Chadborn Warehousemen In Fine Shape To Handle Your Tobacco

By WM. S. EDMUNDS.
Chadborn. — Boasting of a local tobacco crop which warehousemen and other qualified observers claim to be the best in the entire Border belt, Chadborn is listening to the familiar chant of the auctioneer.

Chadborn is one of the oldest tobacco markets in this section, and while it is not the largest, it has established an enviable reputation throughout as one of the best and most dependable markets. Warehousemen here for many years have followed the policy of putting "Service to the grower", ahead of everything else. Action on every matter presenting itself is decided in keeping with this policy. Needless to say, it has paid dividends to the warehousemen, because it has developed confidence in growers far and near who continue year after year to haul their tobacco to Chadborn.

Every market claims for itself a higher average, but government market reports prove that Chadborn is consistently one of the leaders in highest prices paid. In operation here again this year will be four spacious and well lighted warehouses. Myers warehouse which was built and operated many years by the late George A. Myers has been sold to J. Harvey Harper and Jack Hendley of Springfield, Tenn., who is operating it this year. While this is their first year as warehousemen here, they are nevertheless well known in this area, having operated here as independent dealers for a good many years. Both men have been in the tobacco business practically all of their lives, and have long and successful careers as warehousemen in their home town of Springfield and in Russellville, Ky. They still operate warehouses in both these towns. Associated with them here are: Bookkeepers, Mrs. Ruby Cross-

State College Hints To Homemakers

The home maker famed for her flavorful canned peaches is now joined by the home maker who is mastering the fine points of freezing luscious fruit.

Choose peaches for freezing with special care. Peaches that would be prime for eating mellow but firm, and uniformly ripe with no green in sight. Best for freezing are peaches picked ripe from the tree.

The best treatment to prevent peaches from darkening during freezing is to use powdered ascorbic acid (vitamin C). This prevents browning and makes the frozen peaches an excellent source of vitamin C, whereas ordinary peaches have only a little. Citric acid crystals provide another effective treatment to prevent darkening. Drug stores sell both.

You can't get clothes clean unless you rinse thoroughly. Here's why. The soapy water has penetrated deep into the fibers and it must be rinsed out. To do this carefully the water must be warm enough to keep the soap dissolved.

by Nat Moore, and Mrs. Jack Hendley all of Springfield. (Mrs. Crossway and Moore will be remembered for their connections here with the firm of Harris and Jones a few years ago.) Other well known tobaccoists associated with the firm are J. E. McLennon, of Danville, who has been coming here for many years, and W. J. Dutton, of Chadborn.

Operating Carter's Warehouse No. 1 and New Brick again this year is T. O. Wilkinson, W. C. Coates, and W. C. Coates, Jr., all of South Boston, Va. Mr. Wilkinson was a buyer for Export Leaf Tobacco for 20 years prior to his entrance into the warehouse business here in 1941. Messrs. Coates and Coates, who have been in the tobacco business practically all of their lives, purchased the New Brick warehouse last year and are in their second season here. This popular firm also operates warehouses at South Boston. Included in their staff are J. R. Eubanks, Leo and Clifton Thames, bookkeepers, all of South Boston, Mrs. T. O. Wilkinson, Mrs. J. R. Eubanks of South Boston and Mrs. Martin Carter of Chadborn, clerks. Floor managers for the two houses are Fred Nobles and W. L. Bufkin, prominent local farmers. Dave Mercer is serving as assistant floor manager.

Carter's Warehouse No. 2, constructed just prior to the market opening last year is again operated by Luther L. Tilley of Fuquay-Varina, N. C. Mr. Tilley has established an outstanding record as a warehouseman and tobacco farmer in Wake County and has continuously operated warehouses on several other Border Markets before coming here last year. Associated with him are practically the same staff as last year including J. C. Tilley and Leon H. Beck, assistant managers, E. H. Clark, Bookkeeper, Rosvil Adams and Walter Tinger.

of Fuquay-Varina and Joe Edmunds, floor manager and Franklin Bullard, weighmaster, both of Chadborn.

The combined tobacco experience of the warehousemen and supervisory personnel on the Chadborn market is more than 400 years.

This assures the grower that his crop is in capable hands when he offers it for sale on any of the local floors.
