

Francis, Morgan Among 19 Living Wake '05 Graduates

Two Haywood County men are among 19 members of the 1905 class at Wake Forest College pictured in a photographic feature in the April issue of the Wake Forest Magazine.

The two are William James Francis, native of Haywood County and former principal of the Haywood Institute at Clyde, now a merchant at Belmont, and J. R. Morgan, Waynesville attorney.

The Haywood countians are two of the 19 surviving members of Wake Forest's Class of '05.

Concerning Mr. Francis, the article lists him as once connected with High Point schools, former superintendent of the Gaffney (S. C.) public schools, president of the Gardner-Webb College, moderator of the Gaston County Baptist Association for 10 years, a deacon 10 years, Sunday School superintendent 10 years, Sunday school teacher 20 years, and Training Union worker 10 years.

"A merchant in Belmont for 40 years, he has assisted in educating a number of young people and in building schools and churches. A generous contributor to colleges, Baptist Hospital, and the Belmont Church. Married to Mrs. Emma Stowe Jenkins."

Mr. Francis is the brother of Harley Francis, Mrs. Ed Fincher, Mrs. Homer West, Miss Mary Francis, and Mrs. J. E. Klutz, all of Haywood County.

Concerning Mr. Morgan, the article lists the following:

"Secured law license 1904 and LL. B. degree at WF 1907. Served as mayor of Waynesville 1908-09; judge of Waynesville Police Court, 1917-19; member State Board of Elections 1942-50; attorney for Town of Waynesville since 1921 and for several years of Hazelwood and Clyde. Member Haywood County Board of Education 1912-17; several years a member of the board of trustees of Waynesville Graded School; attorney for Haywood County Baptists, serving as deacon, Sunday school teacher and superintendent for several years. Member of General Board of Baptist State Convention for 15 years; also on boards of Biblical Recorder, Baptist Foundation, Mars Hill College, and Baptist Homes, Inc. Married to Cora Ward, Son, Jasper Eugene Morgan (B.S. WFC '31, and Ph. D., Duke University), commander USN, engaged in nuclear research work with medical unit at Navy Medical Center, Bethesda, Md.

Mr. Francis and Mr. Morgan will attend a Golden Anniversary celebration for the Class of '05 at Wake Forest May 30.
