Pink Hill Students Near McLamb.

Rev. Howard McLamb of Abingdon delivered the Baccalaureate address to the seniors in the auditorium of the Pink Hill school on Sunday night, May 11. His text was taken from Daniel and he urged the class to take Daniel's life as an example to follow as they go out upon life's journey.

He said there were both evil voices and good voices calling and urged them to make sure to heed the voices which challenge for the best, to keep their lives clean and not be afraid to stand for that which was best. This cannot be done, he said, without a cost, that of loneliness and giving up things which may seem for a time worth while, but after all, worthless in the sight of God. He said in conclusion that as Daniel had the courage to stand for the best, even though he was thrown in a den of lions in Babylon, they too would have a Babylon to face and urged them to keep their faith steadfast and not trade their honor though it meant giving up of life.

H., and Albert George; one half-brother, Edward Williamson; six sisters, besides Mrs. Boreham of Rose Hill; Mrs. Edward Garris, Mrs. Harvey Smith, Mrs. Harvey Carter, Mrs. J. A. Blanton, Mrs. Floyd Williamson and Mrs. Elwood Underhill. A coroner's jury last Friday exonerated Holmes.

Red Cross Aiding Texas City Victims

Disaster relief such as that now being given at Texas City has A-1 priority in expenditure of Red Cross funds, according to Mr. J. E. Jerritt, chairman of the Duplin County Chapter.

From chapter contributed funds, Mr. Jerritt said, the National Red Cross made an initial appropriation of $250,000 for the Texas City job, and also $250,000 for relief of victims of tornadoes which swept Woodward, Okla., and the Texas Panhandle region a week before the Texas City holocaust. Since these appropriations were made, an additional $250,000 has been appropriated for Texas City and Oklahoma-Texas tornado relief jobs.

"At Texas City," Mr. Jerritt pointed out, "the emergency may soon be over, but for the Red Cross the biggest job, that of guiding and supporting the disaster-stricken families in their difficult road back to economic and physical recovery, has just begun.

Southern Farm Market Summary

Friday's close for Middling 15-16 inch cotton averaged 36.54 cents, compared with 35.52 cents a week ago. Similarly, future prices made gains.

Cattle marketings increased at points in the lower South, where good grass growth was already adding weight to the animals. Elsewhere sales were about the same as last week.

Spring lambs moved in greater number this week with good and choice springers weighing from 60 to 90 pounds bringing $23-$24. Hog arrivals dropped off some. Closing tops Friday were from $21.50 to $25.25.

Egg arrivals were somewhat heavier but with little price change. Fruits and vegetables that ordinarily begin moving from the deep southeast around the middle of April were just swinging into increased volume this week with prices declining on many lines as offerings became heavier. Two exceptions were strawberries and cabbage which reportedly brought good prices.

In south Georgia snap beans were moving in good volume, with lettuce in full swing, cabbage liberal to heavy supply. Florida tomatoes increased slowly with some resistance to high prices.

It's Still a Still

Powerful enough to "distill" solids and liquids never before vaporized is this molecular still, an atomic age descendant of the old liquor distillery. By creating an "effectively perfect" vacuum, the still evaporates materials into their molecular components. Developed by Gulf research to explore the true nature of petroleum, it can divide waxes, greases and oils into several hundred distinct parts for study, a degree of separation never before approached. Dr. John R. Bowman, who pioneered in the development, is shown giving operating data to an assistant.

BETTER FARMING FOR BETTER LIVING

Approximately 300 farm families in 13 southeastern North Carolina Counties are enrolled in the 1947 Better Farming For Better Living program, according to Neil Bolton Agricultural Agent of Tide Water Power Company, who is coordinating the program in this area. Pender leads the list with 51 enrollments; Onslow follows with 38. County Councils in the 13 counties are now laying plans to assist the families in this year's contest. The program will come to an end on November 1.

The Onslow Council decided to push a farm paint-up campaign as a special activity. Council members will visit the 38 families enrolled in June and tentatively a tour has been planned for August. Civic clubs in Jacksonville will hold an achievement banquet in November for all families who participate in this year's program. The Duplin County Council met on Tuesday, May 13 for their most recent meeting.
