Mercy's Gentle Hand Ministers To All Without Question Of Race Or Creed

Wouldn't you get the shock of your life if you were brought into a hospital as an emergency case—and no one would help you because they were prejudiced against the land of your forbears, or the church you attend? That is hardly the spirit of mercy; for above all things mercy is tolerance; and that same spirit of tolerance should guide all of us in our daily contacts with our fellowmen. Let us judge them for their behavior, character, disposition, interests—for it is by these things that their place in the community is measured and not by whether their parents came from Singapore or Naples, Amsterdam or Athens.

You live a truly Christian life if you do all you can to foster love of all mankind among those you know—attend the Church of your faith Easter Sunday and regularly, and urge your friends to attend theirs.
