$3.50 In Advance In Haywood and Jackson Counties

$250,000 Lodge Being Constructed At Lake Haywood Burley Among Best In Tobacco Belt

ty committee; Floyd Fisher of Fines Creek, chairman, and T. C. Davis of Iron Duff, vice chairman; (standing) Walter Greene, office manager trainee, and office personnel Betty Wyatt, Bobbie Hall, Bobbie Stevenson, and Edith Rogers. (Mountaineer Photo).

Specialist Terms Crop Excellent

"I have seen some of the best burley in the entire belt right here in Haywood," government grader Flack said after finishing the stripping and sorting demonstrations in Haywood.

About 150 farmers attended the several demonstrations in various parts of the county.

The farmers were told to be sure that the tobacco was well cured before they started to strip. He cautioned about stripping where there were "fat stems". He said stripping should be done when the burley is ready to be sorted and packed.

The specialists pointed out the importance of working tobacco in a well-lighted, and heated place.

The farmers were told they should follow the market reports, as sheets are available on the market daily. The sheets give the information of the government support for each grade of tobacco, and also the previous day's average as paid by the companies for that grade.

"Farmers should check the previous day's average, and if it does not come up to average, then turn the ticket."

"Our farmers are not using the market sheets as they should," Virgil Holloway, county agent, said.

A WORKMAN tears down Mountain View Lodge, Lake Junaluska, to make way for a $250,000 structure which will have 128 beds. The new structure is just back of Shackford Hall, overlooking the back part of Lake Junaluska, and the Smokies in the distance. (Mountaineer Photo).

New Unit To Have 128 Bed Space For '57

Construction began this week on a $250,000 lodge at Lake Junaluska, on the site of the 33-year-old Mountain View Lodge near Shackford Hall.

The 128-bed lodge will be completed in time for the 1957 season, according to J. W. Fowler, Jr., superintendent of the Assembly.

This is the first unit of a half-million dollar expansion program, which will include besides the Lodge, a new cafeteria and a new West Gate entrance, Supt. Fowler said. The cafeteria and west gate project are scheduled for next year.

The materials being taken from the old lodge will be used in the construction of three cottages, Supt. Fowler said. Tentative plans are to use the cottages for staff members, or perhaps sell them at a later date.

Tentative plans are to re-locate the cafeteria. The new cafeteria will also have living quarters for members of the cafeteria staff.

Supt. Fowler said the new lodge is in keeping with the general program of providing more and more modern facilities for the increasing number of delegates to the many conferences which are being held at the Lake each summer.

J. A. Jones Construction Company, Charlotte, is in charge of the building.

3 Civic Clubs Endorse Agriculture Center Plan

Two more civic groups have unanimously endorsed the proposed Agriculture Center, which will be voted upon in Haywood November 6th.

The Rotary Club endorsed the plan after hearing a discussion on the subject by Miss Mary Cornwell, home demonstration agent, and Ned J. Tucker, general county chairman for approval of the plan.

The Kiwanis Club took similar action, after a thorough discussion of the matter, with A. D. Harrison, president, in charge.

The Lions Club took similar action last week.

Miss Cornwell pointed out to the Rotarians the advantages of the proposed Curb Market which is planned in connection with the Home Arts Building, which is part of the program.

"A curb market would benefit all the county," Miss Cornwell said, in pointing out that produce, crafts, and items grown on the farms could be converted into cash, whereas, the same things that cannot now be sold, because of lack of market would increase the farm income," Miss Cornwell pointed out.

Tucker explained the mechanics of the law, and the maximum three cent tax on the $100 valuation. "The tax will not stay on forever," he said, "but only until the center is constructed, and then a smaller tax for maintenance."

A lively question and answer period followed, in which Charles Ray explained the changes which have been brought about in marketing in recent years, and the definite need for a curb market and place to display Haywood cattle for both shows and sales.

Tucker said the campaign was being taken into every civic club, and CDP group in the county, in an effort to get out a large vote favoring the approval of the Agriculture Center. The voting will be by a special ballot on November 6.

