CANDLELIGHT CEREMONY UNITES MISS HERRING AND C. J. SHEFFIELD

The Warsaw Presbyterian Church was the scene of a lovely wedding Sunday afternoon at 6 o'clock when Miss Mary E. Herring, daughter of Patrick M. Herring and the late Mrs. Margaret Kornegay Herring, of Warsaw and Bowden, became the bride of Charles J. Sheffield, son of Mrs. E. C. Sheffield and the late Mr. Sheffield, of Warsaw, in a beautiful candlelight ceremony with the pastor, the Rev. Eugene Clarke, officiating and using the impressive double ring ritual of the Presbyterian Church.

The vows were spoken before a background of pines, Southern smilax and floor baskets of white gladioli, spirea and iris interspersed with fern and flanked by seven branched candelabra holding cathedral tapers.

Mrs. J. E. Williams, pianist, played a program of nuptial music prior to the ceremony. Her selections included "Romance," by Rubinstein, "Echoes of Spring," by Friml, "Soubrette," by Drafla, and "Cradle Song," by Schubert. Miss Nell J. Bowden, soprano, sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," by Stults, and "Because," by D'Hardelt. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played for the processional and Mendelssohn's march from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" for the recessional. During the ceremony "Song to the Evening Star" from "Tannhauser" by Wagner was softly played.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original model of white faille fashioned with a square marquisette yoke, edged with rose point lace and high round neckline, fitted bodice buttoned down the back with self covered buttons, long sleeves ending in calla lily points at the wrists and full skirt forming a long train. Her finger tip veil of double tier bridal illusion was worn with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of brides roses, and orchids showered with stephanotis and wore a four leaf clover necklace of emerald studded with a diamond, gift of the bride-groom.

Miss Dixie Kornegay, of Bowden and Raleigh, attended the bride as maid of honor, and was gowned in blue taffeta fashioned with full bouffant skirt gathered onto the fitted bodice. The low cut neckline was finished with a bertha. She wore blue net mitts and halo bonnet of tulle. Her arm bouquet of yellow Killinery roses was tied with blue ribbon and showered with yellow streamers.

The bridesmaids were Misses Sally Howell and Caroline Howell, both of Raleigh, and they wore identical gowns of pink faille with high round necks of marquisette yokes, fitted bodice and full gathered skirts. They wore mitts and Juliet caps of pink net and carried arm bouquets of spring flowers tied with blue ribbons.

The bridegroom had as his best man, his brother, Edwin Sheffield, and the ushers were his brother, Bill Sheffield and Glenn Brown.

Mrs. W. R. Ferrier, aunt of the bride, of Norfolk, Va., wore a black sheer dress trimmed with sequins and a shoulder corsage of red roses. Mrs. Sheffield, mother of the bridegroom, wore a suit of navy with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Immediately following the wedding the bride and groom left for a wedding to unannounced points. For traveling the bride wore a handsome black gabardine suit with white accessories and a corsage of orchids taken from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Sheffield is the only daughter of Mr. Herring and the late Mrs. Herring, of Bowden. She was graduated from Warsaw High School and a business school in Raleigh, where she was employed with the Office of Defense Transportation, until recently. The groom, since graduation from the Warsaw High School, where he starred in athletics, has been affiliated with the Warsaw Drug Company.

Following the rehearsal Saturday night a cake cutting was held at the home of the bride on Pollock St. The home was ensuite and attractively decorated with novel and artistic arrangements of white spirea, iris and fern. On the mantel in the living room was a new arrangement of yellow jessamine. In the dining room the table was overlaid with a lace cloth, surrounded with a three tiered wedding cake, surrounded by fern and decorated with a miniature bride and groom. Burning tapers in crystal holders flanked the central decorations and white roses tied with blue ribbons further enhanced the scene.

