Service
TO YOU AT HOME

Members of the Legion and their families know firsthand the wartime trials of the families left behind. They know the pain of separation they themselves experienced in the first World War and in this one. They know, from experience, the myriad problems facing the families of servicemen—and they know what must be done.

More than twenty-five years of peacetime service have trained the Legion for these tasks. Its members know that Victory for America entails two things . . . things widely different in character. We must have the material things with which to fight the war. And we must have the things of the mind and spirit . . . unflinching determination to win complete victory, and the willingness to make any sacrifice.

The Legion knows that the material things exist on the fighting fronts . . . and it knows that they must be with us on the home front. War work of all kinds has received enthusiastic support from the Legion; from the days of its early organization, it has advocated preparedness, fought for the things our men are fighting for now. It inaugurated and developed innumerable government aids for veterans and servicemen. And through it all, the Legion has done a job for the folks at home. Here at home, Legion activities have been augmented and strengthened by the help of the American Legion Auxiliary—more than a half a million women who share the aims and ideals of the Legion itself. They are helping to provide the materials of war. Their organized efforts are bringing added force to every war campaign—bond sales, scrap drives, blood donations—all the national endeavors that back our fighting forces.

Yet the Auxiliary's greatest contribution is not in this field. It is, rather, in providing the intangible things of the spirit, those inner things by which the Auxiliary serves most powerfully. Strengthening the human element in America's war machine is the Auxiliary's great work. When a man leaves his community, the men and women of the Legion and Auxiliary start the many activities by which the Legion and Auxiliary attempt to express the community's appreciation. Letters from members follow him to camp and overseas. In this country, over 12,000 Legion posts in cities and towns throughout the nation are a little bit of home to our boys. These Headquarters are open to them, and servicemen's parties are frequent. Mothers, wives and sisters of veterans of this war and the last do everything to make them feel at home away from home.

To you, the families at home, comes understanding aid from the Legion and Auxiliary. They welcome helping you with your individual problems, offer encouragement and comfort. Post Service Officers assist in numerous cases arising from service in this war and the last.

In these intangibles, as well as in material aids and comforts, the Legion is working with you, working for you. It stands ever ready to help you and your boys in war and in peace.

- The Legion brought about the reorganization of the U. S. Veterans Administration.
- The Legion conceived and piloted the G.I. Bill of Rights through Congress.
- The Legion created and maintains an extensive program of Child Welfare Activities for the benefit of veterans' children.
- The Legion, through Post Service Officers, assists families of servicemen in the present war.

YOU SHOULD FEEL FREE TO USE THIS SERVICE IN ANY CASES INVOLVING SERVICE IN THIS CONFLICT.

ONE DOWN...
ONE TO GO!

So—let's not let up until FULL Victory!

Who can blame Americans for going half mad with joy as Hitler's cruel war machine is smashed into the dust! For all who have fought and worked and suffered grievous loss, this hour of triumph is deserved.

But our men are still fighting and dying out there in the Pacific. If we let down now, we'll be letting them down!
Let's stick to our war jobs until Uncle Sam says, "Well done—you can relax!"

Let's buy extra War Bonds—they are needed now, more than ever.

Let's use transportation wisely. Greyhound would like to offer unlimited pleasure travel right away—today—but carrying war manpower is still its most urgent task.

You may be sure that Greyhound will lead the field with fine new equipment, new comfort features, new carefree tours just as soon as war requirements will permit.

But now—let's finish the job!