Vandalism Will Not Be Tolerated On Halloween

Chief of Police Orville Noland warned that the department would not tolerate any vandalism on Halloween night.

"The entire department will be on duty, with instructions to arrest any and all persons found destroying property.

"We want the young people to have fun, but not to damage or destroy property," the police officer continued.

Eight Injured In Series Of Same Number Of Wrecks

Two Winners In Football Contest

The $15 prize in the football contest of The Mountaineer will be split this week between two winners — Mrs. Elizabeth R. Lecky, and Mrs. Mary P. Cole, both of Waynesville.

Oddly enough, both winners missed the North Carolina-Wake Forest game, and they picked Michigan State over Illinois. Fifteen other contestants missed two predictions, but were "too high" in the combined score on the Waynesville - R. C. Central game.

Eight injuries and over $3,000 in damages resulted from eight accidents reported in or near Haywood, officers' reports showed today.

Six persons were injured in one accident about 9:30 Saturday night in a head-on collision at Canton near the intersection of old US 19-23 and the new four-lane highway, just west of Canton.

Investigating officers said the following were hurt:

Charles Glen Cabe, 26, of Sylva, driver of one of the cars, who sustained a broken leg and occupants Delmer Reed, 23, Lavada Yates, 19, and Gerald E. Pannell, 33, all of Sylva, Pannell suffered a fractured skull, the others lesser injuries.

Margie Ellen Estes, 25, of White. (See 8 Hurt—Page 6)

Colored Man In Jail, Charged With Taking $55

Charlie Reed, 23, colored, is in jail, charged with taking a pocketbook containing $55 off of James Sutton, 55-year-old white man, about 12:45 Sunday afternoon, Chief of Police Orville Noland said today.

Reed is slated to be given a hearing this afternoon before Mayor J. H. Way.

The police arrested Reed about 3 p.m. and found the pocketbook and part of the money. Sutton told police that the two were walking down Ninevah Road when Reed grabbed him and took away his pocketbook.

Chief Noland said Reed had served time for breaking and entering a home and taking some money.

4,050 Bream Distributed To Seven Farmers

A total of 4,050 bream were distributed here last week by the Fish and Wildlife Service, U. S. Department of Interior, to seven Haywood County farmers for use in the stocking of their farm ponds.

Recipients of the fish included: C. N. Leigh of Maggie, 900; Roy S. Haynes of Clyde, 500; Henry Hyde of Dix Creek, 250; David Noland of Fines Creek, 1,000; L. W. Singleton of East Fork, 400; Joe Carver of Hemphill, 750; and Robert R. Hipps of Thickety, 250.

The fish were ordered and their distribution supervised here by Carlyle Davis of the Haywood County office of the Soil Conservation Service.

Police Raise $125 To Send 12-Year-Old Boy To Clinic

A 12-year-old boy, suffering from bronchial trouble, and complications, can thank the Waynesville police for seeing that he got to the special clinic at the Baptist Memorial Hospital, Winston-Salem, today.

Troy Inman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Inman, needed to get to doctors in Winston-Salem, but was hampered by finances.

When Chief Orville Noland heard of the plight of the young man, he and his men started out, asking for small donations, for the cause. The response was gratifying, and early this morning Mrs. Inman and Troy left to keep an 11 o'clock appointment at the clinic.

The police raised $125 for the mother and son, who were deeply grateful for the generosity of the people the police had contacted in their behalf. Mrs. Inman is expected to remain with her son until the doctors complete their examinations.

Annual CDP Judging For 7 Communities Is All Set

$1,000 More Added Here To UF Drive

About $1,000 has been added to the United Fund over the weekend according to a report this morning from Mrs. Raymond Caldwell, office manager.

This amount brings the total to date to around $17,000 which is over half of the goal of $31,397.

It is expected that a number of volunteer workers will turn in their reports the first of the week to complete the drive by the 31st.

Reports are still due from Lake Junaluska, a number of rural communities, and a few business sections.

