Miss Virginia Cline Is Bride Of Edward Thornhill, III

Miss Virginia Cline, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Albert Purcell Cline of Canton, became the bride of Edward Thornhill, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thornhill, II, of Brooklyn, N. Y., Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Central Methodist Church of Canton.

The Rev. Cecil G. Hefner, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with white stock, lilies, snapdragons, and ferns interspersed with white cathedral tapers. Tall floor baskets held white gladioli, lilies, and snapdragons, and the pews were marked with white tapers entwined with English stock. The windows were banked with ferns and centered with candelabra holding cathedral candles.

A program of traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. Roy Pless, organist, and David Kirkpatrick, vocalist, both of Canton.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of candlelight satin. The round neckline and the cuffs of the long tapered sleeves were appliqued with pearls and beads from her maternal grandmother's wedding gown. A long torso effect was created by a narrow band of satin woven into unpressed pleats, and the bouffant skirt flowed into a cathedral train.

Her full length, two tiered veil of illusion and coronet were appliqued with Chantilly lace, beads, and pearls. She wore a necklace that belonged to her paternal great, great grandmother, and carried a cascade bouquet of miniature calla lilies showered with stephanotis.

Mrs. Albert Purcell Cline, Jr. of Canton was matron of honor. Miss Jenobel Zipperer, cousin of the bride, of Madison, Fla., was maid of honor. They wore floor length gowns of seafoam green crystalet, fashioned with long torsos and full skirts. The boat necklines were edged with hand-made lace, and they wore tiny hats of matching crystalet. Their gloves were white, and their flowers were cascade bouquets of liddle carnations and celosia in shades of pink and dubonnet.

Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Lou Geringer and Miss Nancy Bischoff of Hazelwood, classmates of the bride at Duke University. Mrs. James Lewis of Richmond, Va. and Canton, and Mrs. John McCarthy of Miami, Fla., cousin of the bride. Miss Sara Lynn Cline of Greenville, S. C., cousin of the bride, and Miss Lynn Ann Hampton of Canton were junior bridesmaids.

They wore gowns and hats identical in design and color to those of the honor attendants. The bridesmaids carried cascade bouquets of carnations and roses in shades of pink. The junior attendants carried small bouquets similar to those carried by the bridesmaids.

Mr. Thornhill served as his son's best man. Ushers were: Chester Philip Thornhill of Brooklyn, brother of the bridegroom, Dr. Albert Purcell Cline, Jr. of Canton, Peter Gellich of Durham, Charles Duckett of Canton, Hamilton Shippee of Rumson, N. J., and Terence George of London, England and Durham.

Junior ushers were: John Willis Bottoms and Thomas Michael James, both of Canton. Master Nick Purcell Cline, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. He carried the rings on a black silk top hat.

Mrs. Cline, mother of the bride, wore a champagne floor length
