Farmers To Meet In Raleigh Today To Discuss Weed Prices Holiday May Be Called Soon

(From the News & Observer) Raleigh, Sept. 19.—A committee of undetermined size, representing tobacco growers in many sections of Eastern North Carolina, has been called to meet in Raleigh today to consider what steps should be taken to improve tobacco prices. With sub-parity prices continuing over the belt yesterday, the general dissatisfaction became more and more apparent. Although today's meeting is intended to be a committee meeting only, at which time the proposal of a great mass meeting would be considered, there was a widespread impression that it was a mass meeting in itself. Last night reports were received that large delegations would be present from some sections. The committee meeting had been called for 2:00 o'clock.

Plans Proposed
The committee—or the larger group if that is what it turns out to be—will have before it the following suggestions, among others, made at local meetings held in many market towns:

1. The declaration of a "tobacco holiday," with markets closed while a 1935 sign-up campaign is conducted and other steps taken in an effort to bolster faltering prices.
2. The calling of a belt-wide mass meeting, with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace invited to be present to hear the growers' appeal.
3. A belt-wide effort—or a government order if legal means can be found—to hold a certain percentage of the 1935 crop off the market.
4. A formal request to Secretary Wallace that he make an unequivocal announcement that the 1935 crop will be reduced by a certain percentage. (Yesterday J. B. Hutson, chief of the tobacco division of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, issued a statement saying that the next crop might be cut by as much as 35 per cent but some of the growers believe a more definite, concrete statement would be more effective on present prices.)

Local Meetings Held
Yesterday mass price protest meetings were held at Henderson and Sanford, similar to the meeting at Oxford the day before. In addition, the Governor received a petition, asking that something be done, signed by several hundred growers of Beaufort County. The report from Durham was to the effect that growers were becoming more dissatisfied as prices remained low.

The effect, if any, of Hutson's statement on today's prices is expected to affect the committee's decision today. There is a feeling on the part of many men that the only thing which can materially affect this year's prices is the combination of a policy announcement from Washington and rapid progress by farmers in signing the new contracts. This one will indicate how the 1935 supply will be reduced if the AAA is given the power, the other will give it that power.

7 Springs Preacher Tells of Experiences

Seven Springs, N. C. Sept. 16, 1935.
Editor, Duplin Times:
"Here I'll raise my Ebenezer." Our hearts beat high when we sing these words from that good old hymn, "Come, Thou Fount of Every Blessing." Most of us have known churches of this name—Ebenezer.
"Then Samuel took a stone and set it between Mizpeh and Shen, and called the name of the place Ebenezer, saying 'hitherto hath the Lord helped us.' I Samuel 7, verse 12.

While I was in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., I was invited to preach at Ebenezer Church-Colored Baptist. Of the 40,000 population about 1,600 in Poughkeepsie are colored. They have two fine churches, Baptist and Methodist. They named the Baptist church Ebenezer. Many of us with much more reason to acknowledge God's help than our colored friends too often ignore Him.
We ought not to use such privileges over much. I may well use a few here, however. Of all the people that ever listened to me preach none ever listened quite so well as the congregation at Ebenezer church listened on September 1st, 1935. A minister does not know when he preaches best and when he preaches worst; but I am of the opinion that I was at my best on the day and at the place mentioned above.

The minister was from Florida, many of the congregation were from Virginia. The color of their skins, their courtly manners indicated that some of them may be related to the F. F. V's.
Our colored friends have done reasonably well in New York. They have not found the Promised Land, however, that many expected. Some expected the Promised Land of Golden Business Opportunity. Others expected to find the Promised Land of Social Equality. There is no Jim Crow in New York; the white and colored children go to the same schools, but there is little social commingling of the races.

I hope there is a Promised Land of Business Opportunity for the colored man, but it is not in the North.
I spoke to them about the great preacher of their race, John Jasper, I mentioned the Chemist, Dr. George Carver, the poet Paul Lawrence Dunbar. I expressed the hope that some business genius might arise among them and lead them onward and upward in the economic world.

Truly yours,
JOHN T. FITZGERALD.

Farmers are warned that all tobacco, including scrap, that is sold from land covered by a contract, must be entered on the allotment card and warrants written for same. It would be advisable for all farmers selling scrap tobacco to any person other than warehousemen to demand that the license issued by the Secretary of State be shown before the tobacco is sold. It will be a violation of the contract to sell any tobacco and not have the pounds entered on the allotment card, and unless a farmer has surplus poundage on his allotment card, it will not pay to sell tobacco for less than 5c per pound.

Merchants Notice

WHITEVILLE HAS SOLD 15 MILLION POUNDS SEASON NEARS END

Whiteville the Border Belt's "Money Market" continued its unbroken march of progress last week. Even though the weatherman loosed a veritable flood, making it impossible for anyone except nearby growers to reach the market, 2,601,676 pounds of the leaf was brought to this city. This poundage added to previous sales brought the market's total for the season to 15,338,430 pounds, or more than 3,000,000 pounds more tobacco than was sold during the 1934 season and judging from the amount of the weed that is on the market today, as this report is forwarded, at least 2,500,000 pounds more tobacco will be sold this week giving Whiteville a grand total of 18,000,000 pounds by September 20th. While Whiteville's business men and tobaccoists set 20,000,000 pounds as a goal for this season very few of these men thought it would be possible for the market to make such an unheard of increase, however, it looks now as if this figure will be reached before the market closes. Should 20,000,000 pounds be sold here this year the Whiteville market will make the greatest gain in its history and it will have made a record that will probably remain unbroken.

