

Railroad Towns Promised Better Roads

Capus Waynick, chairman; Will Woodard, member State Highway and Public Works Commission visited Magnolia and Rose Hill; Waynick says Warsaw-Wallace road is of much more importance than Tin City-Chinquapin road; Dr. Carr's efforts to get the road from Rose Hill to Charity paved has been hindrance to proposed route, Woodard inferred; "I promise that we will give you an improved road outlet by the end of this year" Woodard declared.

Last Friday was a happy day for many citizens of the Rose Hill, Magnolia and Teachey communities. As promised them, Capus Waynick, Chairman of the State Highway and Public Works Commission and Will Woodard of that commission, journeyed down to these towns and inspected their claims for a hard surfaced road.

At ten o'clock in the morning a delegation of forty people from the towns, joined Senator Rivers, D. Johnson in Warsaw and met the highway men there. From Warsaw the party journeyed over the route down the railroad towards Magnolia. At Carroll's Crossing they stopped for a Watermelon feast as guest of Bill Carlton.

On reaching Rose Hill the party which had been increased to about 300, assembled in the school building for a hearing. Harvey Boney welcomed the guests on behalf of the community. The audience sang "America" with Mrs. Goldie Alderman, Presbyterian Church Organist at the piano, followed by prayer by the Rev. Daniel Lane, formerly of Rose Hill, now of Clinton. Senator Johnson was introduced and presided over the meeting.

Chairman Waynick said "I am convinced that we ought to build a road as we can the road from Warsaw through these towns of Magnolia, Rose Hill and Teachey. The hard-surfacing of this road is of far more importance than the Tin City-Chinquapin road. Unlike the hard surfaced highway which to a considerable degree has woods and swamp on either side, rich fields of strawberries, corn and tobacco were on both sides of the dirt road. Between Magnolia and Rose Hill the caravan of cars passed large fields glowing brilliant red and various colors canals. This section of Duplin County is the leading and foremost bulb raising district in the United States."

Dr. Carr rose to declare that he had stated his choice of hard-surfacing, but that he had said he favored any road in Duplin County which the Commission might give. Chairman Waynick replied to that statement that "if Dr. Carr will concentrate as much on getting the road hard-surfaced from Warsaw to Rose Hill as he has on the one from Rose Hill out to number 40 at Charity he will help a great deal." Dr. Carr then presented a resolution suggesting that the Highway Commission be given discretion as to the order in which roads should be built in Duplin County. Town Attorney O. B. Turner of Rose Hill rose and said "in view of the declared attitude of the commissioners present he opposed the resolution." The crowd strongly upheld by its applause the Turner viewpoint and Dr. Carr withdrew the resolution.

Mr. Woodard did most of the talking for the highway commission and stated that it was usually the policy of the Highway Commission to follow the recommendations of the county commissioners and that the commissioners from this county had recommended the Tin City-Chinquapin road first, 111 from the Wayne County line to Korneagy's Store second, and the Warsaw-Wallace road third.

He said that for two years he had asked the people of Duplin County to list the projects desired by the people of the county in the order they desired them. The particular project of hard-surfacing the Warsaw-Wallace road would cost $300,000 and could not be done this year.

"But I promise that we will give you an improved outlet by the end of this year" he declared, and "that it will be better still at the end of two years."

County Commissioner Lawton Miller was present through the entire meeting and was introduced. Commissioner Fred Baars was absent but sent a letter.

After the hearing at the school house the crowd went to the Strawberry Inn hotel where a barbecue and chicken dinner was served by the Woman's Clubs of Magnolia, Rose Hill, and Teachey. Chairman of the county board of commissioners Dr. Robinson of Wallace made his appearance during the eating hour.

NEWS AND VIEWS WITH THE EDITOR

The editor wishes to express his regrets to the citizens of Rose Hill, Magnolia and Teachey, that he was unavoidably detained from being present at the road hearing last Friday, but continues to offer his cooperation in every way possible, not only in the road fight but in any other worthy cause the communities may undertake.

You citizens have put up a good fight and have won so far. Your actions should be an example to every other community in Duplin County that the way to get things done is not to squabble among themselves but to lock horns and go after what you want.

