Miss Sue Lee Weds

Hiram J. Casebolt

On April 20, in a simple but charming five o'clock ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Williams in Kenansville, Miss Sue B. Lee, their foster daughter, and Mr. Hiram J. Casebolt, of Scioto-ville, Ohio, were united in marriage by the bride's father, the Rev. T. W. Lee of Effland, N. C.

The two front rooms of the lower floor, opening together, glowed with lighted candles amid ivy, blossoming syringas and bowls of white roses, narcissus and baby's breath. Before the fireplace in the living room an altar was arranged of long-leaved pines and tall baskets of calla lilies. Cathedral tapers burned on the mantel and in floor candelabra placed on either side an improvised prie-dieu.

Mrs. Louise W. Mitchell played on the piano Schubert's "Serenade", "Venetian Love Song" and "Traumeral"; and Mrs. Walter J. Stroud sang the nuptial hymn, "O Perfect Love" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told". Mr. Robert C. Wells lighted the candles.

As the wedding march from Lohengrin began, the bride, a petite brunette, escorted by her foster father, entered from the stairs through an ivy-arched doorway. Her white gown was fashioned with a full bodice and short sleeves of lace, the nimon skirt forming a small train in back and her finger-tip veil falling from a chaplet of orange blossoms. She wore lace mitts and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of roses and carnations centered with a purple-throated orchid and showered with stephanotis. Her only ornament was a cameo lavalere which had belonged to her mother. She was preceded to the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Carlos Lopez, of Charleston, S. C., and by her maid-of-honor, her foster-sister, Miss Erma E. Williams, who was gowned in pink net and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of pink roses and carnations.

The double ring ceremony was spoken to the soft piano accompaniment of "To a Wild Rose".

Immediately after the ritual, the doors to the dining room were opened to reveal the traditional three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom and an informal reception was given for the forty guests present. After the bride's cutting of the first slice, the wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Caroline H. Gavin. Mrs. N. B. Boney, Miss Margaret Williams and Mrs. George Strang served molded ice cream. Mrs. D. H. McKay passed canapes and Mrs. R. C. Wells served punch.

The bride is the daughter of the Reverend Thomas W. Lee of Effland and the late Susie South-land Lee. She is presently employed by the Family Agency of Charleston, S. C.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Casebolt of Scioto-ville, Ohio. A chief naval petty officer, he is now stationed in Charleston. After a short overnight wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Casebolt returned to Charleston where they will be at home at 69 King Street.
