The older people of Duplin county will remember Mr. Key as the founder of East Carolina Industrial School, at Shelter Neck, N. C., on the Northeast River. The school was at one time very popular, and drew many students from this section of the state.

In addition to his connection with the school, Mr. Key acted for years as Unitarian Minister in this section, and became known to many people. He has for several years lived in Winthrop with his family.

He had been confined to his bed for only one week before his death.

NEWKIRK WAYMACK

Miss Violet Waymack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Waymack, of Richmond, Va., and Winton H. Newkirk, of Richmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Newkirk, of Roschill, were united in marriage Tuesday afternoon, October 12, at 5:30 o'clock at the home of the bride in Richmond, with Dr. S. L. Stealey, pastor of Bannbridge St. Baptist Church, officiating.

The vows were spoken before an improvised altar in the living room. A mass of fern, chrysanthemums, and ivy, with tall candelabra in the background and on either side, forming a lovely setting for the ceremony.

Miss Elizabeth Waymack, cousin of the bride, of Richmond, played the wedding music. Mrs. Upton Elliott, also of Richmond, sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," and "I Love You Truly."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin, which was made with tight shirred bodice, and full skirt, extending into a semi-train in back. The full-length veil was made cap fashion with coronet of seed pearls and caught at the side with orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley made with long shower cascade.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Mary Waymack, who was dressed in a Wallis blue satin floor-length dress made with short puffed sleeves and fitted bodice. With this she wore a turban and slippers of matching satin. Her bouquet was of mixed flowers tied with blue and gold satin ribbon.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Robert F. Newkirk of Richmond.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Newkirk left for a wedding trip in the mountains of Virginia. After October 25 they will be at home at 4700 Forest Hill Ave., Richmond, Va.

REA Fails Make Loan to Tide Water Power Co.

After extended negotiations during which no rule of all was quoted, the Tide Water Power Company has refused to sell electricity at wholesale to a cooperative group in the Tidewater portion of the State. The cooperative has proposed a project in Sampson, Bladen, Duplin and Beaufort Counties. The rate quoted would average 1.63 cents per kilowatt-hour. REA has felt that it cannot approve this rate as reasonable.

Because of the wholesale energy difficulties REA is unable to allow funds for the cooperative project.

A complicating factor in the situation is that the company is now asking for an additional loan of $100,000 to build lines in part of the same area: Greene, Lenoir, Jones, Sampson, Duplin, Pender, Columbus, Craven, Pamlico, Onslow, Carteret, Wayne, Brunswick and New Hanover Counties.

In 1935 REA made a loan of $145,000 to the Tide Water Power Company to build lines in a number of counties in the same general region.

The Rural Electrification Act of 1936 provides that preference shall be given to "States, Territories, and subdivisions and agencies thereof, municipalities, peoples utility districts, and cooperative non-profit, or limited-profit dividend associations, the projects of which comply with the requirements of this Act."

The REA Rate Section opened negotiations with the Company in March with regard to power supply for the cooperative but the Company did not see fit to submit any quotation for nearly seven months. The rate finally submitted appears to be so high as to make it difficult for the cooperative to become self-financing.

The funds available for loans are already depleted, and applications from cooperative groups have been filed in great volume. With funds so limited, REA has not found it advisable to make any further allotment to the Tide Water Power Company, especially since it appears that the company's withholding of a suitable wholesale rate is the obstacle that has blocked the cooperative.

Great Grain Gain

The jobs harvesting grain is over, and with it the people claiming the largest harvest of tobacco, but crop gathering time is here right as the week.

Whaley, of Beulsville, says that the crop is a few days ago with an acre of corn measuring 11 inches in length and 10 inches in diameter. A single grain measured just a fraction, but that was back history says a few ears would make a bumper crop.

All right, you farmers, bring that corn in here and let's see if you can beat that.

Swinging Trailers

One who drives a car with a trailer attached should be very careful to get out of danger the lives of others on the highway. A loosely attached trailer swinging from one side of the road to the other broke the arm of Sam Newton Saturday night. A loose trailer swung into the side of a small truck driven by L. Southern, near Warsaw and broke the mirror and might have done greater damage. We should always be careful with our equipment on the highways so as to render them safe for other people. It will be well to remember that the speed limit with a trailer attached is 30 miles an hour in this state.

Begus Collectors Social Security Face Prosecution

Criminal prosecution by the Department of Justice of begus collectors of funds in connection with the Social Security Act's old-age insurance program has been requested by the Social Security Board, Stacy W. Wade, Manager of the Raleigh Field Office of the Social Security Board, announced today.

The Board, Mr. Wade said, has advised the Department of Justice that it has received information of several instances where money has been collected through such misrepresentation and requested the Department to investigate them and institute criminal proceedings.

In a statement sent Mr. Wade, announcing its action, the Board said:

"The Social Security Board has no 'old-age benefit collectors,' 'old-age insurance collectors' or any other kind of collectors or financial agents. It has authorized no one to collect any fees from participants in the old-age insurance program. We wish to caution everyone against making any payments whatever to persons representing themselves as agents of the Board and who guarantee the payment of old-age insurance."

Have Fun on Night That Witches Ride

On Halloween, when witches ride and weird spirits reign, is one of the best times in the year to give a party.

All formality must vanish. Give yourself over to the spirit of the occasion and, young or old, you will have a good time," said Ruth Current, state home agent at State College.

Owls, black cats with curled tails, witch's moons and other Halloween decorations cut from orange and black paper, pumpkins, corn stalks, red apples, and autumn leaves, jack-o'-lanterns, silhouettes, and scarecrows—all add a weird atmosphere.

Silver Christmas corn can be woven into a spider web in one corner. Paper spiders placed in the center give it a realistic effect.

The lighting is important. There should be plenty of jack-o'-lanterns. Other lights should be dimmed with orange and red crepe paper.

Bobbing for apples, lucky pennants, and fortune-telling appeal to all comers on a time like this.

For a large group, several fortune-telling devices can be placed in different parts of the room, with guests going from one to another.

If a witch's den may be constructed, dimly lighted with jack-o'-lanterns, and with a witch sitting inside beside her cauldron to tell the fortunes of all who enter.
