

POLAR RENDEZVOUS

The far-flung activities of American submarines during World War II that brought the undersea craft to the home waters of the Japanese Empire in the van of the fighting fronts, are continued into peacetime as the submarines, like the USS Sennet (above), penetrate the Arctic and Antarctic. Submarines are important units of the Navy's postwar expeditions and projects probing the mysteries of distant oceans for scientific data to be used for future planning. (Official U. S. Miss English, Bride Of Richard Gay

Wallace — Miss Virginia English, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Jackson English of Wallace became the bride of Richard Gay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gay of Walstonburg, in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening of October 4, at the Penile Baptist Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Key W. Taylor, assisted by the Rev. E. H. Orr, cousin of the bride. A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Annette Hughes and Miss Marie Orr sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer". The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white wool jersey dress trimmed with gold sequins, with matching finger-tip gloves and black accessories. Her corsage was a large lavender orchid.

Miss Alma English, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore powder blue wool jersey with a corsage of pink rose buds. The matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Mooney of Chapel Hill wore an identical dress to that of the maid of honor with a yellow rose corsage.

Edwin Gay, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Edgar Orr, of State College and Robert Mooney of Carolina. Little George Frick, Jr., was ring bearer.

Mrs. English, mother of the bride, wore a blue crepe dress with black accessories and a tallman man rose corsage. Mrs. Gay, mother of the groom, wore a black suit with a ping rose corsage.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home.

For travel, to the mountains of North Carolina, Mrs. Gay changed to a winter white suit with black accessories and wore her orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Gay will be at home in Kinston.

The bride attended East Carolina Teachers College and is now Home Economics Teacher at Deep Run High School.

The groom attended the University of North Carolina. During the war he served in the Army and is now with the Health Department in Kinston.
