Take Time For Planning Home Chores

Good home managers have a plan, says Mamie Whinant, State College extension specialist in home management. They know more than the best way to do each of the jobs they do every day. They know how to fit them all together well.

Before they start to work each day, they plan what jobs must be done, who will do them, when and where, and how to do them the quickest, easiest way. In their minds, they lay their day's or week's work out before them and map out a plan of action to follow—all of this before they actually begin work. That's good time management, declares Miss Whinant.

Every homemaker plans, but few take time to write out any of their plans. But don't waste time and energy trying to remember or being sorry you forgot. Keep a pad and pencil in several places in the house for convenience in jotting down plans, ideas, things to do, things to buy. Time for this will be time well spent.

Your success in housekeeping will depend to a large extent upon the interest and cooperation of family members who share the work in doing household tasks. The wise home manager will plan household activities with her family so that each member will be responsible for going definite things. Household tasks can be made attractive and interesting to children, says Miss Whinant. Children very quickly catch the spirit which older family members show in their attitudes and work habits. If jobs are performed happily, children are more apt to learn and enjoy sharing in the responsibilities and work of keeping the home running smoothly.

Hints On Table Manners Are Given By Agent

By RUTH CURRENT State Home Demonstration Agent

FOLLOW ACCEPTED CUSTOMS—if you're eating sherbet, a fruit cocktail or other dish served in a stemmed glass, leave the spoon beside the glass on the service plate whenever you put it down. If you're eating soup from a flat bowl, leave the spoon in the bowl when you've finished eating. But if you're eating soup from a deep consommé bowl or cup, leave the spoon beside the cup on the service plate.

To eat soup, fill your spoon by pushing it away from yourself. Then lift the spoon to your mouth taking the soup from the side of the spoon, not the tip. It's not custom to crumble bread or crackers into soup.

ABOUT YOUR PLACE AT THE TABLE—Your salad plate is always at your left. Your bread and butter plate is to your left too, and in front of your dinner plate.

Empty an individual casserole dish out onto your service plate before eating. ON ORDERING—Whenever you're in doubt about ordering, don't hesitate to ask the waiter for help or advice. As for tips—15 per cent is the usual rate.

John H. Manning, adjutant general of North Carolina, announced today, that the North Carolina Army and Air National Guard would immediately start on a concentrated recruiting drive aimed at bringing into the Guard approximately 3,000 veterans and young men between the ages of 17-18½ years.

The advantage offered to young men who join the National Guard are unlimited, Gen. Manning said. They can earn, learn and train while at home and at the same time reduce their reserve obligation. They can enjoy the privilege and feel the pride of being part of a first class fighting outfit, right in their own home town, earn more rank, higher pay and be promoted, he added.

The new armed forces pay raise of 1955 applies to the National Guard, and provides more money for each night of training plus the two weeks summer training pay.

Another option available to the 17 and 18½ year old enlistee in the National Guard is to serve until age 28 with deferment from indications during period of service if he attends all summer encampments and participates in at least 90 per cent of all regular drills. This allows those persons in this age group to attend school with minimum of interference, or if employed it allows them to fulfill their military obligation by the time they are 28 years of age.

Veterans of the Army and Marine Corps may enlist in the National Guard with the rank from which they were discharged if their discharge date is less than 1 year from the time they enlist in the National Guard. Through service in the National Guard such veterans can reduce their military obligations, qualify for further promotion, and earn retirement credits.

Veterans of the Navy and Air Force may enlist in the National Guard but due to the nature of prior training under the present regulations they may not be enlisted in grade held at time of discharge except under exceptional conditions. However, these veterans become eligible for promotion after 6 months service.

Familiar Sight

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — Retired candy store owner John Graetz, 89, has resided for 66 years in the same hotel at nearby St. Mary's.

Advancing years have forced one change in Graetz' familiar trips through the hotel. He now walks up one flight to his second floor room. In his younger days, he had a longer walk to his third floor room.

The recent establishment of schools for primitive African Pigmy tribes has shown that they learn rapidly, one 23-year-old pupil having learned several languages and become a business office clerk.

Religion By Phone

KEOKUK, Iowa (AP) — The Rev. Dale E. Oliver has instituted a unique telephone inspirational program.

Known as "Inspiration 40" Rev. Oliver provides recorded words of cheer and faith from his study at the Evangelical Free Church. By merely dialing the number, residents are greeted by messages like the following:

"Hello! We're glad you called. Yesterday is but a memory, tomorrow a promise, today an opportunity. Make the most of it. The Evangelical Free Church reminds you that families that worship together are happy families. Read your Bible every day. Thank you."
