

Successful Summer Camp Started By Tank Company

GEORGE D. MANEY, information NCO, in the next four days. On Monday we will be firing on the moving tank range. This course is designed to make all of the tank crewmen work together as a team. The tank commander is responsible for moving the tank along a lane 800 yards long by directing the driver.

Along this course several targets come into view which the tank commander must take under fire. The loader performs his duties by loading the ammunition in the .30 caliber machine gun, and signaling the gunner that the weapon is ready to fire. The gunner then aims and brings the targets under fire on order of the tank commander. The bow gunner is responsible for assisting the driver and is ready to take over the duties of any other member of the crew if it should become necessary.

Each man in the tank will go through the course five times each time carrying out the duties of a different position in the tank. Every man will fire 150 rounds of caliber .30 ammunition and there will be four firing tanks at the same time on different lanes. All hatches are buttoned up and the crewmen can see out only by using the periscopes.

On Tuesday the company will fire about 24 tons of 90 mm. service ammunition and will also fire about 20 tons on Wednesday and Thursday. This will be the first 90 mm firing since the company was activated in 1947.

For recreation there are several theatre available and a golf course within 100 yards of the company street. The swimming pool is about five miles away and several men have been going there when transportation was available. Regular church services were held in all the chapels on the post today. Twenty-six men were taken to Savannah Beach today by Cpl. J. Rogers, driver of one of our 2 1/2 ton trucks. They all returned in time for supper after a very enjoyable day.

M/Sgt. John E. Norman completed a 10-hour course on the new 16 mm. projector last week and is now a licensed operator. Pvt. Earl J. Cressman is thinking of going to cooks and bakers school at Fort Benning when we return to Waynesville. He has been working in the kitchen along with Pvt. Harold B. Reece since we were short of cooks when we left home. Sgt. Grover Robinson and Sgt. William Robinson have been giving us some good meals since we arrived. Today we had roast turkey, gible dressing, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, lima beans and apple-cobbler for dinner. SFC William G. Arrington is mess steward.

Our regimental commander Col. Howell J. Hatcher, came down from Fort Bragg Thursday and spent about five hours with the company. He visited our training areas before dinner and observed the tank training, then he visited company headquarters, tent area and mess hall. He had dinner with the company officers and accompanied the company back to the training area afterwards. He was very much impressed with the training and would have liked to stay with us longer but since the other 19 companies of the regiment are at Fort Bragg, he had a very limited amount of time to spend with us. Maj. Gen. Bowers, commander of the 30th Division, also visited the company and observed training on Thursday.

Maj. Gen. Gard, deputy commander of Third Army, observed training of tank company also last week and talked to Capt. Carswell about problems of training

21 WNC Girls In Apple Harvest Beauty Contest

Beautiful girls from throughout North Carolina will compete August 31 for the title of Queen of the North Carolina Apple Festival in Hendersonville which carries with it a complete wardrobe, trips to several prominent events, and appearances on radio and television.

The hopeful contestants — 31 of them in all — represent 25 North Carolina cities and according to Job Collins, chairman of the contest committee, "It is the most beautiful lot of girls we have had to compete for the Apple Queen Crown since the festival began some nine years ago."

Judges for the contest include Standard Oil Company; Hugh Norton, owner of Grandfather Mountain; William J. Glenn, public relations director, Sylvania Corporation; and James White, Director South Carolina "Miss Universe Pageant", Spartanburg, S. C.

The Queen will receive, in addition to many elaborate gifts, trips to several Florida areas, the Minneapolis Aquatennial, Minneapolis, Minn., and appearances on radio and television. There will be other appearances during her year-long reign.

Other events of the colorful Apple Festival include the Carolina Mountain Folk Dance Jamboree, featuring square dance teams, siring bands, performers and guest hillbilly stars, an old-fashioned gospel sing, King Apple Parade, fireworks and spectacular pageants.

that we have run into so that in the future ways can be found to prevent or alleviate them. The general was also very much interested in the welfare of the enlisted men, asking if there had been any injuries, sickness or shortage of food. We have had none.

We will be leaving Camp Stewart for home at 7 a.m. next Sunday and are scheduled to arrive in Waynesville at 5 p.m. the same day. Our trucks and equipment will probably arrive in Waynesville before noon Sunday.

It has been very hot here, but all in all this has been the most profitable field training period for this unit on record.
