Those who labor in the earth are the chosple of God, if He ever had a chosen whose breasts He has made His pe-deposit for substantial and genuine

CONTRACTOR OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PERSON OF

Iackson Looks At The Pigeon River Road

Our good friend and neighbor just across Balsam, The Sylva Herald, devoted an editorial last week to the Pigeon River road and its effect on Western North Carolina. We are very much interested in the different angles which the Herald pointed out in stressing the need for "more and better highways."

The editorial read as follows:

"Editor Curtis Russ of The Waynesville Mountaineer says that the people of Haywood County are elated over the final approval by the U. S. Purcau of Public Roads for building an interstate highway down the Pigeon River - Editor James Story of the Marshall News-Record expresses disappointment that the approval was not given the French Broad route and questions the rea-sons given by State and Federal engineers for the final decision in favor of Pigeon

"The Herald sees in the selection of the Pigeon River route another entrance into the vast scenic section of Western North Carolina, an all-weather, water-level route that will provide safe travel when higher elevation roads such as Newfound Gap. Soco Gap and sections of the Marshall-Hot Springs roads are dangerous at times due to snow and ice. The Pigeon River route will also provide a military road should it ever be needed. This country has never had to see its men, women and children scrambling frantically over congested highways before an onrushing enemy. We trust the day will never come when we do. To be prepared, however, is to be forewarned.

BUT, we are wondering if this will be another by-pass of Sylva and Jackson County, especially the Cherokee and western section of the county, even Swain and counties west. Tourists will be able to enter the new road in Tennessee and drive straight through to Asheville, by-passing Waynesville and points west. Maybe, however, the "Old Smokies" will continue to have their pull and this section will continue to get its share of the tourist travel over Newfound Gap. But if U. S. 441 from Smokemont to Newfound Gap isn't soon rebuilt, a new route down Pigeon River will be needed, as no one will want to travel the worn-out park highway.

""Fravel over the Pigeon River route from the north to the south and southwest should naturally flow over 23 through Sylva and 441 and 19 south and west. This route would be a continuation of that lower elevation road. With the rebuilding of the Sylva-Balsam section of 23 this route should be even more attractive to the traveling public.

"The Herald feels that we should not be too much concerned about where a new highway is built. More and better highways are badly needed in this section of Western North Carolina to carry the ever increasing traffic load. The fact that they are to be built and improved is the main thing of interest now."

Aide Memoire?

And yet another shattering blow from Paris of one of the most widely cherished ideas of Americans. The French magazine Elle has made a survey of 1,500 typical girls, and it shows that the average mademoiselle of today is straitlaced, teetotaling and willing to share expenses on a date. Only 38 per cent of them said they use perfumes.

Keep this, if you can, from any aging veterans of the AEF of 1918. It might prove to e too much for some of the old boys to learn that Mademoiselle from Armentieres is dead. -The Dallas Morning News.

Two Banks Here Take Steps Forward

The profits which a bank can make are entirely dependent upon the prosperity of the community which it serves. The same applies to business in general.

For that reason, the boards of directors of the First National Bank, and the First State Bank, last week, decided upon a program of generating greater community prosperity" by increasing the interest rates paid for sav-

The two banks are devoting substantial sums from their earnings as payment to individuals who put money in savings accounts, which in turn, will be loaned to people in this community to build homes and expand their businesses, as well as other progressive projects for the good of the community.

The whole program is a cycle of developing a community, with the banks starting it off by paying to get the program going.

Most businesses are dependent, at times, upon loans from banks. Many farmers are dependent upon similar loans. A bank can only make loans up to a regulated percentage of its deposits.

Figures from official governmental sources reveal that there are thousands of dollars in this community that is not now on deposit in any bank. If this money were made available to banks - where it is fully protected under Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation there would be many a project that could be started on the money. This would mean a faster growing community.

And a faster growing community will mean more prosperity for everyone.

It looks like the banks have inaugurated a program designed to stimulate more prosperity, and in the words of the old colored man in discussing business, "that's what we is the most fondest of."

Transylvania Having Fire Troubles

We can well sympathize with the Transylvania Times as it calls for immediate action to put an end to the malicious burning of vacant homes and of forest land in certain areas of the county.

Some years ago, several thousand acres of Haywood's valuable timberland were burned. The guilty persons were apprehended and convicted, but many years must pass before the forest recovers from the harm it suffered.

The Times continues: "This lawless, criminal, destructive action must be stopped, otherwise the current progress and development in Upper Transylvania will be greatly thwarted.

