Jumpers Rate High With Coeds

By DOROTHY ROE

ASSOCIATED PRESS WOMEN'S EDITOR FALL FORECASTS SHOW THE POPULAR SKIRTS ARE GOING TO RATE HIGH IN THE BACK-TO-SCHOOL wardrobes from junior high to college.

This fall, however, campus style dictators have revealed the color scheme, preferring the look of a dark blouse with a lighter-toned jumper. This combination is a practical one, for nowadays there are washable woollens and corduroys that may be tossed right in the washing machine.

Even a beginner seamstress can make a smart jumper in jig time. Local sewing center experts point out that the jumper, which can double as a party dress without the blouse, is made from only two major pattern pieces. There is no waistline seam in the one they selected, and a simple elastic casing controls skirt fullness.

Since the fit of a dress such as this depends almost entirely on having the waistline in exactly the right place, young sewing fans will appreciate the convenience of directions printed right on the pattern pieces, indicating the correct spot for waistline adjustments.

The pattern, for a French-cuffed blouse with little-boy collar is packaged with the jumper pattern. Black cotton makes good contrast with a black and white printed corduroy jumper, or you might choose a dark brown blouse with a beige jumper of washable wool.

Since the pattern is so easy, you might make a couple of jumpers at once, cutting out both at the same time, making simultaneous pattern adjustments. Make one in a sturdy fabric for school, another in a pastel — such as pale pink with an American Beauty shirt — for party wear.

Experienced Men

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Maybe it's the bounce in this Rubber City. Whatever it is, many of the sturdy business veterans spurn retirement.

Paul W. Litchfield, at 80 still heads a large rubber company. He delights in squashing retirement rumors each birthday.

Dr. M. D. Alles, former city health director, was past 70 when he stepped aside in favor of a successor. Now he's busy with private practice.

Cyrus S. Eaton, 71, rises at 5:30 a.m. workdays. Only two years ago he won the chairmanship of a major railroad.

At 87, attorney Clyde Berry has "slowed down," but still reports to his office and handles cases. And there's realtor R. K. Crawford, 85, hard to see at times because his secretary reports he "just dashed out again to keep an appointment."

William F. O'Neil, 70, heads another big rubber firm. Attorney Watson E. Slabaugh retired last year at 95.

"You'd be surprised just how valuable a man is with 70 years' experience," he said at that time.

Farmers around the world are growing a quarter more rice than they did at the end of World War II.

Bicycle experts estimate there are 23 million people using bicycles in the United States.

Elaborate Plans Completed For S-D Day, December 1

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Ed Scheidt, who is turning up the preparations for S-D Day, warned motorists that approaching winter would intensify the hazards of travel. He advised them to get their cars and trucks ready for cold weather promptly.

S-D Day is Thursday, December 1, the commission said. It is being sponsored nationwide by the President's Committee for Traffic Safety and has the full endorsement of Governor Hodges.

The purpose of S-D Day, or Safe Driving Day, is two fold, he said. First, to declare a nationwide moratorium on traffic accidents for one 24-hour period, and secondly, to stimulate all motorists and pedestrians to remember their responsibilities for safety 365 days a year.

On cold weather hazards, Scheidt said, "Pleasant fall weather lures many people into a false sense of security. They think it will last forever. Yet, most drivers realize that, every year, the first frost or cold weather finds thousands unprepared.

"It's much easier to have brakes, headlights, wipers, defrosters and other mechanical features of the car checked before the cold weather rush starts. But remember, getting the car ready for winter means more than an oil change and putting in anti-freeze.

"It's just as important to check the safety factors of vision and traction so you will be ready for winter rains, fog, smog, sleet and snow."

As statewide S-D Day coordinator, Scheidt recommended the following winter driving hints — or "rules for longevity":

Don't blame the weatherman for accidents. Be prepared.

Get the "feel" of the road when starting out on slippery streets. Keep the windshield clear of fog, sleet and frost. Be certain wiper blades, defrosters and lights are in good working order.

Keep a safe distance between your car and the one ahead. A good rule of the thumb is one car length for each ten miles per hour of speed. Allow more space when roads are slippery.

The United States has 73 per cent of the world's registered passenger automobiles.
