Farmers Face Drop In '48 Leaf Income

Raleigh, Nov. 10. - North Carolina tobacco growers stand to lose $101,000,000 below this year's estimated returns if a proposed 30% acreage reduction is put into effect next year, declared W. P. Hedrick, tobacco marketing specialist with the State Department of Ag

Hedrick said he was voicing the opinion of himself and a number of tobacco marketing authorities in holding that a 30% acreage reduction in one year would be "too drastic." He said he regarded a 20% cut sufficient

The proposal that tobacco acreage be reduced 30% next year was made by the Bright Belt Ware-Association.

North Carolina's 1946 gross inne from flue-cured tobacco was $451,000,000. So far in 1947, Hedrick reported, income has dropped about 18%, which gives growers a loss of $80,000,000 in gross income under last year. If average price and acreage yield remain the same next year, the growers would take another loss of $101,000,000, which would put their gross income at $270,000,000. Similarly, the loss with a 20% reduction would be ut $74,000,000.

The State's estimated flue-cured acreage this year is 811,000 acres. and production is expected to reacl. 887,000,000 pounds, North Carolina plants 67% of the total flue-cured tobacco acreage in the South.

Total flue-cured acreage for 1947 has been estimated at 1,205,000 acres. A 30% reduction, Hedrick pointed out, would cut the total by 361,000 acres, to 844,000. A 20% reduction would decrease acreage by 241,000, to 964,000 acres.

This year's total flue-cured acreage is the highest in ten years ex-1939, it reached Yields per acre 1,269,000 acres. have been the highest on record during tthe past three seasons, Hedrick reported.

"A 30% reduction next year," he stated, "might be all right if we have a normal yield on the acreage left. But drouth, for instance, could play havoc with the tobacco yield next year. Also we should produce sufficient tobacco to have enough stocks to take care of the European situation when it does improve. Nobody knows now when England and other European nations will resume taking large quantities of our tobacco. It might be sooner than some of us think.

Hedrick also pointed out, in advocating not over a 20% avreage reduction, that consumption of cigarets is increasing steadily and will reach a total of 365 billion cigarets in-1947, which is 16 billion above 1946 consumption.

He said he favored the working out of a three-year acreage reduction program instead of making a drastic cut at once.

On Waiting for George

My name happens to be George. But today I would like to use these paragraphs in presenting the thoughts of a friend of mine named James, who writes about another George: the George that everybody waits for. Our guest writer is Dr. James W. Fifield, Jr., a minister on the West Coast An inspirational religious leader for many years, Dr. Fifield is also a leader in his community's civic life.

Dr. Fifield is much interested in the welfare of the common man. He believes that national problems deserve the attention of the entire public. A scholar of public opinion and public questions for a long time, Dr. Fineld is a careful observer of trends. An active contributor to religious journals and to radio programs, he knows also how to express his ideas.

"Who Is George?" "Most everyone I know thinks the world is in a mess. They think that trends in our country are wrong, that we are threatened with dark days unless trends are changed, but they are waiting for George to change them.

"Recently I spoke to a gathering of educational administrators. As I visited with different ones, I found them greatly concerned. They feel there is more frustration and anxiety now than at any time during the war. They recognize that education has helped create the problem which presently exists, but they are waiting for George to remedy it.

"At a conference of business executives recently there was discussion concerning relations with Russia, and concerning United Nations difficulties.

Add Dark Touches "There was discussion concerning a concentration of power in our federal government to such an extent that people practically addressed their prayers to Washington instead of to God. But after all the dark touches had been added to the picture it was obvious that they are waiting for George to solve the problem.

'Who is George? "George is you and me and others like you and me, who have contributed to the problem by our lack of a personal sense of responsibility. We have let elected officials and others run things for us and have not even voted. We have eagerly lapped up government subsidies and benefits without thinking of their anti-freedom implications.

All of Us "Georges" "Unless we quit waiting for George to save the country and unless we ourselves get back to fundamental responsibilities, then the things that matter most, including Freedom, are not going to be saved the trends can still be reversed. The problem doesn't belong to George-it belongs to you and me." No postscript is needed, but may submit that the future of America depends pretty much upon whether you and I make America's future our business. All the problems that our nation is called upon to solve. and these are legion nowadays, can be solved best at the level of indi-Must Help or it Will Cost You Nothing vidual statesmanship. America remains a nation where that is possible. If we exercise our duties as citizens, America will always be a land of liberty and freedom.