"With the promotion that is being given to Whitewater Falls, plus the establishment of the Cosby Choir Camp and the Sapphire Valley Country Club, people . . . are being encouraged to build summer homes there.

"Unless there can be assurance, as well as insurance, against loss of homes that are vacant. . . this development will be greatly re-

During the past two weeks, two homes burned to the ground, for a total of six in the past few months. In addition, a forest fire burned over a large area.

The Transylvania Sheriff's Department and the State Bureau of Investigation are both on the case, and the Times proposes: "Let's increase the law enforcement personnel and catch the fire bugs."

When you run into a man with real enthusiasm for hard work, he usually is your boss.-Waynesboro (Ga.) True Citizen.

VIEWS OF OTHER EDITORS Using All Of Tobacco

It had to come. Now it is officially admitted by by one of the major tobacco manufacturers that his firm has put into operation a new technique which makes good cigarettes without wasting any of the tobacco they buy.

Every firm, every business is duty-bound to make every possible advance that will reduce waste,

THE MOUNTAINEER Main Street Waynesville, North Carolina Dial GL 6-5301 The County Seat of Haywood County The WAYNESVILLE MOUNTAINEER, Inc. W. Curtis Russ and Marion T. Bridges, Publishers

PUBLISHED EVERY MONDAY AND THURSDAY BY MAIL IN HAYWOOD COUNTY BY MAIL IN NORTH CAROLINA OUTSIDE NORTH CAROLINA LOCAL CARRIER DELIVERY

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRE the Associated Press is entitled exclusively spullification of all the local news print paper, as wall as all AP news dispatches

Monday Afternoon, April 30, 1956

cut costs, and insure a better return to its investors, The Chicago meat packers long ago turned into some cash every part of the meat they process and transportation and everything forced tobacco firms to find a way out. This processed tobacco seems to be it for them. Of course it throws grave new problems into the laps of farmers of Eastern North Carolina and of the entire section, The new processes will cut demand for our great money crop. We shall have to reduce acreage some more.

mitted the new process. Whether others have yet put this technique into operation or not they will do so as quickly as possible. The effect on us down here will be the same whether the tobacco is called reconstituted tobacco, homogenized tobacco or prosed tobacco.

and bulk which previously had been waste

Tobacco Associates says that last year the manufacturers made three per cent more cigarettes on 44,000,000 pounds less of tobacco.

There is no use to rail and rant and to resent

Here at home we who depend on tobacco farm-taken in Wayne late this month -The Goldsboro News-Argus.

except the squeal of the pig. Rising costs of labor and taxes and maintenance

As yet only one hig leaf manufacturer has ad-

Whatever they call it, the research departments have worked out a way to utilize satisfactorily stems this new advance. It had to come, ing for a living must in turn find a new way.

While great and serious problem for us makes all the more important the market survey to be under-

Most readers recognize the fact that newspapers don't make the

THINGS COULD

our recent caller just didn't understand that concept which im-er just as great as that which moved the officers who arrested him, He had just as much chance of out-talking them as he did a reporter. If a newspaper is to be worth its salt as a disseminator of public information, that's the way it has to be, unpleasant as it may be at times to those most

CONSIDER THE FILLER

In the trade, those tidbits which tell you how many tea-leaves came here from China last year, how many peas in an average pod, etc. are called "fillers." Their sole purpose is to fill a small space which isn't

A letter to the city desk this week gives a behind-the-scene story about one of those fillers.

Here's the squib which Mrs.

Laura Crozier, 203 Waverly, La-

some time ago.

ped from t

"The oldest Methodist church

west of the Alleghenies, Rehobeth church, near Union, W.

Va., is in an almost perfect state

Mrs. Crozier says she was a the centennial celebration of that church in 1886. She mailed postcard along with the clippin old view of the log building pic-church was built, the postcard tells, was deeded to the church conference to remain their property as long "as grass grows and vinces us that fillers are as interesting as they are useful. This little example also substantiates the theory that no matter how seemingly small and insignificant, somebody finds interesting reading in everything that's printed. - (From LaGrange, Ga.,

Mrs. Crozier's information con-

tured on the reverse side.

water flows,'

News).

an undated but obviously very

The land upon which the of preservation. It was built if g enough for a news story.

-Morganton News-Herald.

directly involved.

poses a sense of duty on a report-

MEN OVERBOARD!

