world's finest Air Force flying. Qualified high school graduates who enlist in the U. S. Air Force can apply for career courses leading to work in fields as varied as administration, missile guidance systems, photography, and weather mapping. A new 84-page booklet, "Pocket Guide to Air Force Opportunities," describes the career courses offered and the training bases where they are taught, and contains general information on pay scales, promotion, travel, and other benefits. "Pocket Guide" is available without charge at all U. S. Air Force Recruiting Stations.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hooper spent the day Saturday in Asheville.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lyle of Gaffney, S. C., were the guests of relatives in this community last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Burgess had as their guest for the week end Mrs. Burgess' brother, Millard Hill, of Kannapolis.

Thickety Group Plan Programs

An interesting program is being arranged for the March meeting of the Thickety Community to be held at the Rockwood Methodist Church on March 3, at 7:30 p.m.

Jeter J. Martin will show slides secured on a recent trip to European countries as a representative of the Champion Loan Association. Scenes from various sections, including England, France, and other areas were secured by Mr. Martin, which will bring valuable information to the CDP group. It is hoped a large number will attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hardin were called to Chicago, Ill., Monday by the serious illness of his father.

Mrs. Robert Hipps and children, James Wray and Jane, are spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Yelton, at Spindale. Mr. Hipps accompanied them down Sunday.

A number of women in the community expect to participate in the food sale sponsored by the Beaverdam H. D. Club for the club's project at the Orthopedic Home in Asheville.

The regular meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Jacobs, Jr., with Mrs. David Burch co-hostess.

Visitors at the meeting were Mrs. Wallace Ward and Miss Alma Browning of Lake Junaluska, district secretary and district chairman of Missionary Education respectively. Mrs. Ward gave a report on the Convocation she recently attended in Charlotte, and discussed plans for the coming months in Guild work for the district. She also announced important meetings on a conference level to be held at Junaluska during the summer. Miss Browning discussed Study Courses.

Mrs. Jacobs presided over the meeting with Miss Melba Willis leading the devotional, and Mrs. Ray McDowell in charge of the program.

Community workers in the recent March of Dimes drive, will entertain workers from the Hominy and Beaverdam communities at a dinner meeting Saturday evening, March 5, at the Rockwood Methodist Church. Around forty people are expected to attend.

Meet Pamela and Her Father: His Heart Really Beat for Hers

Partners in a history-making heart operation, with a father "lending" his heart and lungs to his daughter as surgeons repaired the gaping hole in the wall separating the pumping chambers of her heart, are Ronald Schmidt and 5-year-old Pamela Schmidt of Minneapolis, shown above.

Before the operation, Pamela seemed doomed to a life of invalidism or possible death at an early age. She had spent 10 months in an oxygen tent. Today, she is given as good a chance as any youngster for a normal, healthy life.

The story of little Pamela is the story of medical science's newest accomplishment — "controlled cross circulation" — a revolutionary procedure introduced into surgery at the University of Minnesota Medical School after several years of intensive research. This research was aided by the Heart Fund.

In the operation, the blood circulatory systems of Pamela and her father, who was anesthetized on a nearby operating table, became one circulatory system.

They were linked by thin plastic tubes passing through a mechanical pump. With Pamela's heart isolated and her lungs collapsed, the pump fed into her circulatory system bright red, oxygenated blood carried from her father's femoral artery while carrying back to the father an equal amount of dark, venous blood for purification and oxygenation in the father's lungs and other organs.

Although the operation required four and a half hours, Pamela's heart was isolated from the rest of her circulatory system for only 1 1/4 minutes. During this period surgeons opened the wall of her heart, sewed up the defect in the inner partition and then closed the outer heart wall.

They worked in a blood-free operating field under direct vision, and what is equally important, they worked unburiedly and without fear that their patient might either bleed to death or that her brain might be damaged by impairment of the circulation.

This and other great advances in heart surgery prove that heart research pays off. Your contribution to the Heart Fund supports research, and brings the benefits of latest knowledge to you in your own community. When you Help Your Heart Fund, you Help Your Heart.