Just to what extent politics have played a leading role in this long fight no one knows but there is prima facie evidence that politics has had a heavy hand in it.

Chairman Waynick stated in no unmistakable terms that this road is far more important than the Tin City-Chinquapin road. In all fairness to the citizens of Chinquapin, the writer agrees with Mr. Waynick. Any open minded person, when thinking in terms of the county as a whole and not in terms of any one community or any political clique, will readily see that it means much more to the county to give these truck markets an outlet than it is to open up one community to any particular town. Getting truck to the local market and getting it from the local market to the ultimate market are distinctly two different problems. Without the northern market the local market would be very little good, therefore the logical thing to do would be to open the line to the northern market then make way for easier transportation to the local market.

Magnolia, Rose Hill and Teachey, your cause is just and you have proved it.

The Board of Health of this County made a forward step towards promotion of health conditions in Duplin County yesterday when they made the requirement that every public eating place in Duplin County shall display a health certificate by September 15th showing that all employees are free from contagious diseases especially venereal diseases. The spread of these diseases is alarming and it is necessary that a check be put on it immediately. The TIMES believes that such a ruling should be made State-wide.

Under the impetus of the Federal Housing Act Duplin County has spent well over $100,000 in improving and repairing homes and erecting new homes during 1935, according to a report from the Duplin County unit. Chairman James E. Jerritt, through his untiring efforts, has kept canvassers in the field which have made 2500 contacts. It is (Continued on back page).

Federal Housing Act Survey Report Shows $100,000 Spent For Building And Repairing

Board Of Health Places New Requirements On Eating Places

Every public eating place in Duplin County must display a health certificate showing that all employers and employees are free from any and all kinds of contagious diseases, particularly venereal diseases, it was decided by the County Board of Health in session here yesterday.

The Board discussed the prevalence of venereal diseases in North Carolina and it was their opinion that such a measure would not be too strenuous.

Every public eating place, which includes all school cafeterias, must display a health certificate by September 15th, or their place of business will be closed. The County Health Department will furnish an examination blank and each examination must be approved by the department.

In addition to the employees in school cafeterias the regulation was applied to all school janitors.

Duplin County Better Housing Campaign canvassers completed their work August 7. Approximately 2500 contacts were made by these canvassers. Repairs and new buildings in Duplin County well exceeds $100,000.00, this speaks well for our county and as figures indicate our people are making progress and are on the road to prosperity again.

There has been some changes in Federal Housing Act as amended June 15th. The character loans have been discontinued and anyone now desiring to get a loan under Title 1 and 11 will have to contact the Bank designated by the F. H. A. in their territory personally. The same interest rates will apply as under the character loans, but it will be necessary perhaps in some instances to place collateral with the bank for protection for a certain amount of the loan, however, the loans are insured as heretofore that is Federal Government guarantees the bank or other financial institution making the loans 20 per cent of the aggregate under the Federal Housing Act. Also the amount of loans that can be made has been increased in some instances up to $50,000.00. Reports from other sections of the country indicate that the Better Housing Campaign has been most successful and has stimulated business in all sections and a great many men have been able to get employment through this program.

We are glad that we have been privileged to have a part in this work which has done so much to help the Nation get back in the old work a day spirit. Our President is well pleased and has expressed his appreciation to citizens throughout the land for their cooperation and help as this is one of his favored projects. Your committee wishes to express their thanks and appreciation to the Duplin Times, for the wonderful way that it has cooperated and for the generous use of their columns during the campaign and also to the committeemen for their splendid help in the several districts of the county.

All those desiring loans and unable to make satisfactory arrangements with their home Bank are requested to contact the Duplin County Better Housing Committee who will in turn handle with the State Office and every effort will be made to procure the desired loan. Miss Dixon will be in Mr. McLendon's Office and will be glad to render any assistance in this connection.

Chairman.

Whiteville Market Prices Attracting Many Growers

Whiteville, N. C., August 13th. Opening strong, last Thursday with practically every foot of its seven and a half acres of floor space covered the Whiteville tobacco market has continued strong. Prices have remained firm and stabilized, and except for a general strengthening of prices last Thursday afternoon and another noticeable advance in prices on Monday each day has been a continuation of the other. All sales days marked by high prices. The tobaccoists of Whiteville make without hesitation that there has never been a period since Whiteville was first a tobacco market when growers have been as highly pleased with their monetary receipts. Tobacco may have sold higher during the world war but the grower was no better satisfied with prices.

