Deer Hunting Season Open November 21

Producers Vote In Referendum

County wool growers have an opportunity to vote in a referendum to decide whether the areas will be made available to provide a program for the wool management areas.

The announcement was made Wednesday at a joint meeting of the state Wildlife Resources Commission, the U. S. Forest Service and a committee of the North Carolina Park, Parkway, and Forests Development Commission at Asheville.

Thus, deer hunting in WNC's 10 Wildlife Management Areas will begin a week later than last season when the small number of kills were credited to the early season.

The 10 areas include Pisgah Wildlife Preserve, Wayah Bald, Santeetlah, Sherwood Forest, Mt. Mitchell, Fires Creeks, Daniel Boone, Standing Indian, Rich Laurel, and Flat Top in Mitchell and Yancey counties.

Flat Top is the new wildlife management area which is being opened for the first time this fall.

The groups also took action against the jam-ups of hunters at checking station on the opening day of the season last fall. This year the first four days of the hunts in Pisgah, Mitchell, Daniel Boone and Flat Top will be open to hunters chosen from a drawing of advance applications.

The areas will be thrown open on the fifth day with no advance applications necessary and no quota on hunters.

Uwharrie area in Montgomery County will be limited to 20 hunters daily.

The Nov. 21 opening of the season will run the N. C. hunts simultaneously with hunts in western Virginia.

The $2.50 daily hunting fee paid last year by deer hunters in the wildlife areas will be increased to $3.50 this year.

Six wilderness hunts of three days each will be allowed this fall, including Fires Creek (20 hunters), Bradley Creek (30 hunters), Contrell Creek (30 hunters), Camp Alice (30 hunters), Chestnut Mountain (25 hunters), and Hawks Bill (25 hunters).

The group also decided to open bear and boar hunts in the management areas Oct. 14 and run them through Nov. 12.

The small game season will open on Oct. 1 and for the first time small game hunting will be allowed in Uwharrie, Santeetlah and Flat Top.

who have owned sheep of age or older, 30 days since January 1, are eligible to vote. The sheep will be noted on the list.

Ballots will be mailed from the office to all known sheep owners in the county and to those who do not receive a ballot one by writing or calling the ASC office.

Ballots must be returned to the office not later than August 15. The results of the referendum will be based on the sheep represented by the ballot, the outcome of the referendum will not be available September 1.

Hazelwood Meets Canton In Paper City Saturday

Baseball Results

PONY LEAGUE
Garrett's 4, Five Points 3.
Unagusta 20, Dayton 1.

By CAROLYN DAVIS

G. Arrington pitched for Garrett's and Carswell and Beck for Five Points.

Arrington and Holder were the leading hitters for Garrett's and George for Five Points.

In the second game, Carver pitched Unagusta to a top-heavy victory over Dayton.

Carver was tops at the plate for Unagusta, while Ledford was best for Dayton.

Thwarted again by Jupiter Pluvius yesterday when Ecusta was scheduled to play here, Hazelwood will attempt to get back into WNC Industrial League action Saturday afternoon against Canton.

The game is set for 3 p.m. on the Paper City diamond.

In two previous meetings, of the two county rivals, Hazelwood has copped both outings—winning 7-6 on June 29 and 10-6 on July 4 on the Waynesville High field.

Spunk Cagle or Ray Hooper probably will start on the mound for Hazelwood.

In their last start Saturday against Enka on the Rayonite field, Hazelwood out-hit the host team 10-6, but errors at crucial points in the game cost them a 7-6 victory. Hazelwood's record now stands at 5-7.

N. C. Groups To Urge Hunting Of Doe Deer

At a joint meeting in Asheville July 20, the N. C. Wildlife Resources Commission, a special committee of the N. C. National Park, Parkway, and Forests Development Commission, and the U. S. Forest Service agreed on an aggressive campaign to promote public acceptance of doe deer hunting.

In announcing this decision today, Don Morris, supervisor of the North Carolina National Forests, pointed out that two bills giving the Wildlife Commission authority to set seasons as needed on doe deer were considered by the last legislature. Both were passed by the House but killed in the Senate.

One of these bills was statewide; the other applicable only to cooperative wildlife management areas. It is believed that, given a true picture of the current situation, the hunters of North Carolina will insist on permissive legislation at the next session.

Crowding, deer range deterioration, and deaths due to starvation have already occurred on an alarming proportion of the managed areas including the Mt. Mitchell and Pisgah. Since the deer in same areas exceeded the winter carrying capacity of the range, there is some danger of them being virtually wiped out by disease. It is hoped that the additional two-year delay will not cause a repetition of the disastrous epizootic of 1939 when thousands of deer died on the Pisgah Preserve.

Both state and federal personnel are pledged to continue to do everything possible to provide winter browse through cuttings, but the ultimate solution, officials said, must be continuing hunting use sufficient to keep deer herds small enough to protect their food supply and cover.

This forward step in wildlife management has also been endorsed by resolution of the N. C. Farm Bureau and the N. C. Forestry Council.

With their series deadlocked at one victory apiece, Hazelwood and Canton Pony League teams will meet at 8 o'clock tonight under the lights at Canton for the county championship.

Hazelwood got off to a good start at Canton Tuesday by whipping the home team, 7-5. Back home Wednesday, however, Hazelwood's luck faded as the Paper City youngsters romped off with a 7-3 triumph.

In the first tilt, Bobby Trull held Canton to seven hits while his mates got eight safeties off opposing pitcher Stone.

Carlton Burrell, Jack Holder, and James Carver each got 2 hits for Hazelwood. None of the Canton batters got more than one hit, although six players banged out safeties.

In the second game, Canton shelled Samppy Styles off the mound and diminutive David Beck took over pitching duties for Hazelwood. M. Clark, Sharp, and J. Clark each got two hits for the visitors. Cope hurled all the way for Canton.

Burrell paced the Hazelwood batters with two hits.