Loftin, cousin of the bride, Mrs. W. R. Ferrier, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. J. B. Loftin, both of Norfolk, Va., and Miss Ann Nell Parker, of Bowden, served bridal mints and nuts. Pouring punch from the ivy draped punch table was Mrs. B. C. Sheffield, mother of the groom. Mrs. R. Archie Williams, of Bowden, graciously presided as hostess at large.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Misses Sally Howell, Caroline Harrell, and Dixie Kornegay of Raleigh; Mrs. B. F. Kornegay, of Mt. Olive; V. G. Herring and daughter, Nellie Mack, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Kornegay, Mrs. Jack Kornegay, and Mrs. D. P. Herring, all of Goldsboro; Mrs. Bertha Quinn of Chincupin; Mrs. A. J. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. McLamb of Clear Run; Mrs. L. V. Rackley and Mrs. Norwood Hobbs of Clinton; Miss Betty Baker of Raleigh; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Collins of Raleigh; Dr. and Mrs. George Johnson and Miss Sarah Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Sessions and daughter of Wilmington; Mr. and Mrs. Graham Johnson, Dr. Charles Johnson and Richard Daniels of Jacksonville; Dr. and Mrs. O. A. Teachey and Miss Johnny Teachey of Rose Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Stedman Merritt of Magnolia; and Miss Jane Williams of Clinton.

From Sorata BY JAKE

"There is hardly anything in the world that some man can not make a little worse and sell a little cheaper, and the people who consider price only are this man's lawful prey." - John Ruskin.

Son - "Dad, how old will I have to be before I can do as I please?" Dad - "I don't know that one, son. No one has ever lived that long yet."

Our American way of life, freedom, and opportunity has through our history provided the spark which has caused great achievements from people whose early life situation in itself offered little hope for great things. We are often reminded that Lincoln, Andrew Jackson, and numerous others who achieved greatness, began humbly. As a people we have ever cherished that opportunity and are determined that it shall ever be true in this land.

Many of our leaders in Government, industry, science, education, and other fields of endeavor, however, have come from families whose prominence had long been established. They have made a name for themselves and have not been content to ride through life on a reputation made by others. Such a man is Edward R. Stettinius, Jr.

He is official representative of the United States for the Security Commission of the United Nations Organization, one of the most important jobs in the world today.

School Tuesday night were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hobbs, Misses Evelyn Parker and Martha Jean Surratt, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Phillips and children, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Nassif, Mr. and Mrs. Waddell Brinson and Miss Ella Hefty.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Effie Fussell of Rose Hill was the week end guest of her nephew, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Best. Mesdames R. D. Johnson and H. L. Stevens, Jr., shopped in Goldsboro Saturday.

Mrs. J. A. Forter returned home Friday from the James Walker Hospital where she recently underwent an operation.

John Fonvielle, student at State College, spent the week end here with relatives.

Miss Mary Potter, of Cowpens, S. C., is spending the week with her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Potter.

Mr. Stettinius is one of our leaders today who was born to wealth and position. Early in life he determined to make a name for himself through his own capacity. At the University of Virginia, where Mr. Stettinius was known as "Little Stet", he took an active part in campus affairs. Among other things he became president of the YMCA, taught a Sunday School class, and organized a Student Employment Bureau. The future statesman's first job out of college was that of laborer in a New Jersey subsidiary plant of General Motors. After two years as a laborer, he became Employment Manager for the plant. When he was thirty-one years of age, he was made Vice-President in charge of industrial and public relations for General Motors. He was instrumental in setting up a $450,000,000 insurance program for all General Motors employees while serving as Vice-President.

Mr. Stettinius first entered Government affairs when called by President Roosevelt during the depression to be liaison between the NRA and big business. After that job was well done he went with U. S. Steel. In 1937 he became head of that company - one of the biggest jobs in the industrial world.

In 1939 Mr. Roosevelt called again for the steel President. Unlike many other men who held positions of authority in industry, when he went to Washington that time he resigned as head of U. S. Steel. Also he sold his securities and broke all relations with the business world. He began his new work as head of the War Resources Board and worked out plans for the industrial mobilization of the country. In 1941 he began direction of Lend-Lease. From that he advanced to Under Secretary of State. Then in 1944 Mr. Stettinius was appointed to the high position of Secretary of State. In that position he led the formation of the United Nations Organization. Later President Truman appointed him to his present position.

Edward R. Stettinius has really achieved "on his own". Both in business and Government, he has attained the heights by starting early in life determined to become of service.
