

Haywood Baptists Plan Simultaneous Revival Series

The Haywood County Baptist churches are joining in with other Southern Baptist churches in a simultaneous evangelistic crusade, according to the Rev. Eimer Greene, chairman of enlistment.

A local committee has been working on the crusade in this county for the series of revivals with the date of April 19 through the 17th set for this area.

Those serving on the committee in addition to Mr. Greene are Rev. W. N. Reece, general chairman; Rev. T. E. Robinett, publicity chairman; Rev. J. G. Goodwin, Jr., census chairman; Rev. Horace L. Smith, chairman of special rallies; Rev. Jarvis Brock, music chairman; Rev. John Kizer, chairman of extension and colportage; Bill Carter, chairman of finance.

The churches participating and dates of service and the minister who will be speaker for that church include: Green Valley, April 24, Rev. W. N. Reece; North Canton, April 10, Rev. Geter R. Porch; Rocky Branch, April 10, Rev. W. G. Rhinehart; Spring Hill, April 10, Rev. James Tucker; Woodland, April 3, Rev. Jarvis Brock; Antioch, April 10, no minister selected; First Baptist, Waynesville, April 18, Dr. Archie Ellis; Beulah, April 17, Rev. J. W. Jackson; First Baptist, Hazelwood, April 17, Rev. H. P. Miller; First Baptist, Canton, March 30, Rev. Earle L. Bradley.

Also Lake Junaluska, March 27, Rev. Ralph Nix; Peachtree, March 6, Rev. E. F. Sprinkle; Olivet, March 20, Rev. Clifford Hornbuckle; Calvary, April 10, Rev. J. C. Pipes; Allens Creek, April 17, Rev. A. P. Millen; Clyde, April 17, Rev. C. W. Bazemore; West Canton, April 10, Rev. H. L. Smith; East Canton, March 20, Rev. Bill House; Oak Grove, April 10, Rev. Elmer Greene; Ninevah, April 10, Rev. C. L. Allen; East Waynesville, April 17, Rev. Jyles Hall.

Churches participating but with dates for services not scheduled are: Belmont, Rev. W. N. Reece; Dellwood, Rev. George Mehaffey; Pigeon, Rev. John Willis, and Dutch Cove, no minister selected.

death for two young men and a child asleep in the residence of Carmel Ingle near the intersection of the old road and the new four-lane highway.

The first person on the scene was Paul Clark, Jr., of Canton, a driver for Pet Dairy, who awakened the two young men and helped get the child to safety.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingle were away attending a funeral at the time the blaze broke out. Their home and nearly all of their clothing and furnishings were lost in the fire—the second time in a week that a Canton residence has been destroyed by flames.

Clyde Fire Chief Larry Cagle said that two children asleep in the Ingle house when the fire broke out were rescued by neighbors. Their parents were away from home at the time, attending a funeral.

The Eldredh dwelling was not damaged.

While fighting the fires, the Clyde firemen had to make two trips to the nearest fire plug at the old West Canton depot. There was no plug at the scene.

Although the fires were within a short distance of the Canton town limits, Canton firemen are prohibited by town ordinance from leaving the town.

Pigeon Road

The speaker told the civic organization, "Draw a straight line from Miami to Cincinnati, and you'll find the line goes through the Pigeon River Gorge. Draw another from Knoxville to Wilmington and you'll find it also goes through the Pigeon River Gorge. This is a natural route for a highway connecting the midwest and the south," he said.

This was the second in a series of five addresses which Mr. Noland will make to civic groups of this community.

The former highway executive was introduced by W. Curtis Russ, who explained some of the tentative plans in connection with the hearing in Asheville April 18, on the matter of an interstate route from Western North Carolina to Tennessee.

Hye Sheptowitch, president, was in charge of the meeting.

The club had three Key Clubs as their guests Tuesday evening.

North Carolina. Boy Wright, manager of the CP&L office at Hazelwood, said that power interruptions such as the one which occurred this week are "extremely rare."

Telephone service in some parts of the county also was interrupted briefly because of wet cables, but repairs soon restored communications, according to C. T. McCuiston, manager of the Southern Bell Telephone exchanges in Waynesville and Canton.

A Woman Changes Her Mind . . .

"I want a warrant for a man who stole my car," a woman told Sheriff Campbell.

"All right, that can be arranged, now give me some details," the officer said.

With the warrant, the sheriff went to seek the man charged with taking the woman's car. The sheriff found the man, and served the warrant. The man explained he had borrowed the car with the woman's permission. The sheriff listened patiently, and was convinced the story told by the man was the truth.

Shortly after the warrant had been served, the woman came to the sheriff and explained that the man had borrowed her car, but had kept it longer than she figured he should, and to please forget the warrant, as all was forgiven.

The outcome of the meeting Monday night was the appointment of a steering committee to confer more with the commissioners Wednesday morning. This committee named was composed of Dr. J. L. Reeves, Kin McNeil, Joe Palmer, Mrs. Raymond Caldwell and Mrs. W. D. Ketter. At the conference Wednesday were the three commissioners, Mrs. Ketter, Palmer, Carson Clark, and Homer Sink.

A two-hour conference was held Wednesday, with plans being made for another conference Saturday morning, at which time an estimated cost of the proposed buildings would be submitted by Virgil Holloway, county agent, and Miss Mary Cornwell, home demonstration agent. Expected to attend the Saturday conference will be Senator William Medford, and Representative Jerry Rogers. The two members of the 1955 General Assembly are being requested to attend because of the possibility that legislation might be essential in order to raise the money for construction. It was also pointed out in the conference that the project might require a vote of the people.

