

Mountaineers To End Home Season Against Elizabethton Friday Night

Line Observations

By W. CURTIS RUSS

Does a football coach feel after his team has been defeated by pieces in the worst defeat in 10 years?

Bob Brooks, of the Raleigh News and Observer, said George Barclay at Chapel Hill Sunday. "As well as could be expected," said Barclay with some air of a patient still on the mend from a painful operation.

Interview followed by some 12 hours after the Tar Heels were whipped to pieces in the worst defeat in 10 years. "I can easily imagine what was on Barclay's mind — the day before, and the pending game with South Carolina on this Saturday. Barclay must have also had vivid memories of the six games this season, with five of them against only one victory.

Barclay got to talking to Brooks, and said: "I know what the trouble is," he said. "It seems like we run a series of plays without making a mistake. We'll end up in a down situation with three or four yards to go, and the ball goes around. The quarterback will fumble, a halfback will stumble, or somebody will jump offside. Then we'll have to kick."

"I'm playing a lot of sophomores, but I don't think inexperienced players for all of our troubles. After all, we've played six years' worth of football. I've got quite a bit of experience."

"The blocking assignments weren't set for him on some of the plays he called. "What happened when we got down to the Tennessee line on Saturday? They threw us back to the 35 in two plays. The quarterback had a pass we hadn't planned to use and the line was left free to shoot through the line and nail the quarterback."

"I got another tough one coming up Saturday", Barclay said. "I think South Carolina has a good team. They've had a lot of success. The Tar Heels will meet South Carolina in the Oyster Bowl in Norfolk, Va. Barclay is in pretty good physical shape, except for Buddy Payne. "His knee isn't any better, and he might not be ready for the season."

"A sophomore end from Norfolk, didn't dress for the game. The record, here are the season's results of some of the teams discussed in Haywood. The figures on the left is the team that on the right is that of their opponent:

PRO VS. DUFFER

Pro at Cavalier Yacht and Country Club, Virginia Beach.

For the 9-iron chip to the green from 10 to 15 yards out we employ an open stance, feet close together and the right elbow into the body.

Choke the grip slightly, weight primarily on the left side. Our ball position is on the right side, so as we're making the shot, the ball is hit first with a firm descending blow.

It is very important to hit the ball first, and hit it firmly. Throughout the shot, the head is in a steady position over the ball, and remains in that position until the completion of the shot.

We bend slightly from the waist, and our back is fairly straight.

There is very little body motion or pivot with this shot. Our hands and arms bring the club back, on a short compact backswing, hands breaking sooner than on a full 9-iron shot.

The backswing terminates below the hip line, and I always like to carry my follow-through to the same extent and length of my backswing.

Now the duffer, in a lot of cases, tries to make his chip with a full backswing and, as the club is coming into contact with the ball, slows down the club head and stops at impact which results in a missed shot.

This can be eliminated by the short backswing and the crisp contact with the ball and the follow-through.

Remember—we can't wish the ball to the green; we have to hit it and hit it firmly.

Bethel Home; Canton And Clyde Away

Two Haywood County teams will close out their home seasons tomorrow, while two others will be on the road against major opponents.

The Waynesville Mountaineers will entertain the strong Elizabethton (Tenn.) Cyclones Friday night, while Bethel will be at home against the Franklin Panthers. Canton will go east to meet the Marion Rippers, while Clyde will head west to tangle with the Cherokee Braves.

Although Elizabethton's won-lost record of 3-4-1 is not too impressive, Assistant Coach Bill Swift of Waynesville pointed out last week that the Tennesseans play in a league similar to AAA football in North Carolina.

"Betsy, as the team is often called up in the Volunteer State, has beaten Unaka, 27-7; Harris High of Spruce Pine, N.C., 40-0; Bristol, Tenn., 19-14; tied Johnson City, 19-19; and has lost to Bristol, Va., 21-13; Erwin 20-0; Greeneville, 12-0, and Kingsport, 65-12.

Coach Swift, who scouted Elizabethton against Kingsport last Friday, said the Cyclones have a strong running game from the T and also pass well.

Tomorrow night's game here will be the first home appearance for the Mountaineers in nearly a month since losing 12-6 to Hendersonville in a driving rain.

In the three road trips, the Gold and Black tied Enka, 7-7, beat Brevard, 13-6, and then crushed Rutherfordton-Spindale, 57-7. The game here tomorrow night will start at 7:30 p.m.

The Mountaineers will ring down the curtain on another grid year next Saturday night in Asheville Memorial Stadium against the Owen High Warhorses from Black Mountain-Swannanoa.

After battling Clyde to a scoreless tie last Friday afternoon, the Bethel Blue Demons will be after No. 2 at home against the Panthers.

Hit heavily by graduation last June, the Blue and White has lost to Canton, Waynesville, Hendersonville and Reynolds, tied Murphy and Asheville School and won over Christ School, Bethel will go to Sylva next week for their final game of the season.

Idle since their loss to Hendersonville, 38-18, two weeks ago, the Canton Black Bears will encounter Marion, who has looked good in some games this season, not too good in others. The Bruins, however, have dropped only one game and probably will be favored to take the Rippers.

Next Friday Canton will go to Asheville to close out its 1955 season against the Lee Edwards Maroons.

Cherokee, Clyde's opponent Friday afternoon, started slowly, but has gradually improved and last Friday tomahawked the Sylva Golden Hurricanes, 27-7. The game at Cherokee was originally scheduled for Friday night, but was changed to Friday afternoon.

The Cardinals won three in a row against Walnut, Hot Springs, and Old Fort, before tying Bethel last week in a game that produced a lot of thrills but no touchdowns. Clyde now holds a 4-3-1 record, with wins over Bakersville in addition to the three teams named above, losses to Mars Hill, Spruce
