Uncle Sam Says

Have you stopped to consider that save-as-you-go is as important to you as the pay-as-you-go plan, which millions of my nieces and nephews are rediscovering this month as their best friend in meeting income obligations? When you are signed up on the pay-as-you-go plan or have arranged with your bank for regular monthly purchases of U. S. Savings Bonds, you're on an automatic, easy save-as-you-go plan which will enable you to meet future personal and family obligations, or a business of your own, pay for a new home, travel or education for your children. As a good American, you are paying your income tax bill to your Uncle Sam to help pay for the war. As a good American, you also have the opportunity to turn the tables on your Uncle Sam. Archaeologists Dig In Oldest N. C. Settlement

(By Hoke Norris)

The earth of Fort Raleigh is being sifted and studied by the U. S. Park Service in an archaeological survey to authenticate the site of the Sir Walter Raleigh settlement and determine the nature of the homes the "Lost Colonists" tried to establish on this rim of the New World in 1587.

The new diggings are being made on the south end of earth fortifications thrown up by the colonists in what might have been their unequal fight with unfriendly Indians. The object in the work is to authenticate the site of the fortifications and determine the nature of the settlement that surrounded them.

Williams reported that the trench around the fort averaged 10 inches in depth and the mounds one foot and three inches in height at their crests. He marked each angle of the fortifications with a stone, making a star-like outline. The Roanoke Island Historical Association, with WPA assistance, constructed a palisade at the site in 1935, approximating the outline of the trenches and mounds. This, with the stakade near the Virginia Dare monument, has been removed.

William's report, under the title "The Surroundings and Site of Raleigh's Colony," was published in the annual report of the American Historical Association in 1895.

Sam Hackney Reports on the U.S.A.

Sam Hackney and the missus just returned from a trailer trip around the country. They're tired, and glad to be home, but mighty impressed with what they saw.

As Sam reports—every section has something different; a different way of talking; different tastes in food and drink; different laws and customs. But bigger than all these differences is the American spirit of tolerance that lets us live together in united peace.

"Of course," says Sam, "you run into intolerance from time to time. Individuals who criticize another's right to speak his mind enjoy a glass of beer; or work at any trade he chooses. But these are the exceptions—and we're even tolerant of them!"

From where I sit, more of us ought to make a trip like the Hackneys—to realize firsthand how America is bigger than its many differences... how tolerance of those differences is the very thing that makes us strong.
