Faison Sesame Club Hears Club Poet-Laureate

The Sesame Club was fortunate to have on the February program Mrs. C. Beams of Goldsboro, our club poet-laureate, who spoke on the subject, "Poetry of World War II." Mrs. Beams told how the soldiers were encouraged by their superior officers to write poems. During the worst days of the desert fighting against Rommel, the Eighth Army commanders sponsored a poetry competition. More than 400 poems were turned in. While this war has produced little, if any, great poetry, more than 1,000 soldiers' poems have been published. Perhaps the best of these was found unsigned after a battle. It was entitled, "A Soldier-His Prayer."

"The White Cliffs" by Alice D. Miller, is probably the most popular poem of World War II. Other outstanding poems are "New Illiad" by Joseph Auslander, and "Good Bye G. I." by England's famous author, A. P. Herbert.

Mrs. J. X. Morton read an interesting article on General Omar Bradley.

Mrs. Witherington, club president, then accepted fifteen books given to the Emily Hill Public Library which the club sponsors, by Mrs. H. J. Faison in memory of Cpl. Vernon Weatherly.

Last month thirty books were donated to the library in memory of two local boys, Clifton Edgerton and Tom Avent, who made the supreme sacrifice in World War II.

LEGISLATIVE SUMMARY

Perhaps one of the largest crowds in the history of the State to attend a legislative committee hearing on Raleigh last Tuesday. The occasion was the public hearing on HB 196. The bill which attracted such a gathering would amend laws dealing with co-operative, mutual and marketing associations, would become subject to laws relating to monopolies, and would no longer be specially exempt from license, income and franchise taxes. At the end of the week the bill was still in committee.

Among new bills of interest introduced during the week was SB 145, which would afford the electorate of the State an opportunity to amend its laws by submitting a constitutional amendment to declare women ineligible for jury service; HB 412 which would provide compensation for persons erroneously convicted of felonies; SB 185 which would repeal the two statutes which permit absolute divorce on the grounds of 2 years separation (but which received an unfavorable report from the Senate committee; and SB 180 which would "discourage bootleggers" by making mandatory their minimum punishment upon first conviction a fine of $500 or 6 months imprisonment or their second a fine of $750 or 9 months imprisonment, and on their third a fine of $1000 or 1 year imprisonment.
