Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow is three blocks ahead of the rest of the industry

T seems the experts are just as enthusiastic about Buick's new Dynaflow as the happy owners of new Buicks with this wonder drive.

Famed Motor Life, The Magazine of American Motoring, says it right from the shoulder in the quote we show above.

This knowing magazine follows up that statement with these words: "It sets a pattern for the future." And ends the report with a simple tribute: "So hats off to Buick for pioneering a feature of tomorrow's transmission."

The reason the raves come hot and heavy for Variable Pitch Dynaflow is simple.

This new kind of automatic transmission puts at your command what an airplane pilot has at his - propellers that can vary their pitch. He uses one pitch for quick take-off and climb

You do the same in a Buick just by pressure on the gas pedal.

Press down in the normal way, and twenty propeller-like blades inside the Dynaflow unit smoothly angle one way to give you plenty miles per gallon.

Press down all the way, and those propeller blades change their pitch-with absolute smoothness - to give you instant getaway response, or a sudden safety-surge of accelerating power when you need it - and all split-second quick.

It's a marvel that brings far more flexibility to the whole driving range-and a performance thrill unlike anything you ever experienced before in an earth-bound vehicle.