Not only has the Whiteville market set a record for poundage this season. It has set a record for high prices. . . high prices that have never varied since the market's opening and the fact that the average price for the market's sales through Friday of last week was only $1.90 per hundred less than the average price for the tobacco sold during the same period last year substantiates this statement. It is hard to place faith in the reports of low prices and dissatisfaction in Whiteville, however, it is not so hard to understand. In Whiteville a tobacco grower will find six sets of warehousemen who come to this market from other belts . . . Warehousemen who are leaders on their respective markets, and warehousemen who are out standing in the tobacco world. These men all know tobacco, and they know how to sell it for high prices.

Tide Water Power Company Headquarters Moves Into Its New Home, Many Visitors

High Grade Cotton Should Bring Premiums

Cotton producers are urged to insist that they receive from buyers a premium on cotton which is above the average in grade and staple length. Under the present loan and price adjustment plan, it is pointed out, cotton growers have an opportunity to get the benefit of the premiums which are due them on the better grades and longer staple lengths of cotton says Mr. McLendon. Such producers will lose if they sell this cotton for the price paid for middling 7-8 inch cotton in the belief the price adjustment payment will take care of them. Under the present price adjustment plan the growers will receive the difference between the average price at the 10 spot market on the day they sell their cotton and 12 cents per pound on lint on their actual production not in excess of their Bankhead Allotment. The present plan is an improvement on the loan programs for the past two years because these programs made no provision for the producer of premium cotton but this program enables the producer to benefit, provided he insists upon the additional payments due him from the buyer because of the better product. Producers are urged to carefully follow the prices paid at the 10 daily spot markets, not only for 7-8 inch middling cotton, but for premiums paid on grade and staple for better than 7-8 inch middling cotton, says Mr. McLendon.

(From Wilmington News) Wilmington, Sept. 16.—The Tide Water Power company opened its new and splendidly equipped home today and hundreds of the concerns 8,000 customers in Wilmington and the vicinity called to congratulate the officials on the progressive step. Located in the first two floors and basement of the Tide Water building, formerly known as the Garrell building, at the southwest corner of Second and Princess streets, the new quarters will greatly increase the convenience of the firm's service to its patrons.

"Open house" was observed in celebration of the move today. From this morning until 9:30 o'clock tonight, the spacious doors of the home will be open and every patron is invited to visit. As a part of the formal opening, a special sale of electrical appliances is being conducted. Details of this feature are published elsewhere in this edition. Visitors to the new headquarters will be presented floral souvenirs.

Included in the congratulations received was a letter from Louis T. Moore, executive secretary of the chamber of commerce. Mr. Moore wrote President Fred A. Matthes as follows:

"With the opening of your modern and splendidly equipped new offices may we say that not only is your company to be congratulated, but we think that Wilmington and the territory served by our progressive organization also are to be felicitated. Your new home is of a type and nature as to be a source of pride to you and to your organization, and a distinct credit and asset to Wilmington and the area which you serve.

"Our best wishes are extended the Tide Water Power company for continued successful operation."

Renovation Cost $30,000

About six months ago announcement was made that the concern would remove to the larger building, located in the heart of the downtown district. The building is owned by the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company. Leasing and other arrangements were carried out through the Moore-Fonville Realty company and shortly afterwards extensive renovation was started with W. A. Simon, Inc local general contractor, in charge. The cost of the renovation, which has resulted in practically a new building, is approximately $30,000, including installation of a modern Otis elevator, new entrance and other improvements before the larger job was undertaken.

Today the power company has one of the most modern and beautiful locations in the city.

Complete in every detail and with every consideration being given for the convenience of those served, the quarters are a model that might well be copied by other Wilmington firms. Beginning with a new business front of beautiful simplicity, and extending through the basement and the two floors, the renovation has been most thorough and speaks well for the general contractor.

A new neon sign, in the form of an inverted "T" marks the handsome entrance to the first floor of the Tide Water section.

There the visitor is impressed with the beauty of the first floor interior, painted to carry out the report.

Will Rogers Preferred Home Town Paper To Ham & Eggs

Everything the late Will Rogers said was not funny, but the things which were sweetened with humor and tempered with philosophy will be recorded as his best. The cowboy-comedian wrote this tribute to the home-town weekly not so long before his death:

"Take away my ham, take away my eggs, even chili, but leave me my newspaper. Even if it has such purely local news as 'Jim Jones came home last night unexpectedly, and bloodshed ensued' or 'Jesse Bushyhead, our local M. D., is having one of the best years of his career, practically speaking—but they just won't pay him when they get well' the county seat was packed yesterday with prominent people from out of town, attempting to renew their notes and 'election ain't far off and everybody is up for office that can sign an application blank.'
"Now all that don't seem much news to you. But it is news to you especially when you know the people and they are your own folks. So no matter how punk you may think your local newspaper is getting, why just take it away from you and see how you feel. The old newspaper I think, is just about our biggest blessing."
"So let's all read and be merry, for tomorrow the paper may not have enough ads to come out."

Telephones Making Progress

Telephone system has been set up in Kenansville and practically all of the outside wire has been put in place. Work has been begun on the exchange unit which will be placed on poles between the court house and Court house annex. The line has been completed to Warsaw and will be completed to Beaufort this week.
