SCOTT WARNS TOBACCO GROWERS

Tobacco growers were recently warned by Commissioner of Agriculture, Kerr Scott, that strong efforts are being made to sabotage the government control program in the production of fluecured tobacco.

Pointing out that the production of flue-cured tobacco this year will run greater than that of any season except the non-control year of 1939 he declared this record might have equaled in 1944 under normal circumstances.

Scott asserted that the absence of government control in 1939 led to the sale of flue-cured tobacco at an average price of $14.90 per 100 pounds. He added that freedom in the planting in 1939 led to a surplus which carried over into 1940 and resulted in a price of only $16.40 per 100 pounds.

The cynic says that the reason some girls are poor mathematicians is that they take their figures for granted.

VOTE FOR H. B. Kornegay

Hervey Battle Kornegay was born February 16, 1894, in Duplin County, North Carolina. He is the son of the late Peter Hargett Kornegay, who was prominent in political and civic activities of his county, and Cora Nethercutt Kornegay, who was the daughter of Colonel John Nethercutt of Jones County.

H. B. Kornegay was reared in Kenansville and received his education at the Grove Academy. After the death of his father in 1912, he moved to Faison and lived with his family for the next twenty years.

On September 10, 1932, he was married to Edwina Sutton, daughter of Mrs. Fannie Hood Sutton and the late E. D. Sutton of Calypso. He has lived in Calypso since that time.

He is a member of the Presbyterian Church, and for the past thirty-five years has been closely associated with the Sunday School and Church. He has served as a teacher, superintendent, and now is chairman of the Board of Deacons.

He has always been interested in and supported the civic organizations and projects of this community and county where he has served faithfully on many boards and committees and at present is a member of the local school board.

He is in the farming and mercantile business. His farming operations cover over 800 acres of cultivated land on which he raises livestock, and grows truck crops, corn, cotton, and tobacco, all of which he gives his personal supervision.

He is opposed to all price ceilings on farm products except in their finished form where the ceiling would be placed on the retailer and for the benefit of the consumer.

He is opposed to the policies of this administration that permit a ceiling of $1.12½ per bushel for corn at Chicago and at the same time allow wages on government projects to skyrocket to over $2.50 per hour. He believes that equal injustices apply to many other farm products, and particularly to cotton, potatoes and livestock.

Mr. Kornegay is opposed to all bureaucracies and agencies which tend to regulate and control the lives of the people, thus destroying individual initiative. He believes in the American system of free enterprise and opportunity for all. He also believes that if the small business man is to prosper, he must be relieved of the burden of the many unnecessary reports and strangling regulations now imposed by this administration.

He believes that our men in service should be returned home at the earliest possible moment after the war with Germany and Japan is won; that all wounded and disabled men should be amply provided for and that their dependents should receive assistance from the government.

Mr. Kornegay agrees with Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's plan to turn Germany into a nation of small farms and frequently quotes Commissioner Kerr Scott when Scott said: "It is an ideal way to take power away from any group of people, for the farmer is always at the mercy of others, whether he lives in China, India, France or America. The Agricultural South has been crucified politically and economically for a half century. . . . Although 60 per cent of North Carolina's population live on the farm only about 5 per cent hold key state positions."

We the friends and neighbors of H. B. Kornegay, who is a farmer, ask you to follow the advice as given by your Democratic Commissioner of Agriculture and put H. B. Kornegay in the House of Representatives. It is the first time in 40 years or more that you have had the opportunity to send a farmer from this district to the National Congress.
