CPL. WILLARD EDWARDS BEULAVILLE HELPS TO RESCUE BOMBER CREW

With the 90th Infantry Division near the Czechoslovak Border — Exploding in midair, the huge B-17 hurtled earthwards in pieces as seven parachutes drifted lazily toward the 90th Division's front line and no man's land below. Most of the 358th Infantry Regiment's 2nd Battalion were looking skywards that day as the chutes drifted in all directions. Very soon jeeps were taking off to get the American flyers back to safety.

The German positions were a few hundred yards from the 358th's outer observation posts and as the chutes came closer the Nazi machine guns and small arms fire opened up on them. Two of the large white umbrellas were seen coming down between the 358th and the enemy dugouts. Going on foot from the edge of town, 1st Lt. L. W. Schauder and his advance group of five medics reached one of the flyers, through heavy gunfire, and brought him back to safety.

The other flyer who had fallen near the enemy's position hugged the ground as 1st Lt. J. T. Napier of Chicago and three men of G Company started out in a jeep to get him back to friendly lines.

How One B-17 Came Down

The airman later said: "That lieutenant sure has nerve! Those guys didn't have to come out after me . . . the lead was flying all around. They deserve medals!" It was not easy to find the fliers in the hilly, thickly wooded forests all around but a cub observation plane helped in the search for the airmen. Two jeeps were given detailed information as to the position of the enemy who were also in the woods and the searching party had to keep on the alert constantly. Radio operator, Cpl. George Lawless of Detroit, Mich., and Cpl. Willard Edwards of Beulaville, were in one of the jeeps while the other held a trio of Capt. D. O. Belew of Ft. Worth, Texas, 1st Lt. E. J. Gurbig, Cincinnati, Ohio and Pfc. Sam Simpson of Berea, Ky. They brought two more fliers back to safety.

When a count was taken of the assembled fliers, there were six. The B-17's original crew had numbered eight, including the pilot and co-pilot. As most of the observers from the ground counted seven chutes, it is possible that the seventh parachute drifted far into enemy territory, and that the eighth member had no time to jump from the exploding plane.

A 22 year old Flight Officer told of the explosion: "Our mission was to bomb Pilsen and when I saw that box of flak the Germans had thrown up over the city . . . well, we had our job so we ran right into it. We dropped our bombs all right and the whole formation was veering off to make our return when I saw that some flak had started a leak in number 4 engine. We shut the fuel off but the spraying gasoline already was burning through the wing so I yelled back to the crew to bail out. I then held the wheel as the pilot strapped his chute on. A moment later, I had done the same and just as I reached the open hatch the whole ship twisted drunkenly and I was pushed against the plane right next to the open hatch. The next thing I knew I was falling, with a heavy ringing noise in my head and I pulled my chute open. The ship had exploded, blasting me out of the hatch. All my equipment was gone, oxygen mask, revolver, my helmet and goggles."

He continued, "All of us were sweating out coming down . . . we didn't know what side of the lines we were coming into. As it is we were damn close. I think that seventh chute which the guys on the ground saw, was the ball-turret gunner because later when I was riding over the area we found the ship scattered over a square mile area and couldn't find the cockpit at all. We probably lost the pilot."

FSA Families Continue

Many people plant their garden in April and May, as far as they are concerned, gardening is over except cultivating. Not so with FSA families, says Mrs. Madeline Smith, FSA Home Supervisor. They start in January and continue planting every two weeks thru September. Right now, they are replanting snap beans, lima beans, field peas, corn and collard seed and setting more tomatoe plants. These folks have found that the goal of 80 quarts of canned food per person will not be sufficient unless supplemented with a year-round garden.

FSA families know the value of producing their own food. As one homemaker expressed it, "Those of us who live in the country and can grow our food certainly should do so. I feel sorry for the city folks who can't go to the garden and get vegetables for dinner when they want them."

Fifteen canning demonstrations will be given by the Home Supervisor throughout Duplin where FSA borrowers are located during June to acquaint FSA families with the use of pressure cookers. Every homemaker is urged to attend.

Never try to get something for nothing; it's expensive in the long run.