7 Haywood 4-H Folk Get Awards

Seven Haywood 4-H Club members received certificates of achievement at Recognition Day exercises Sunday in the George Vanderbilt Hotel in Asheville.

Nearly 200 4-H members, farm and home agents, and adult guests attended the exercises which honored outstanding 4-H members in the Western North Carolina district.

Haywood winners were Bernard Ferguson, Neal Kelly, Jerry Ferguson, R. E. Cathey, Verland Edwards, Dale Wheeler, and Ashby Cathey.

Beauty contestants will parade again at the annual CDP program here Thursday, November 8, it was announced this morning.

Besides the possible 14 beauty contests, the prize winning community will be announced, and officers for the coming year elected—besides music, entertainment, an address, plus the distribution of $1,000 to seven CDP groups.

The county committee on arrangements were meeting until noon today on the program, which will climax the CDP year.

Seven communities met the Saturday deadline for getting in scrapbooks, and other information. There were 14 communities expected to participate.

(See Community CDP—Page 6)

Sunday Highway Travel Heavier

Highway patrolmen reported highway traffic Sunday was extremely heavy — especially over US 19 into the Smokies.

While the color had passed its peak, the patrolmen felt the ideal weather brought out many motorists who went to see what remained of the color from what has been termed "the most colorful in years".

Draft Board Classifies 71 County Men

Seventy-one Haywood County men have been assigned new draft classifications by Selective Service Board 45. They are:

Engineer Will Discuss Sewer Project Tuesday

A representative of one of the largest engineering firms of the state is due here Tuesday to discuss with officials of the Waynesville, Hazelwood and Lake Junaluska, the proposed survey and study of the 5-mile trunk sewer line.

The boards of the three communities decided last week to employ an engineering firm to make a survey in order to ascertain what could be done to prevent periodic overflow.

G. C. Ferguson, town manager of Waynesville, said the head of the firm was to come here and confer with the officials, and look over the situation.

Sylva Highway Link Due For Letting 30th

The State Highway Commission is to open ten bids for road projects in their office in Raleigh Tuesday. Among the ten projects will be the 3.8-mile link between Willets and Balsam gap.

The contract will be for grading, paving and structures from 1.2 miles northeast of Willets to a point just this side of Balsam Gap. This is part of the new highway between Balsam and Sylva. A previous contract was let for the section from Willets to Sylva.

Messer Joins Police Force In Waynesville

Vernon Messer, former deputy sheriff, has joined the police department here. He succeeds Ray Whitner, a member of the force for many years.

Whitner has joined the security force at Dayton Rubber Company.

Dedication Of St. John's $145,000 School Tuesday

Formal dedication of the new $145,000 modern St. John's School has been set for 5 p.m., Tuesday, October 30.

Bishop Vincent S. Waters, Raleigh, will preside at the Pontifical low mass at the church. The group will move across the street to the new school for the formal dedicatory services there.

Monsignor George Flanigan, pastor of St. Peter-Paul church, of Chattanooga, will be the principal speaker. He is the Dean of Eastern Tennessee.

Arrangements for the dedication are being made by Father Lawrence Newman, pastor of the St. John's Church here. He is also superintendent of the school, which has an enrollment of 165, and a faculty of eight members.

The students moved into the modern, fireproof building several weeks ago.

Bishop Waters on an inspection of the building just prior to the students moving in, said it was a fine structure; built at a good price, and modern in every detail.

The structure is two stories high, with four main entrances. Modern sound-proofing, tile floors and walls, and scientific lighting in every room are among the features of the building.

A number of clergy of Western North Carolina and East Tennessee are expected to come here for the dedication service.

The St. John's high school chorus will sing at the dinner which will follow the dedication. During the dedication, they will sing: "Bless Our School," by Brake.

The school began in 1939, and has steadily grown. A special bus brings in over 60 students from a wide area, as far away as Canton. The new building is designed to accommodate 300 students. It is at the corner of Meadow and Church Streets.
