Cute Cotton Sleeper

By VERA WINSTON

COTTON shortie gowns are going well and the stores are re-ordering for late summer shoppers. This one, complete with bloomers, is in navy with white dot and white buttons for the jaunty little shortie. It is gathered from a square yoke and the push-up sleeves are also gathered. The white collar is sprinkled with red dots, and the white bloomers are red dotted to match. This type of slumber wear is particularly liked by the college gals and their high school sisters.

New Jumper

By VERA WINSTON

THE suspender dress picks up the jumper theme nicely this season to give this old favorite a new approach. Blithely young and ever so trim is this one, the fabric, an imported lavender tweed. The skirt has two bands running down the front and buttoned onto the self belt and then crossing in back. With this trim affair, there is a blouse of periwinkle blue silk to complete the softly tailored picture. A nice choice for college, for the career girl and for the suburbanite.