Views of other Editors

FARM AID BY TO

THOUGHTS ON KEEPING NEWS OUT OF PAPER

Sometimes we wonder what sort of people newspaper reporters are expected to be.

Occasionally somebody revives that question by pretending to believe that the publication of news is subject to whims and per-

The other night, for example, a telephone call brought the request that The News-Herald should not print certain names arising in legal channels which are covered routinely.

"If you do, you'll get into a lot of trouble," the stern voice warned, "I know you can't print my name if I ask you not to. I've talked with some mighty smart people and they told me

Warming up to his subject, the voice continued ominously "Don't plaster my name all over Burke county and you'll save yourself a lot of trouble".

Explanations seemed impospossible, but the reporter managed to raise the question that caller had his own hands full of trouble and probably was not in the best position to cause trouble for anybody else. But the point didn't seem to get across,

"What good will it do you to print my name?" he continued, his voice growing derisive. "It won't put any stars in your crown, It won't get you to Hol-

The crowning blow soon followed. "Why would you want to print my name except that you are just an old Big Mouth.'

Shortly after this his tone changed. Perhaps he mistakenly interpreted as a sign of fear the reporter's trembling voice, accompanied by such physical shaking that it was difficult to hold the telephone receiver, while the news man, who is old enough to know better than to allow such incidents to pique his anger, couldn't think of anything better to say than: "Who's a big mouth? Who made this telephone call in the first place? And who has been doing all the talking?" (Big Mouths don't like to be called Big Mouths, we have observed.) Whatever the reason, there was a quick switch to a palsy-walsy attitude of begging. Somehow there was the feeling that the explanation wasn't getting across when the reporter tried to tell about policies governing what is and isn't printed, or that there isn't anything personal about the names which enter into the news. It didn't seem to sink in that members of The News-Herald staff are "written up" when they make news, or that reporters frequently have to print names they would much prefer to omit.

There is an unpleasant side to newsgathering and reporting, but what would happen to the confi-dence of readers in their news-paper if they thought that the only unpleasant news printed was about people the reporters don't like? Or if the newspaper adopted a Pollyanna policy which shut its eyes to all unpleasantness and reported only the bright and pos-Itive events?

news; they simply report it. But

Looking Back Over The Years 20 YEARS AGO

Senior Class of WTHS has banquet at Welch Memorial building. Lawson Summerrow, class president, is master of cere-

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Herman move their residence from Boundary Street to Thomas Park.

Work begins on City's $4,500 incinerator Commencement exercises of

WTHS set for May 3-7. 10 YEARS AGO

Howard Clapp is new president of Rotary Club. Nathan Carver of Jonathan

Creek is named member of Hay-Ensign James L. Walker of Clyde is graduated from the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, Long Island, N. Y.

Mrs. R. G. Chasan heads Bethel PTA for 1946-47.

5 YEARS AGO

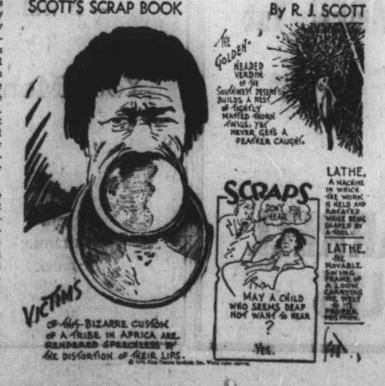

Miss Fannie Pearl Felmet weds John Freeman Hayes.

Miss Clara Estella Dotson is engaged to James Erastus Davis.

Miss Jackie Sue Messer is membe rof the May Court at Agnes Scott.

Miss Anne Albright, former dean of women at WCC, entertains at luncheon honoring Dr. Freida Anne Greider, new dean of the college.

Miss Edna Summerrow, retiring president of Beta Sigma Phi. entertains members of the sorority in her home

Rambling Round

Swish! Off goes another leaf of the calendar, and suddenly May pops into view. We cannot remember when we have taken such deep pleasure in "taking a month off" as we do this year. April has been a cruel disappointment and her exit causes absolutely no grief. And what hurts us is that we gave her such a big blow-off just before she arrived.

Somehow, we have faith in May. She has always been dependable with only occasional lapses into "on'ry" manners. With May we associate graduates. May queens, May poles, and the fragrance of blooming blossoms. May also brings us our advance summer visitors; the warmth of lengthening days and the sweet silence of velvet

Ah, yes, and then 'twill be Spring . . . . MAY-be.

If I could be a some-one-else I just don't know who it would be. You see, I like myself so well
I think I'll stay just plain old me.

