Trio Arrested At Clyde Sent To Penitentiary

Three South Carolina men, arrested at Clyde last summer by Cpl. Pritchard Smith, were sentenced 6 to 10 years Tuesday in Buncombe county Superior Court by Judge George B. Patton, following their guilty pleas to robbery charges.

Cpl. Smith arrested the three as they went past a speedwatch near Clyde about 11 p.m., on charges of speeding. As Cpl. Smith got to their car and started to arrest them he found three loaded pistols in their possession. He made dual charges, and further investigation showed the trio were wanted for robbery in several places.

By following clues with other officers, Cpl. Smith learned from one of the men that they had broken into a service station in Asheville on August 8th. It was for this offense that the trio was sentenced by Judge Patton Tuesday.

Donald N. Capps, 17, and David E. Foster, 23, both of Seneca, S. C., and John Galbreath, 40, of Walhalla, S. C., were charged with robbery with firearms, highway robbery and grand larceny in the hold-up of the Grace Esso Station Aug. 8.

Capt. Haroll F. Brownlee of the City Police Department testified the three men are wanted for 10 or more robberies in four states.

Galbreath told the court he was on parole from the South Carolina State Prison on a grand larceny charge at the time of his arrest in connection with the Grace robbery.

Pleas of guilty to robbery with firearms by Capps and Foster and to aiding and abetting in robbery with firearms by Galbreath were accepted by the state.

The trio told Cpl. Smith they were on the way to hold up "The Baldwin, Sam Stamey, James Walter Graham, David H. Ashé."

The next board meeting will be held December 21, at 9:30 a.m.

Sewing Hints Are Given By Home Agent

By RUTH CURRENT
State Home Demonstration Agent

BANDS — Use bands for trimming Christmas aprons, cottage curtains and bedspreads. They're an excellent way of introducing contrast either of color, pattern, or texture. There are fancy bands, zig-zag, scalloped and shirred bands for dressy blouses and dresses.

Do all home sewing with extreme care if you want your clothes to have that professional look. It takes time and good tools to do a good job.

RICK-RACK — All widths and colors make effective trimming. Rick-rack can be put on by stitching through the center of the trimming. It is effective on cotton, linen, or rayon materials and can be used on house dresses, blouses, kitchen curtains and aprons.

SHRINKAGE — Because it is almost impossible to foretell garment shrinkage, you'll find it necessary to rely on what's written on the label. The familiar Sanforized label guarantees that there will be no further shrinkage beyond a quarter of an inch to the yard in length and width of fabric. Most cottons and linens, and even mixed fabrics of cotton, silk, and wool, may be Sanforized.

Sanforset is one of the finishing processes used to stabilize rayons so that no more than 2 per cent shrinkage will occur in washing.

PARENT PROBLEMS

Win The Friendship Of Little Children

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

I HAVE very vivid and happy memories of people who seemed old to me, during my childhood. There was Squire McCullah who lived about a mile from my home. He seemed to know so much. But for as long as I can remember, he always made me feel at ease because he talked to me, man to man.

When I began teaching school, I used to stop in to visit him.

Gentle Jibe

One day, when I showed him my school attendance report book, he said, "Garry, you can't have more than a hundred per cent attendance. You say 90% for girls, 70% for boys and 100% for both." But he said it in such a way that I was not humiliated. Then, there was Grandma.

It was a red letter day for me, when she came to our home. I liked to hear her quote from the Bible, hear her laugh and tell of her childhood experiences. She didn't bring me presents or give me more than a penny or a nickel, occasionally. She never treated me as some one to tease or be amused with. I always felt I was a worthy person in her presence and that she expected me to amount to something.

I think my brothers and sisters felt the same way toward her and Squire McCullah.

All of us know some person over fifty or sixty who is a favorite with little children and even teen-agers. With many children growing up around us, we can easily make ourselves likable to them. It's pleasure for all!

Our own children were fortunate in that they were able to spend summers with their maternal grandparents—who later spent their last few years with our family.

They were wonderful people whom our children admired and loved. The grandfather was the kindest, most thoughtful person I have ever known. He made each one of our children feel worthy and seemed to grow up with them. He was the kind of grandfather I would like to become.

An Early Start

Unfortunately, some aging persons, bothered by pains and infirmities, let themselves grow disagreeable—especially with children. But all of us, if we start early enough and try hard enough, can do fairly well at making children like us. It's a goal worth striving for.