Tobacco growers from twenty or more counties of North and South Carolina have been attracted to the Whiteville market by the splendid prices that are being paid during the first four marketing days of the season. A million pounds was sold last week and it is thought that today's sales will bring the market's poundage to the 2,000,000 mark. As for the average price that has been paid during these 4 days it is impossible to state just what it is. Official figures for Monday's sale have not been released, however, with the price on all types of the leaf advancing on this day it will probably be the highest of any day of the season. Whiteville's warehouses have reported individual averages ranging all the way from $21.50 per hundred pounds up to $24.50. One warehouse with a fairly representative amount of the better tobacco on its floors reported an official average of $26.04 per hundred pounds for its entire day's sale. Monday's block will be sold off today and while sales will be reasonably heavy during the balance of the week the heavy market period is not expected to begin until next Monday. The tobaccoists of Whiteville feel that their prediction of 20,000,000 pounds or more for this season is a certainty now.

McLendon Issues Last Call Cotton Tax Exemption Cards

The last call for 1934 Cotton Tax-Exemption Certificates to be sent to Washington to be re-issued for use this fall or summer.

If any Cotton Producers have any of these cards left over from last year they should be sent in to the office says Mr. McLendon, so they can be sent to Washington at once as the time is very limited for re-issuing these cards.

The County Agent's office has sent to Washington about six hundred of these cards aggregating approximately sixty thousand lbs. and if any cotton farmer is under the impression that he can use these cards without them being re-issued he will find that the reins will not accept them since the forms will be somewhat different says Mr. McLendon.

Magnolia People Attend Road Meeting

Approximately fifty Magnolia people attended the Road meeting at Rose Hill Friday and were much pleased with the fine spirit expressed by Messrs Waynick and Woodard of the State Highway Commission and feel assured that they will have the road from Warsaw to Wallace hard surfaced as early as possible, but may not be in this year's program. We are also grateful to Mr. R. D. Johnson of Warsaw who so appealingly spoke in behalf of the road.

Magnolia delegations who met Messrs Waynick and Woodard at Warsaw and joined the Rose Hill and Teachey's delegation to accompany them to Rose Hill Friday a. m. were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Pope, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. West, Miss Macy Cox, Mrs. D. M. Wilkins, Mrs. Clarence Boone, J. P. Tucker, J. R. Croom and Robert Wilkins. At Carletons Crossing, Mr. Bill Carlton invited the entire delegation to stop, and served delicious watermelons, under the shed opposite his filling station. This courtesy was much appreciated and the melons enjoyed.

To much can't be said of the hostess town of Rose Hill in entertaining the large delegation. No more hospitality could have been shown. The entire planning was perfectly carried out. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fussell opened the doors of the hotel to us and every one felt welcome there. The men of the town showed every courtesy and the women who served the delicious dinner did it in such gracious manner it made every guest feel in a happy mood. The streets looked so clean and the town in every way so well prepared for the meeting, the guest towns of Magnolia and Teachey will ever remember the day with great pleasure. Thanks, many thanks to the people of Rose Hill.

Henry Southerland Familiar Kenansville Figure Passes Away

Henry Southerland, about 59 yrs. of age died at the home of Mr. R. L. Sykes in Kenansville, August 12 at about 7:30. He had just been down town for some oil and fell dead on the back porch. He had suffered a stroke within the past two years and friends think that this was the second stroke which proved fatal.

Mr. Southerland has been making his home with Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Sykes, and was a familiar personage on the streets of the town. He is the last of his fathers family, living and was buried in the Southerland Cemetery in Kenansville Tuesday morning at 10:00. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. F. L. Goodman of the local Presbyterian church.

Mr. Southerland was the son of John David Southerland and Priscilla Cooper Southerland, and was born and spent the greatest part of his life in and around Kenansville. He was always ready to trade knives and was a good judge of knives and loved that trade. It was a common scene to see Henry with a crowd gathered around him trading knives.

Henry claimed to be among the oldest residents of the town. He would always tell that he was born the year the negroes were freed.
