WHOSE CASTLE? . . . It seems that Swap, the spaniel, has read that the famous line, "A man's home is his castle," pertains to dogs, too, and he's informing Ruby Lee Lowry of that fact in no uncertain terms. The petite Saxi Holworth model decided that Swap's house suited her ideally while visiting the New York kennel, Dogs, Inc.

TOBACCO

Wilson, N. C. Oct. 11. — Eastern North Carolina flue-cured tobacco sales during the 7th week were highlighted by the highest prices of the season for all grades. Better demand was responsible for most leaf grades taking the lead to show advances of $5 to $6 per hundred over last week. Smoking leaf and lugs were $1 to $7 higher, cutters $1 to $3, primings $3 and $4, and nondescript 25c to $4.25. Most gains were from $2 to $6. Prices eased off slightly Thursday and Friday but not to the extent of returning to last week's levels.

A new high was set in the weekly general average when 47,558,030 pounds sold for $47.35 per hundred. This was $3.20 above last week's average chiefly because of higher prices by grades.

The quality of the offerings improved over last week. More good to choice smoking leaf, cutters, and lug grades were marketed.

On October 1, estimated production of Type 12 by the United States Crop Reporting Board was 450,870,000 pounds. This was

DRIED EGGS FOR SCHOOLS

A nutritional boost in the way of nearly a third of a million pounds of dried eggs has been given the school lunch program in North Carolina. The eggs were purchased by the U. S. Department of Agriculture through its price supporting operations, and contributed to the lunchroom program. This is in line with USDA's policy of supplementing local food purchases with a view to maintaining school lunch standards at a high nutritional level. Used in cooking, the dried eggs will provide an excellent source of nutritious food.
