THE DOG'S SENSE OF SMELL TRULY IS REMARKABLE

It's his remarkable sense of smell that gives the dog those unique qualities for which he has been prized through the centuries, states the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

In zoology, animals are sometimes divided into two groups—visual and olfactory animals. Man today is, of course, a visual being; with the assumption of an upright position and the raising of the head from the ground, his olfactory sense has deteriorated. But the dog is first of all an olfactory animal. A dog lives, feels, loves and hates by its sense of smell.

In his book, "Man in Structure and Function," the German writer Fritz Kahn gives the physical basis which makes the dog a truly olfactory animal. He compares the dog's olfactory mechanism with that of man. He finds that while the olfactory mucous membrane of the human nose is only as large as a postage stamp, that of a dog, if spread out, would cover more than half its skin. Much the same relations obtain in the portions of the brain devoted to smell. In man the olfactory area occupies one-twentieth of the medial surface of the brain, while in a dog this area is more than one-third of the inner wall of the brain.

Reporting on experiments abroad, Science Service says a dog can detect a solution of formic acid even if it contains one part acid to ten million parts water. Dogs have also detected scents in other solutions of acids so weak as to be quite odorless to man. In another type of experiment, a young German Shepherd female was used to retrieve a small piece of pine wood handled by her keeper. The keeper held the piece of wood in his hand for just two seconds, and then placed it with forceps among a dozen or more identical pieces which he had not touched. The dog was allowed to sniff the keeper's hand and told to bring her piece of wood. In every trial, she picked the right piece.

Make Your Money's Might..

Match their Fighting Might..

You're not asked to prove your prowess in death-dealing combat as these men are doing . . . for America and you. That's their job! Yours is to add the might of your dollars to the might of our fighting men.

TWO WAR LOANS IN ONE!

The mighty Seventh War Loan is the biggest yet. Last year you were asked to subscribe twice by this time. The least you should lend—if your income is $250 monthly or more—is $187.50. If your earnings are greater, your purchase of War Bonds should be increased in proportion.

Remember, too, that U. S. War Bonds are the world's safest investments . . . giving you $4 back, at maturity, for every $3 you invest in them.

YOU HELP THREE WAYS when you back up the MIGHTY 7th War Loan with every dollar you can afford. You help your Government. You help pay for the material needed by our armed forces to get the war over quickly and bring them home. You help yourself by providing for your future security.
