RENT OVERCHARGE LANDLORDS REFUND

Landlords in the 7 defense rent-control areas of the Raleigh district of OPA, refunded tenants a total of $8,259.44 alleged overcharges and paid penalties aggregating $924.98 to the Treasurer of the United State, Theodore S. Johnson, said today.

He urged citizens to report any overcharge in the areas where the violations occur. He also advised tenants to refuse to pay rents in cases where the landlord would not give a receipt for the amount paid. Under the law, he said, a tenant cannot legally be evicted for failure to pay rents in excess of the ceiling.

TOBACCO BARN FIRES

COST FARMERS PLENTY

A considerable loss of money is sustained annually by the farmers of North Carolina when barns filled with tobacco burn, but a few precautions against fires would prevent a tremendous amount of worry and money says David S. Weaver, extension agricultural engineer of State College.

A survey made in 1944 reveals that the replacement cost per barn was about $400 with an average of $300 worth of tobacco, or a total loss of $700 for each fire.

Most common causes of tobacco barn fires are: Leaves falling on flues and furnace. Defective flues and furnaces, and inadequate and unsafe foundations. Professor Weaver suggests careful selection of sticks of proper length and sufficient strength, together with correct looping and hanging of the tobacco. The placing of poultry netting directly over the furnace and flues. Furnaces and flues should be checked for defects before each cure. Furnaces should be at least two feet longer than the wood used to keep the fire well up from the mouth of the furnace. Furnaces and flues should be well protected by masonry from parts of the wooden structure and stacks should always extend above the roof.

THIS COUNTRY NEEDS LOW PRICED CIGARS

Harking to the famous words of Vice President Marshall, O P A District Director Theodore S. Johnson announced that suit has been filed against 11 Tampa, Fla. cigar makers demanding almost 2 million dollars in damages and asking injunction to restrain future price violations. In an effort to put low priced cigars back on the counter, Johnson said OPA "is just beginning this campaign. Further violations are continuing and will be dealt with in kind."

He charged that manufacturers have been concentrating on the higher priced cigars, despite steps taken by OPA to stop it.

Last November, the agency increased the ceiling prices for lower cost brands and required that manufacturers establish an average ceiling price so cheap cigars would be restored.

Court action will soon be taken against others guilty of similar violations, it was asserted.

GREENS

Greens are rich in Vitamin A and good sources of vitamin C and iron. Americans could well eat as much as 50 percent more green and yellow vegetables.

TIMBER

Statistics show that the U. S. is not growing timber as fast as it is being used.
