the members of the Thursday Afternoon Card Club on Friday afternoon due to conflicts Mrs. Bess Hines was the only additional guest. Miss Hinson's home was most attractive with late fall flowers. When scores were totaled Mrs. N. B. Boney was high scorer for the afternoon. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hines, served lemon chiffon pie and coffee.

Auxiliary Met Mon.

The Auxiliary of Grove Presbyterian Church met Monday afternoon in the Sunday School rooms with 10 members and two visitors present. The rooms were made attractive with arrangements of chrysanthemums. The president, Mrs. N. B. Boney, presided and Mrs. W. M. Pickett had charge of the devotional which told the story of the Good Samaritan and brought out the theme "Who is my Neighbor". The program on Home Missions was given by Mrs. A. T. Outlaw and a special offering was taken for Home Missions. Plans were made to have a review of the Home Mission study book on Monday afternoon, Nov. 3, at 3:30 in the Sunday School rooms.

Faculty Is Entertained

The members of the Kenansville school faculty were entertained on Friday night in the home of the Hostess, Mrs. N. B. Boney. Two tables of bridge and a table of hearts were in play. The Halloween motif was carried out in table appointments and tallies. Yellow and orange marigolds and zinnias were used effectively in decorations. High score prize for club members was awarded Mrs. Oliver Stokes and for Hearts to Mrs. Angus Brinson. They were each given attractive note paper the Hostess served apple pie topped with jact-o-lanterns made of cheese, and coffee.

BMG Sewing Club

The members of the BMG sewing club met Tuesday afternoon in the club rooms with Mrs. D. S. Williamson as hostess. Instead of their regular sewing bee, they finished the Red Cross sewing on 15 pairs of pajamas which have been assigned to Tuskegee Hospital in Alabama. The hostess used pretty chrysanthemums for decoration and served a tempting sweet course.

The Origin Of "Bridal"

Take the society page of any newspaper, and you will find that one of the words most frequently used is "bridal".

Consult any dictionary and you will learn, if you do not already know, that the word originally was bride-ale. It had its origin in ancient England when ale was the feature of almost every type of festival. Many of these festivals were for fund-raising purposes, such as tithe-ales, give-ales, and church-ales to facilitate the collection of parish dues and funds for needed repairs.

The merriest of all of them was, of course, the bride-ale. The setting was as festive as possible. Presents filled the tables and families and friends of the bridal couple mingled gaily in their holiday

Poets Corner

"God Only"

When the days are sad and dreary And the nights are long with care, Just remember God is with you, He will talk with you in prayer.

Though your sins may be as scarlet He will take them one by one, Cleanse your heart from unbelief, ing What He's promised through his Son.

When no one cares to help you In your struggle here for life, Let the arms of Jesus shelter You from sinful worldly strife.

As we lose the ones we cherish Perhaps it's for a brighter light, God alone will be the witness Giving us just what is right.

Do you talk to God, your Father? When your heart is made to bleed? Have you stopped to get permission There to scatter out those seed?

dress while the bride herself looked her very best as she poured ale for the guests.

Modern wedding breakfasts and the custom of wedding presents are said to have originated with bride-ales.
