Five Accidents Do Minor Damage

No one was injured and damages were minor in five automobile accidents over the weekend, according to investigating officers Harold Dayton and W. R. Wooten,

Claude William Smith of Hall Top road, Waynesville, driving a 1953 Ford toward Waynesville, skidded to the left and struck a 1956 Ford pick-up truck operated by Jaynes Rilley Medford of Route 2, Waynesville. Both cars landed partly on the shoulder of the road, with damages estimated at $100 to the truck and $150 to the car. Smith was charged with operating on the wrong side of the road.

Sunday afternoon at 12:35 a car slowing down for traffic ahead was hit in the rear by the car following, with damage estimated at $50 to the leading car and $35 to the following. The accident occurred on US 19 just west of the Dellwood intersection. Both cars were traveling toward Lake Junaluska. A 1956 Chevrolet, driven by Charles L. Cartt of Louisville, Ky., received the rear bumper damage from a 1949 Studebaker operated by William Thomas Bird, a teacher at Tryon High School, No charges were filed. Patrolman Dayton said.

Hugh Carroll Best, Jr., of Route 1. Clyde, was charged by Patrolman Wooten with operating on the wrong side of the highway as he ran another car off the Iron Duff road at 7:15 Saturday morning. Driving a 1951 Studebaker, he told the State Highway Patrolman that as he looked down at his watch he got onto the wrong side of the (See 5 Accidents-Page 2)
