April 15 with their County Council. A project book is off the press which sets up recommendations. A series of questions are provided for the family to fill in. Their answers will provide a means for scoring. There are six parts to the program as follows:

My Family Activities in Community life . . . 100 points.
Feeding My Family . . . 300.
General Appearance and Efficiency of Farmstead and Home Making Practices . . . 300.

My Farm Production . . . 200.
My Farm Business . . . 200.

Complete project books are to be turned in to the County Council by Nov. 1st, for scoring. County achievement banquets for farm families will then follow.

The object of the program is to emphasize well balanced or diversified farming. Emphasize more efficiency in farming and home-making. Encourage self-sufficiency. Give recognition for accomplishments. Promote better working relationship between farmers, businessmen and others.

The project is being carried on in each county by a County Council, whose responsibility it is to guide and direct the program within the County by encouraging farmers to enroll. Make up premium lists. Getting practices carried out. Score farm families and determine winners, etc.

Any farm family may enroll until legislation of concerned. Of the 1032 bills introduced this year, 564 of them have been local in nature. This situation will be up for study if the General Assembly passes HB 751 introduced on Friday calling for a commission whose business it would be to consider the whole problem of local legislation and to make recommendations as to the passage of general laws on subjects most often embraced in local bills.

While a lot of this week's interest has been confined to money legislation, one new bill effects an interesting tie-up between revenue matters and health, school teacher and liquor problems. Representative Bule of Robeson introduced HB640 with the encouraging title "To provide additional funds for salaries of teachers and other State employees, for the Good Health Program, for mental institutions and for other General Fund purposes." If passed this bill would require every ABC store in the State to turn over its net profits to the State General Fund.

By affixing their signatures the presiding officers of the two houses turned 56 bills into laws this week. At least one bill of major interest was finally laid to rest: SB 200, the second Senate bill calling for a Statewide liquor referendum, was reported unfavorably by the Senate Finance Committee. The House liquor referendum bill still rest in

Uncle Sam Says

How many of your New Year's resolutions are unbroken? Some you made in jest. Others represent a serious effort, such as a thrift plan. You may have resolved to step up your savings bonds allotment through the Payroll Savings Plan, or you may have resolved to ask your bank to buy a savings bond for you every month out of your deposited funds. You can't afford not to keep this resolution for your own good. Even an $18.75 investment once a month in a $25 savings bond will provide you with a $2,500 nestegg in ten years.

WHEN TIME IS MONEY

During the busy spring season, lost time caused by a piece of broken equipment means money lost to the farmer. Lost time can be held to a minimum when a quick telephone call will speedily bring a replacement part. This is one more reason why progressive farmers won't be without a telephone. And we are making every effort to quickly bring telephone service to every farmer still missing.

AUDIENCES
An old farmer went to the movies for the first time. He watched the proceedings with interest, especially one scene in which a group of girls started to undress to go swimming. During this process a train passed by and in the next scene they were shown in the water.

The old man had gone into the show early in the afternoon. Late that evening, an usher, seeing him still in his seat, came up to him and asked why he stayed through so many performances.

"Waal," drawled the old codger, "I figger that one of these times that train is goin' to be late."
