Cagney, Derek Star In Thriller 'Run For Cover'

Alive with blazing dramatic force, "Run For Cover," most powerful frontier story since "Shane," will open Sunday at the Strand Theatre. Starring James Cagney, Viveca Lindfors and John Derek, with Jean Hersholt featured, Paramount's rugged Western has been received as a drama of unusual impact wherever it has been shown.

Filmed in the astonishing grandeur of the new Vista-Vision and in color by Technicolor, "Run For Cover" is the robust story of two frontier men trapped in a situation beyond their control, and of the woman whose love helped one of them fight his way out.

The magnificent Colorado mountain country is the setting for "Run For Cover." To this restless territory comes James Cagney, a man forced by chance to make his gun uphold a reputation he doesn't deserve. Cagney has a life behind him he is trying to forget, a life that has been cruelly unjust to him but has brought him a firm confidence in the lawful, orderly way. From the moment he meets headstrong John Derek, however, he has to fight an alarming reputation of the very life he is dodging, and his courage and understanding are put to tests no man should be made to face. His answer to the challenge, even in the face of Derek's strange and unfathomable behavior, his unerring instinct in solving the problems of his love for Viveca Lindfors, and the overpowering tension of the final explosive situation into which he is thrown in spite of all the elements of which a great drama is made.

Dead Center

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Workmen measured to the center of a block on South Main St., here and painted a traffic line. They moved on to the next block, measured out from one curb and painted a traffic line. But it wasn't in the center. The second block was considerably wider than the first block, and the workers had used the same measurement from the curb they'd used in the previous block. So they had to scrape up the line in the second block and paint another right down the middle.

Rebirth Of Courage Is Need Of Work, Audience At Lake Told By Bosley

"The rebirth of courage we need to face these critical days is possible only through religion," Dr. Harold A. Bosley of Evanston, Ill., said in his series of lectures at the Lake Junaluska Methodist Assembly.

"Once more the church must become a great teaching institution," Dr. Bosley said. "If we are too lazy to deal with our problems then they will be passed along to our children simply because we are afraid."

Dr. Bosley, former dean of the Duke University Divinity School and pastor of the First Methodist Church in Evanston since 1950, concluded his series of five lectures this morning at the lake. He spoke at the closing sessions of the Southwide Ministers' Conference and preliminary to the opening tonight of the Laymen's Conference.

"Let the Christian Church beware of softness in this day of big problems and little answers," Dr. Bosley said. "We are overwhelmed by a procession of issues headed by war and peace, economic and racial injustice, but we have big answers — as big as the love of God — if we are Christian enough to use them."

Dr. Bosley added: "Signs of softness in our culture are indicated by intellectual flabbiness, ethical insensitivity and spiritual complacency. Our fear of the familiar is one of America's great dangers. Life is not an adventure but a mistake if we permit familiar customs, habits, convention and tradition act as blinders to the social and economic issues of our times."

"The familiar tends to smother the meaning, mystery and glory of life and to blur the sin and shame of the status quo. If we refuse to change or break with custom, institutions and conventions which are linked to injustice, then we are in trouble with God."

"Christianity needs no apology, but merely understanding."
