Grange Chapter Organized At Upper Crabtree
 By PAT MESSER
 Community Reporter

Upper Crabtree residents met at the Rock Springs Baptist Church last Monday night to organize a chapter of the Grange.

T. W. Ferguson of Ferguson, N. C., field representative for the Grange, was in charge of the meeting.

Elected as chapter officers were: Craig Reeves, Grange master; Gerald Best, secretary; Edwin Hill, treasurer, and Albert Ramsey, youth leader.

The next meeting of the Grange will be held at Crabtree School Monday, November 7.

The Upper Crabtree CDP has selected Miss Louise Best as the community's candidate for Tobacco Queen. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Best and a senior at Crabtree-Iron Duff High School.

Several improvements have been made in our community the past week—including painting of signs and mailboxes, cleaning of the cemetery, and repairing of the cemetery fence.

The Rock Springs Baptist Church Sunday School classes joined in the United Fund campaign by taking up a special collection to buy warm clothing for the needy children of the community. In charge were Mrs. Tom McCracken and Mrs. Mary Hawkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Gay Bradshaw and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Best spent the weekend visiting friends in Siler City.

Seniors Of Haywood Are Enjoying Champion Visits
 The first of a three-day "Senior Week at Champion" program got underway in Canton Wednesday as more than 200 graduating senior class members from Waynesville and Bethel high schools visited the Carolina division of the Champion Paper and Fibre Company.

An estimated 200 seniors, representing Enka High School and Clyde and Fines Creek high schools in Haywood County, were scheduled to take a close look at Champion operations today.

Seniors from Canton and Crabtree-Iron Duff high schools and Reynolds High School in Canton—about 170 of them—will visit Champion for the final event Friday.

These visiting seniors were given attractive souvenirs, were luncheon guests of Champion at the plant cafeteria and received a hearty welcome from J. E. Williamson, assistant manager of industrial and community relations, as they assembled at Champion YMCA for the day's activities.

They eagerly participated in a series of career guidance sessions of their choice and heard A. M. Fairbrother, Carolina Champion's assistant general manager, discuss effectively "Champion's Effect on the Economy of the Area."

They sat in on two special movies, "Your Earning Power" and "Deep Roots" and listened attentively as J. M. Barnes, Champion's manager of industrial and community relations, talked to them on "Planning Your Future."

Career guidance subjects included such subjects as engineering, mechanical arts, chemical and ceramic engineering, nursing services, forestry, agriculture, office work, accounting, transportation and pulp and paper technology.

Leaders in this connection were J. E. Wilkinson, L. E. Gates, Miss Sibyl Wilson, Hugh Mease, Woody Lipham, M. R. (Bud) Whisenant, Waynesville, Mrs. Ray Orr, Mrs. Jeanette Abbott and Fairbrother.

A special panel composed of J. H. Keener, Champion's woods manager, J. M. Barnes, J. E. Williamson, Don Randolph and R. B. Patterson, discussed such general subjects as employment conditions in the U. S., and W.N.C., importance of interviews and offered suggestions on how to get a job and hold it.

Visiting seniors asked many and varied questions during the mill tour and competent guides were delighted to supply the answers.

Patricia Lindsey Is South Clyde Queen Contest
 By MRS. KYLE LINDSEY

The C.D.P. held its regular meeting at the community center Monday night with Edwin Jackson, chairman, in charge. The devotions were conducted by the Rev. V. N. Allen, pastor of Louisa Chapel Church. The business discussed was the judging of the community and Van Deaver and Mrs. P. C. Mann were appointed to go with the judges, and the chairman. The group voted on Patricia Lindsey to represent the community in the Tobacco Festival.

The Halloween party will be Saturday night. Everyone is asked to come dressed in costume and bring hot dogs and coffee and hot chocolate which will be served. Mrs. P. C. Mann and Miss Kate Robinson will have charge of the games.

A new oil heater has just recently been installed in the community house.

The group also voted to have another supper on the 19th of November to raise money for the CDP fund.

The WSCS of Louisa Chapel met at the church last week. Mrs.

Mrs. Walker Is Re-Elected Head Of CCA
 Mrs. Roger Walker was re-elected president of the Community Closet Association at a meeting of the association Tuesday night in the courthouse.

Other officers named for the coming year are Mrs. Wallace Ward, vice president; Mrs. Charles McDarris, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. J. Stanmyre, recording secretary; and Mrs. R. R. Campbell, treasurer.

The Loyal Order of the Moose, sponsoring organization for clothing drives, was represented at the meeting by Marion Cooper, governor, and John Marcus.

The urgent need of children's clothes, especially young girls' coats, was pointed out. Those who wish to make donations may call Marcus Electric, GL 6-8610, during the day or Mrs. Walker at GL 6-6245 at night.