The committee in session here Wednesday morning, in conference with the commissioners, felt that it would be well to set a tentative building goal in order that every one might know the sum involved. Also, to suggest the type of buildings needed for the project, as well as the size.

clerk at Clyde.

Two new comers to town politics filed for mayor—Harry Haynes, a dry cleaner, and Mark V. Brown, a real estate and insurance man.

Lester Ward, a Champion Paper and Fibre Company employee, has filed for alderman.

Larry H. Cagle has filed for the fourth term as police court judge, and is being opposed by Charles F. Lanning, former chief of police of Clyde.

Cagle is the only present office holder to file for re-election.

Two members of the Canton board have filed for re-election: Charles Beall and C. F. Stanley. The third member, Henry Seaman has not filed. Reports from Canton are that two members seeking re-election have formed a ticket including as the third member Logan M. White.

Two members of the school board, Willis Kirkpatrick, chairman and Malcolm Crisp have filed for re-election. They are the only two of the 5-member board whose term expires this year. Other members are: James E. Henderson, J. R. Schrest, Jr., and Arthur Cody.

Canton has not had any candidates to file for mayor.

Ralph R. Mease has filed for judge of police court.

There have been 10 candidates to file in Waynesville; one for mayor, and nine for aldermen. In Hazelwood there have been seven—five for aldermen and two for mayor. These 17 plus the five from Clyde and six from Canton makes 28 candidates in the four municipal elections thus far to file.

Sound Recordings

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—Andre Kostelanetz, here to direct the Pittsburgh Symphony orchestra, entertained friends with a private playing of recordings he made while visiting the Orient. The records included such sounds as:

A Chok Chok lizard greening the sunrise in Bangkok; belted elephants moving through the streets during a Buddhist festival; chants of beggars in bazaars and Bangkok temple bells swaying in the evening breeze.

Kostelanetz says he plans to release the records commercially in an album of "unusual sounds of the world."

Pittsburgh is one of the foggiest places on the North American continent.

Farm Officials In Raleigh For Tobacco Hearing

Six Haywood County officials left here Wednesday for Raleigh to attend a hearing on charges made by burley tobacco markets of Western North Carolina. They were:

Faraday C. Green, chairman of county commissioners; Virgil L. Holloway, county agent; Bryan Medford, county tax collector; Joe Palmer, farmer and former state representative; Oral L. Yates, field representative for the North Carolina Farm Bureau; and Mrs. Quay Medford, secretary of the Haywood County Farm Bureau.

The hearing will be conducted by the House agriculture committee on a bill introduced by Rep. Fred Holcombe of Madison County and Rep. Mark Bennett of Yancey County to restrict market fees to 3 1/2 per cent of the gross sales and 25 cents a basket.

The measure was introduced after WNC burley producers complained about a 10 cents a pound weighing fee charged by the warehouses last season.

Joe Boone, president of the county Farm Bureau, journeyed to Raleigh this week and may attend the hearing before returning here.

cross at Lake Junaluska Easter morning.

The services which attract hundreds every Easter will again be in the charge of the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Edwin Leatherwood is in charge of the program. The services will begin at 6 a.m.

James W. Fowler, Jr., superintendent of Lake Junaluska will be the speaker.

The theme of this year's service is "Christ Above All."

The members of the MYF will have charge of the prayer, scripture reading and the music.

The site of the services is on the top of the hill overlooking the 250-acre lake.

Whiteside Sunrise Service The annual Easter sunrise service atop Whiteside Mountain is scheduled for 6:00 o'clock. The service is sponsored by the ministers of the Highlands-Cashiers area, and the Easter message will be delivered by the Reverend R. T. Houts, pastor of the Highlands Methodist Church.

In previous years this service has attracted a large number of visitors from Western North Carolina, South Carolina and North Georgia. The scenic beauty of the two-thousand foot cliffs and the almost limitless view of surrounding mountains combine to make this an inspiring setting for such a service.

Although the road up Whiteside Mountain is a toll road, officers of the Whiteside Development Corporation extend an invitation to the public to drive up the mountain for the service without charge. Those who plan to attend the service are requested to arrive before 6:00 a.m. in order that all cars may be parked before the service begins.

Sunrise Services At Churches Several churches in the area are planning sunrise services.

A service will be held in the East Waynesville Baptist Church at 6:45 a.m., with the pastor, the Rev. Hobart Shope, Jr., delivering the Easter message.

The Rocky Branch Missionary Baptists will have a service at 6 a.m., conducted by the pastor, the Rev. W. G. Rhinehart.

police court judge of the town. The bill sets forth a maximum salary of $150 per month. The present salary of the mayor is $60 per month, which includes services as police court judge. The proposed additional $90, a town official explained, would be for services as police court judge.

The same official in explaining the request for the measure, said that a comparable salary for a justice of peace with an equal number of cases tried would be about $300 per month.

Both bills were introduced in the House Monday night.

Car Wrecks At Saunook In Downpour

Two residents of the Balsam Road escaped serious injury at 8:20 a.m. Wednesday when the 1933 Ford in which they were riding overturned on a curve near the Skyland Cottages during a heavy rain.

Patrolman Harold Dayton of the State Highway Patrol reported that William Everett Dillard of the Balsam Road lost control of his car on a curve. The vehicle plunged into a bank on the right side of the road and then overturned twice, ending up on its top.

The driver escaped injury, but his niece, Judy Dillard, 13, suffered a cut on the right thumb, a bruised left leg, abrasions, and slight sock. She was treated by Dr. Thomas Stringfield.

Patrolman Dayton cited Dillard for driving with excessive speed for weather conditions and for driving on the wrong side of the road.

Damage to the car was estimated at $1,000.
