

College Bound, Choose Smart Luggage

College luggage is a major investment which will travel with the student for four years, and frequently on through a wedding or the start of a career.

Like a college wardrobe, luggage owned by a boy or girl is a "prestige" possession which should never be borrowed from friends or culled from man assortment in the attic.

Girls will find three basic pieces fill the bill for trips of any length; starter sets could include a train case or fitted cosmetic case, a weekender or overnight bag, and a traveling garment carrier and matching duffels and zipper bags.

Fashion plays a big role in the pullman or wardrobe case.

Garment Carriers Useful
For boys, the one suter bag is most popular, paired with a matched companion bag for accessories or overnight use.

Both boys and girls find use for luggage chosen for college; high colors are smart, and yet easy to keep spanking fresh because of new fabric and plastic finishes which resist scuffing and wipe clean with a damp cloth.

Girls have a choice of bright or pastel colors—even gay plaids which are a cinch to spot in a crowded waiting room. Boys still like the traditional ginger and sun-tan, but charcoal, navy and sometimes smart tweeds are seen.

A large, flat packing trunk takes care of heavy items such as books, winter coats, room accessories and sports equipment. The student arranges for the trunk to be sent ahead so that it is waiting in the dorm when he or she arrives.

Provides Extra Storage
...Frequently the trunk also serves as an extra seat or under-bed storage.

Fiber or aluminum laundry cases are the answer to laundry which must be sent home regularly; the telescoping feature of the lid accommodates as little or as much clothing as the student needs. Laundry cases are always made to meet post office specifications for economical parcel-posting to and from school.

Hot Frankfurter Can Be Surprise Lunch Box Tidbit

Children love hot frankfurters in a roll. Good ones are nourishing food. With the aid of a wide mouthed vacuum bottle, you can furnish them with a hot one for an occasional surprise. Here's how. Put the hot boiled frankfurter in the vacuum bottle. Fill with a hot soup such as cream of tomato.

Split a frankfurter roll and spread with butter or margarine on one side and a little mild mustard on the other. Then wrap in wax paper or aluminum foil and be sure to include a toothpick.

At lunch time, the child uses the toothpick to spear the frankfurter

Gloves And Sox Now Have A Growth Factor

Sox and gloves made of the new stretch yarns are making an important contribution to the back to school wardrobes for children of all ages this year because they furnish a "built-in" growth factor.

They offer a longer usable life since they need not be discarded because the child's hands or feet have grown a size or two. They stretch to fit.

out of the soup and pop it into the roll. And the hot frankfurter is ready to eat, with the hot soup.

Check Of Eyes Deemed A Must

A complete visual examination before a child begins or resumes school work may mean the difference between a star pupil and a problem child, according to Dr. Robert E. Bannon of the American Optical Company's Bureau of Visual Science.

"Don't depend on school vision tests entirely," he advises. "They are not intended to take the place of a thorough professional eye examination."

And because a child has a visual problem, he adds, it does not necessarily mean that he must wear glasses, or at least not continuously. Visual training is now a highly developed science and a wide range of instruments and devices are available to doctors and their patients.

One new training device actually utilizes home television. Similarly new type lenses have eliminated use of old eye patches once used in visual training.

Some symptoms of visual deficiency for which parents should watch, says Dr. Bannon, are frowning, blinking, squinting, irritability and lack of interest in reading, shutting one eye, tilting the head, headaches, eye aches and complaints of blurred or double vision.

"If your child does need glasses," he said, "you need not worry about his breaking them and getting a splinter in his eye because break resistant glass and plastic lenses may now be obtained."