Of course there's no reason for us to get all flustered over it but, somehow, this American blood of ours gets almost to the boiling point when we realize the insults that are being hurled at the Western world, and we don't heave a brick or two in return. This matter of turning the other cheek can be slightly overdone, as we Personally, we hope the United States "Welcome" mat is left in the basement as far as the two visiting firemen from Russia are concerned. Their smiling faces remind us quite vividly of the masks worn by the participants in TV's "Masquerade Party". And there is about as much sincerity as is exercised behind other masks,

We would think that their mixed-up reception received on their English tour would be sort of a dampening-down and they would feel quite satisfied to return to their own fireside . . . and remain

Reflections that are not pleasing—the sun shining on a windshield in direct line with our eyes.

ZANY DEFINITIONS:

A bad cold: a pain in the neck,

A bore: ditto. Optimism; setting out pienic tables. Spring: something we had last year.

Calendar: taking a month off, but no vacation, X marks: for ballots and picture post cards on trips. Television: something that interrupts conversation, Radio: a nuisance when turned on somewhere else,

Radio: wonderful when you tune it in, The last word: NO!

New friends are the samples we use in making old friends.

AN ACT OF FAITH

In the midst of all this talk of horror and destruction as a result of a push-button war and the problems posed by segregation North Carlina and the nation has witnessed an act of faith that should bolster our spirits.

For the first time in national history a state-supported art museum has come into being,

Because of legislative appropriation of one million dollars for the purchase of famous art objects, the State's new Museum of Art is now open, The opening attracted art enthusiasts from all over the country. More important, however, is the fact that on this past Sunday many hundreds of people had viewed the contents

The Kress foundation is to give the State another milion dollars worth of paintings.

Why do we term the museum's opening an act of faith? Simply because it makes us believe that people have little to fear so long as they retain an appreciation for beauty upon which they can feast their eyes and feed their immortal souls.-The Chatham News.

Inside WASHINGTON MAKCH OF EVENIS

Eisenhower to Get Bulk Of Foreign Aid Request? Congress May OK Up To $4.5 Billion, Belief

Special to Central Press Association WASHINGTON—Despite the initial howls from Congress at the size of President Eisenhower's $4.9 billion foreign aid request, chances are that he will get a big part of what he is asking.

Most legislators want to cut down on foreign aid spending, especially in an election year when they think the voters might register their appreciation at the polls. However, the fact is that the President's new program leaves little room for trimming without some vital assistance being blocked and few legislators actually want to stop foreign aid altogether. Unless there is some notable improvement in the international situation—and that is highly unlikely—Congress eventually will go along with most of Mr. Eisenhower's request. The outlook now is that an aid program of at least $4 billion will be approved, and it possibly might run up to $4.5 billion. So, don't look for any sharp slash in Ike's proposal.

Clarence Davis

• NEW CABINET OFFICER?-Interior department "insiders" expect Under Secretary Clarence Davis to be the next secretary, succeeding Douglas McKay who is quitting about mid-April to run for the Senate seat now held by Oregon Democrat Wayne Morse. McKay, former governor of Oregon, is known to be highly please with the help he's had from Davis, who he brought to the department when he became secretary in January, 1953. Davis, a Nebras kan, is highly popular in the department and has made no political enemies on Capitol Hill.

NEW RUSS LINE—Speculation in diplomatic circles is flourishing about the possible significance of Russia's debunking of the late

One theory is that it could mean the beginning of a genuine revo-lution among the masses—because the current leaders are striving desperately to use Stalin as a scapegoat for all troubles within the

Another is that the whole episode is being played up beyond its true worth in the hope of fooling the world into believing there is a basic change in the Communist outlook.

The only agreement in all circles is that something definitely is happening within the Soviet which forces the leaders to make a grandstand play—whether that grandstand audience is intended to be the people of Russia or the people of the Western world.

 SKINDIVERS HARK!—The Maritime administration has no desire to discourage skindivers, but it would like them to know there is no sunken treasure to be had for the taking. Every spring the agency is deluged with letters asking for information on ships that have been sunk and can be salvaged.

Maritime's answer is that private ships and cargoes belong to the owners, even if they rest in Davy Jones' locker, and that government vessels lost in wars are pretty hopeless. Of some 1,200 U. S. ships sunk during World War II, locations are known for about 1,000—but only 175 have ever been considered

Maritime says there just are no known shipwrecks where gold or other fabulous wealth awaits the adventuresome diver. Even safes of the government ships would have no more than $150 in