Let's Review

Education, or the lack of it, gets blamed for about all the world's ills. It is pretty generally agreed that the peoples of Earth need teaching, or perhaps re-teaching.

Some commentators crusade for penetrating study in narrow fields of learning while others whoop-it-up for wider browsing ranges. Both philosophies can be run to extremes.

What to Study Schooling actually does not help people much unless it makes better neighbors of them. It should, by all means, train them to engage in activities with other people, for the benefit of all.

George William Curtis once wrote: "While good men sit at home, not knowing that there's anything to be done, nor caring to know, half persuaded that this republic is the contemptible rule of a mob and secretly longing for some splendid and vigorous despotism, . . . remember that it is not a government mastered by ignorance; it is a government betrayed by intelligence."

What to Study We have a sad state of affairs indeed when intelligent people realize that things are taking place which they suspect are very bad for the country, yet fail to take a hand in remedying matters.

Some men have deep learning in fields that do not embrace history, government or economics. Others have gained far-flung knowledge without sensing the duties of citizenship or any obligations toward other people.

The notion that a nation may be governed, not by a ruler, but by the people themselves, was not new in Mr. Curtis' time. Our own republic was hardly half as old as now when he began writing for "Harper's Monthly."

Students would not be helped much now by a smattering of more arts. Neither is there a crying need for more specialization. Consolidating our recent scientific gains and preserving our freedom is our No. 1 problem.

and daughters, of New Bern spent Sunday with Mrs. Kafer's father, Mr. E. R. Periney.

Mr. and Mrs. John Currie and daughter visited in Fayetteville over the week end.

Miss Dorothy Frederick shopped in Raleigh Thursday.

The Leggett

Introducing A Down and Up-Draft Tobacco Barn Oil Curer . . .

The Best Is Always The Cheapest

DUE TO DESIGN

You can get all the heat wanted without turning the flues red. A real protection against fires.

HEAVY CAST BODY

All parts are heavy cast iron, assuring satisfactory service. Flame is entirely enclosed in the cast body with no leaks and is much safer than ordinary brick furnace.

Use your present flues. Installation for all barns.

A unit that will turn your oil into a gas and then burn the gas. The up-draft feeds the flame and the down-draft fans the flame into a level fire in the middle of the flue, assuring equal distribution of heat throughout the barn by use of two burners at no additional cost.

OIL CONSUMPTION

Lower fuel consumption due to up and down drafts. Absence of carbon automatically assures efficient operation. No sitting up at night.

ALL REDNESS OF FLUES AND BURNERS ARE ELIMINATED

The design of this burner DOES NOT REQUIRE ARTIFICIAL MEANS TO ELIMINATE REDNESS OF BURNER OR FLUES. No wicks or thin metal to be replaced.

LOW COST IN PRICE

Our price covers the cost of two burners with all operating parts installed at $150.00. This applies to all barns from 16 X 16 to 22 X 22. THE LEGGETT IS NOTHING NEW OR EXPERIMENTAL.
